JAP WEAKNESS MAY SHORTEN WAR:CHURCHILL

Premier Lauds Red Drive on Nazis.

TEXT OF ADDRESS. A partial text of Prime Minister Churchill's address appears on pages 4 and 5.

LONDON, March 26 (AP).—Predicting total allied victory over the axis, Prime Minister Churchill tonight declared, "The guts of the German army have been largely torn out by Russian valor and generalship. Britain and America," he said, "may win sooner than had been expected over the Japanese, who are showing signs of great weakness."

In a 47 minute radio address which he likened to a Mosquito plane reconnaissance of the world at war, Churchill made these major points:

The Russian advance from Stalingrad—"a distance of 900 miles accomplished in a single year—constitutes the greatest cause of Hitler's undoing."

U. S. Air Force Now Largest.

The American air force in Britain alone now is greater than the vastly enlarged R. A. F. Either force by itself is almost as numerous and much more powerful than the entire German air force, being able to send 1,000 bombers against Germany every time the enemy sends 100 against Britain.

The U-boat menace is the greatest danger the allies have overcome.

The Italian campaign has gone slower than hoped, but it will be won, and, meanwhile, 25 German divisions and a large German air force are being held in Italy when they are needed elsewhere.

Attrition of Japanese shipping and air forces is obvious.

There still will be an interval between the collapse of Hitler and the downfall of Japan, but not so long as he believed a year ago.

Allies Superior in Jungles.

The allies have attained individual fighting superiority over the Japanese in the Burma jungles, and a powerful British battle fleet is in the Indian ocean to catch the Japanese navy if it declines to fight the Americans and turns westward.

The hard fighting in Burma "is not by any means decided yet," but in every combat Japanese dead outnumber allied casualties three or four to one.

Results in the Aegean and eastern Mediterranean have been disappointing, but are outweighed by the panicky plight of the axis satellites and the activities of the Jugo-Slav and Greek guerrillas.

The British Isles may be the object of "new forms of attack from the enemy," but "Britain can take it."

Victory is certain, but only "a rash man" would prophesy when or how.

Tells Post-War Plans.

In the later sections of his address Churchill dwelt at length on domestic British post-war problems such as housing, education, and health, but returned to the war in concluding that "when the signal is given the whole circle of avenging nations will hurl themselves upon the foe and batter the life out of the cruelest tyranny which has ever sought to bar the progress of mankind."

Just back from a field inspection of the American army in Britain, Churchill made only guarded references to the projected invasion of western Europe.

After noting the large German forces tied up in Italy "while other even more important events which might require their presence are impending elsewhere," he warned that the allies' "hour of greatest effort is coming." He said that "to deceive and baffle the enemy there will be many false alarms, feints, and dress rehearsals."

Father Dies in Hospital on Way to Visit His Baby

Harold G. Boettger, 35, of 3121 Moffat st., died of a heart attack yesterday in the lobby of St. Anne's hospital where he had called to visit his first child, a baby girl, born Thursday to his wife, Alice. Boettger was an inspector for the Chicago Metal Hose corporation.

ALLIED HDQ., Southwest Pacific, March 27 [Monday]. — (AP). — Two thousand Japanese hurled themselves against the American perimeter at Torokina on Bougainville Island last Thursday in another offensive but were thrown back after heavy fighting which left 300 Japs dead on the jungle battlefield. American losses were only four dead, 47 wounded and one missing.

Abandoning previous tactics of attacking at night, the Japanese threw themselves against wire pillbox defenses in the afternoon. American forces hurled them back in a counter-attack which restored the perimeter to its original position by 1 p. m. the next day.

Shelling Precedes Attack.

Japanese artillery threw 70 shells into the American positions before launching their attacks on the northern sector of the perimeter, and in the first rush apparently gained a few minor objectives.

After the Japanese dug in for the night, their attack checked, the Americans moved forward in an assault of their own and restored the lines.

American light bombers meantime attacked enemy supply areas and other targets along the perimeter, and naval units lent support with a barrage of shells which scored on Japanese shore batteries.

Mopping Up in Admiralties.

On the northern side of Gen. MacArthur's widespread battle area, cavalry dismounted troops which are mopping up the Admiralty Islands occupied the islets of Amo and Ndrove on the southeast coast of Manus Island without opposition on Friday.

MacArthur announced also that construction was being pressed without interference in the St. Matthias group, invaded March 20.

Allied bombers attacked New Guinea's Japanese-occupied northeast coast, including Wewak; Rabaul on New Britain; Babo, off Dutch New Guinea; Hansa bay, on New Guinea, and Havieng, on New Ireland.

U. S. Warships Shell Island.

GUADALCANAL, March 27 [Monday]—(AP).—United States destroyers have shelled Eloaue, a tiny islet in the St. Matthias group 20 miles from newly acquired Emirau Island, Adm. Halsey's headquarters announced today.

A naval spokesman said dense vegetation obscured results of the bombardment. There has been no further word from Emirau, occupied a week ago by a strong force of marines.

Navy and marine torpedo and dive bombers struck the enemy at the mouth of the Mupeka river. Mitchell medium bombers hit the Buka airstrip and town.

Kurile Islands Bombed.

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, March 26 (AP).—Eleventh army air force Liberators renewed their aerial pounding of the North Pacific Kurile Islands Saturday with a pre-dawn strike at Paramushiro and near-by Onnekotan Island, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced today.

In the Central Pacific Caroline Islands, a Coronado flying boat caught and sank two small cargo vessels near Ponape Friday.

The raid on Paramushiro was the sixth attack on that rocky, fogbound island this month. The strike at Onnekotan was the first against that island.

Onnekotan is a 25 mile long volcanic island 29 miles southwest of Paramushiro. Foxes roam its scrub covered slopes. Seals abound on the rocks offshore. Before the war small settlements existed at Blackiston and Nemo bays, which offer anchorage for ships.

REACH BORDER AT PRUT RIVER ON 53 MI. FRONT

Seize Town on Nazi Escape Route.

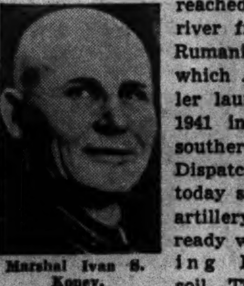
LONDON, March 27 [Monday]—(AP).—The Red army yesterday reached the Prut river frontier of Rumania, from which Adolf Hitler launched his 1941 invasion of southern Russia. Dispatches early today said soviet artillery men already were shelling Rumanian soil. The battle for the Balkans had begun.



Marshal Ivan S. Konev.

Premier Stalin in an order of the day announced the Red army conquest of part of "our state frontier" in the shadow of the Carpathian mountains. Last night Moscow vibrated with the roar of a record 24 salvos from 324 guns in celebration.

[German armies once were 935 miles inside Russia. Story on page 5.]

To Marshal Ivan S. Konev and his 2d Ukraine army fell the honor of being the first troops to fulfill Stalin's orders, and the oath of every Red army man—"Rid Russia of the German invader."

Cut One Escape Route.

Konev's troops emerged onto the bank of the cataract ridden Prut on a 53 mile front exactly a week after they had forced the Dniester river, 60 miles to the east. They had cut off one German escape route from lower Russia, and now were reported threatening to slash the Nazis' major flight corridor.

Besides reaching the Prut, the Russians captured the Bessarabian towns of Balti and Faleshti. Faleshti is only 28 miles northeast of Jassi, rail junction on the line leading down to Odessa.

Balti, a railway junction city, was captured by the soviet troops surging toward the Carpathians in the west and toward the Danube estuary in the south.

Five miles west of the Prut lies a rail network connecting with the vital Bucharest-Cernauti-Lwow railway, Hitler's last north-south communications artery east of the Carpathians. The Russians wheeling southward toward the gap between the mountains and the Black sea were reported within 200 miles of the Ploesti oil regions and 230 miles from Bucharest, Rumanian capital.

Regain Third of Bessarabia.

The Russians now hold nearly a third of Bessarabia, between the Dniester and Prut rivers. The territory was held by Rumania after the first World war until its cession to Russia in 1940.

To the north the 1st Ukraine army under Marshal Zhukov swept thru more than 100 villages yesterday, Moscow said. Zhukov's troops also command a 50 mile wide invasion bridgehead on the middle Dniester just across from Cernauti, capital of Bukovina, a former north Rumanian province.

In old Poland other Russian forces had surrounded Tarnopol, and early today were reported wiping out its garrison, capturing street after street. Tarnopol already had been by-passed by other units plunging toward Lwow, big communications center. The Russians took a town 10 miles west of Tarnopol and were within 18 miles of the Cernauti-Lwow railway at a point 65 miles southeast of Lwow.

Fight to Keep Corridor Open.

Kamenets Podolsk, another German base in the southwestern corner of the Ukraine near the Dniester river, also was reported encircled, with the Red army fighting in its streets against a garrison trying to keep open an escape path for defeated German troops streaming southward from Proskurov.

Far to the southeast, in lower Russia, the Germans were theatened by a steadily closing soviet trap in the Nikolaev-Odessa area along the Black sea. German controled radios said the Russians were fighting in the outskirts of Nikolaev and that its garrison was falling back toward Odessa, 75 miles to the southwest.

The German Sunday war bulletin as broadcast by Berlin said "Our troops are engaged in heavy defensive battles on a front" 100 miles north of the Black sea and extending into southeastern Poland.

TRUCK CRASH HURLS 2 THRU WINDSHIELD, SAVES THEIR LIVES

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 26 (AP).—John Rickard, 48, and Edward Keck, 32, required hospital treatment today, but they still believe it their lucky day.

The truck in which they were hauling a half ton cement block went out of control and struck two trees. The crash hurled them thru the windshield — just before their load shifted, crushing the cab of the truck like an eggshell. Then fire swept the wreckage while they lay unconscious beside the highway, out of harm's way.

Sheriff's deputies filled in the details for Rickard and Keck when they came to in a hospital, suffering nothing worse than cuts and bruises.

LEAPS TO DEATH FROM HOTEL ON NEAR NORTH SIDE

Mrs. Alice Stackhouse, 48, who registered yesterday at the St. Clair hotel from Portland, Ore., leaped or fell to her death shortly before 10 p. m. from her 5th floor window. Her body struck the sidewalk on the St. Clair st. side of the hotel. She was pronounced dead at Passavant hospital.

She was the widow of Dr. C. E. Stackhouse who died a year ago after practicing in Portland more than 30 years.

Letters found in her room disclosed that her son, Ensign Robert Stackhouse, was killed in a plane crash Dec. 28 near Brunswick, Ga.

A note found in her room asked that her body be cremated, and that a daughter, Mrs. William Brock of San Francisco be notified.

Nazis Execute 320 in Rome Bomb Reprisal

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

BERNE, Switzerland, March 26.—An official bulletin issued in Rome late last night announced that the German high command had executed 320 "Communists and terrorists" in Rome in retaliation for "one of the gravest breaches of Italian discipline yet registered in the capital."

The bulletin reiterated the German warning that henceforth the Nazi army will exact a toll of 10 executions for the death of every German soldier thru acts of Italian terrorists.

Bombs Kill 32 Nazis.

A lengthy statement broadcast from Rome said that a "column of German police" was proceeding on March 23 when "Badoglio-Communists, inspired by the Anglo-Americans, threw a number of bombs into the procession, killing 32 German soldiers and wounding many others." Seven civilians also lost their lives, the broadcast said.

March 23 was the 25th anniversary of the foundation of fascism and one clandestine Italian news source tonight said the Germans were parading fully armed to party headquarters for a celebration on that date.

Vatican Reported Upset.

The German bulletin said that exhaustive inquiry had failed to reveal the identity of the perpetrators of the assaults, wherefore a 24 hour time limit was set for the Italian police to deliver the authors. When that passed the 320 hostages, some of whom were apparently detained within the confines of the "open city," were led out to be shot.

The attack and its denouement are reported to have caused consternation in the Vatican, where it had been semi-officially hinted only the day before that negotiations for the acceptance by both belligerents of the open city status for Rome were on the verge of successful conclusion.

The official German disclosure that army police marched in at least section strength—half company—plus the fact that Italians on German orders were detaining hostages inside Rome, is expected to nullify the negotiations.

Hail 14 Inches Around Reported at Memphis

Memphis, Tenn., March 26 (AP).—A freak hailstorm—some of the stones measuring 14 inches in circumference—broke hundreds of winds in Memphis tonight. The hail, accompanied by high wind, lasted 20 minutes and was followed by rain that flooded the streets. Many automobiles were damaged.

GOVERNMENT'S CASE AGAINST CHAPLIN MAY BE ENDED TOMORROW

Los Angeles, Cal., March 26 (AP).—The federal government probably will rest its case Tuesday against Charlie Chaplin, charged with violating the Mann act in transporting Joan Berry across state lines for immoral purposes.

The elderly ex-comedian's counsel, Jerry Giesler, said tonight he hadn't decided what his first move would be when the government rests. He indicated last week in his opening statement to the jury of seven women and five men that Chaplin would be a witness.

"But the government may not have a case and therefore I can't determine whether Mr. Chaplin will testify," said Giesler.

It was considered likely he might move for a dismissal when U. S. Atty. Charles H. Carr finishes his case, contending that the government had failed to establish sufficient proof of its charge.

NEW DEMOCRAT PARTY FORMED IN SOUTH CAROLINA

Columbia, S. C., March 26 (AP).—Announcement was made tonight of the organization in South Carolina of a "southern Democratic party" opposed to a fourth term for President Roosevelt and "the New Deal and all it represents."

M. B. Barkley, treasurer of the new party, said advertisments outlining the objectives and platform of the party would appear in Monday morning newspapers thruout the state.

The statement said the party had been launched by those who "can no longer accept a national party label which seems to include everything but democracy. . . ."

No officers of the organization were announced. Barkley said the party planned to nominate a full slate of Presidential electors.

Full Exposure of Subversive Group Pledged

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 26.—Pinning the label, "Charlie McCarthy of the smear bund," on Walter Winchell, gossip columnist and broadcaster, Rep. Dies [D., Tex.] tonight promised the nation an investigation resulting in the full story of a movement to destroy the prestige of congress and set up an American dictator.

Rep. Dies [top] and Walter Winchell.

The chairman of the house committee on un-American activities addressed the same radio audience on the Blue network which had just heard Winchell give his usual 15 minutes of tattle and deliver an attack on the congressional power of subpena. The former vaudeville hoofer, who remained in the studio to hear Dies, reddened as he heard himself likened to the dummy manipulated by Edgar Bergen, the ventriloquist.

In replying to frequent attacks upon his committee by Winchell, Rep. Dies emphasized that the Broadwayite was but a tool in the hands of secret groups who feed him propaganda designed to disrupt unity in the United States.

A Peddler of Keyhole Scandal.

"Winchell is not in himself important," the Texan declared, scornfully. "For a number of years he has made a living peddling bedroom keyhole scandal to the American people. Now, of course, a man in that business can get an enormous audience on the radio. This gives him a political value.

"He can be used as a transmission belt [Communist term for propaganda agency] to deliver political propaganda, handing it on, sandwiched in between his collection of divorces and infidelities.

"In this case, Winchell is being used as a transmission belt to deliver into millions of ears damaging statements, half truths, cunningly slanted implications designed to impugn the loyalty and to destroy the characters of American public men who oppose the objectives of these subversive groups, and to break down confidence in the congress of the United States.

Only One of Many.

"This would be serious if Winchell were the only Charlie McCarthy of the smear bund. He is, however, only one of many. Who are they? The American people would like to know and I promise you that congress will soon find out.

"I have spoken of smearing men. That is the smallest part of this subversive offensive. Congress is the last bulwark of your freedom. Win the war for freedom and destroy the power of congress and you will have lost your freedom.

"Now I warn you that there is in this country a carefully organ-

DIES AND WINCHELL MEET; TEXAN IS EASY VICTOR IN VERBAL TILT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 26.—Rep. Dies [D., Tex.] tonight emerged with top honors in an informal verbal tilt with Walter Winchell, radio gossip, after they had clashed in a broadcast from the same Washington station.

The two men, leaving the two studios from which they had spoken, were seized upon by photographers and agreed to pose together.

Winchell, obviously nervous and excited after just hearing Dies' stinging reference to him as the "Charlie McCarthy of the smear bund" and "peddler of bedroom keyhole gossip," said to Dies:

"When are you going to give me that subpena?"

"You'll get it in due time," assured Dies.

"Let's tell some more lies about each other," Winchell then suggested with an attempt at a grin.

"It would take me some time to catch up with you in that," drawled the Texan.

F.D.R.'S DEFEAT SEEN IN POLLS BY DEMOCRATS

Indicate Only 155 Electoral Votes.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 26.—President Roosevelt would go down to disastrous defeat if he were to run Tuesday for a fourth term, according to results of a series of surveys of the 1944 Presidential campaign undertaken by a number of Democrats.

The surveys, made independently by nationally known Democrats, agreed that at best Mr. Roosevelt could expect to win only 17 states with a total electoral vote of 155. This would spell defeat for the President by better than two to one in the electoral college, which has 531 votes.

The surveys, made available to THE TRIBUNE from several sources, conceded at least 376 votes in the electoral college for any Republican opponent of the fourth term campaign except Wendell Willkie.

Democratic Defeat Seen.

The competent Democratic leaders who made the survey acknowledged that if Mr. Roosevelt does not run, the Democratic party still will meet defeat by almost as heavy a margin.

It was said that if a truly Democratic ticket is named, as against one stained with the New Deal-Communist alliance, there will be no chance of deflection from the traditionally Democratic states of the south, now seething against the administration.

The several independent polls, including those made by internationally prominent figures, did not give Mr. Roosevelt a northern state east of the Mississippi except Rhode Island. Rhode Island was conceded because it is in the grip of a powerful machine which was able to make a mockery of that state's Supreme court.

Kentucky Loss Conceded.

The surveys concede the loss of such traditionally Democratic states as Kentucky and Maryland. The surveys gave Mr. Roosevelt such states west of the Mississippi as Montana, Washington, Arizona, and New Mexico. There was some doubt among the surveys on these four states, but the majority of the competent Democrats agreed these might vote for a fourth term.

All the competent Democrats agreed that the New Deal's political situation is worse than it was two months ago and made the gloomy prediction for New Dealers that it will grow worse before November.

States listed in the various surveys as probably for Mr. Roosevelt, with their electoral votes, are as follows:

STATE.	VOTE.	STATE.	VOTE.
Alabama	11	North Carolina	14
Arizona	4	Rhode Island	4
Arkansas	9	South Carolina	8
Florida	8	Tennessee	12
Georgia	12	Texas	23
Louisiana	10	Utah	4
Mississippi	9	Virginia	11
Montana	4	Washington	8
New Mexico	4	Total	155

Some Doubt About Four.

There was some dispute among the surveys as to the way Texas, Washington, Utah, and Montana will vote. They were included among the Roosevelt states, however, because they were so mentioned in one or more of the surveys, not necessarily the majority of the private polls.

The surveys, made more than two weeks ago, agreed that independent delegations would be sent to the Democratic national convention July 19 in Chicago by Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Virginia, and possibly North Carolina. This would be a blow to the fourth term.

Believes Democrats Doomed.

One prominent Democrat, who said his personal survey had convinced him that neither Mr. Roosevelt nor any Democrat can win, explained his certainty of defeat of any fourth term movement as follows:

"The New Dealers have failed to reduce the 1944 Presidential campaign to its basic essentials. Let's look at it conservatively.

"Take all the opposition to the New Deal because of the 20 per cent withholding tax and say that it will only cost one vote out of a hundred.

"Take all the opposition to ration-

2 'BROKEN DOWN' PARATROOPERS BECOME HEROES

They Jump Into Jungle and Save Flyers.

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AT A PARACHUTE SUPPLY BASE IN NEW GUINEA, March 26.—Two self-dubbed broken down paratroopers returned to their base here today, scratched and tired, but heroes.

Several months ago the pair, Corp. Anthony Ausetts, Cleveland, O., and Harold Zollman, New York, were retired from their paratroop unit because their officers decided their legs had taken enough strain in jumps, and assigned the men to packing supplies to be dropped from planes.

Pair Jump to Rescue.

Ausetts and Zollman grumbled. But this week an attack bomber crashed in the New Guinea jungle 20 miles inland. Ausetts and Zollman packed emergency supplies and boarded a plane. Instead of dropping the supplies the two men jumped. Zollman landed in a tree and in banging against the trunk smashed the walkie talkie radio he carried. He shinnied to the ground, repaired the radio, and started for the plane, but fell in a swamp and ruined the radio.

He found the crashed plane settling in the water. The pilot compartment already was under water and the pilot drowned, but the copilot was thrown from the plane and was attempting in a semi-conscious condition to rescue the radioman. Zollman got the radioman free and was cleaning the wounds of the two men when Ausetts arrived. He had landed only 200 yards away, but the jungle swamp was so thick it took two hours to reach the plane.

Inject Plasma.

Ausetts semaphored the rescue plane to drop plasma, and altho neither ever before had used a hypodermic needle, they injected the plasma into the radioman.

For two days Ausetts and Zollman cared for the wounded men, feeding them from the supplies dropped from the rescue plane. Then a ground party arrived after paddling up a nearby river. Natives brought by the ground rescuers carried the injured men to canoes.

Except for the two broken down paratroopers, who refused to be grounded, the medics say the two airmen would have died, since both were injured too severely to care for their wounds or to recover any of the supplies dropped to them.

Yorkshire Vicar Calls Adulterers 'Saboteurs'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 7 [By air mail].—The increase of adultery, largely ascribed to war time conditions, is stirring the ire of the British clergy. The Rev. George Needham, vicar of Conisborough, Yorkshire, in a recent sermon, put adultery in the same category as theft. "A person who steals decency or love is a thief," he said. "Those who wreck homes should be treated as saboteurs."

Dancer Home

MAXINE YOUNG.

Maxine Young, Chicago dancer, returned home yesterday for the first time in five years, after spending several months entertaining United States forces in the middle eastern theater.

She was greeted by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Y. Young, 4606 N. Kedvale av., and her brother, Paul, who formerly was her partner in an adagio act.

Miss Young was one of three entertainers to wear the khaki uniform of the USAFIME, the middle eastern forces. After a few weeks at home, she hopes for an assignment to entertain troops in China, under auspices of the United Service organizations.

YANKEE FLYERS IN BURMA HURL WORKS AT JAPS

AMERICAN AIR COMMANDO FORCE HDQ., India-Burma Border, March 22 [Delayed] (AP).—Lt. Col. Philip G. Cochran's air commandos are throwing everything except their water buckets at the Japanese in support of British ground forces attacking the main supply routes to the enemy's northern army.

Naval depth charges, land mines, oil and fire bombs have been dropped on Japanese strongholds in front of the British column pushing out from the allied air invasion base in north central Burma, and Commando bombers with 75 mm. guns have been giving these troops what amounts to artillery support from the air.

Fighters equipped with hook knives dangling from long cables under the planes have been cutting Japanese telephone and telegraph communication wires from the air.

[Lt. Col. Cochran is the real life counterpart of Maj. Flip Corkin, daredevil Yank pilot in Milton Caniff's comic strip, "Terry and the Pirates." Cochran and Caniff are close friends.]

Greek Patriots Organize 5-Man Governing Body

CAIRO, Egypt, March 26 (AP).—Negotiations at a mountain hideout in Greece have resulted in the formation of a five man political committee under Col. E. E. Bakirdzis for the promotion of a coalition Greek government, Cairo was informed today. It was assumed the movement was sponsored by the EAM, the largest Greek guerrilla group, which has 30,000 followers.

1,700 U.S. PLANES RIP NAZIS ALONG INVASION COAST

LONDON, March 26 (AP).—American heavy bombers, other medium bombers and fighters, probably numbering 1,700, smashed at several points along the French-Netherlands invasion coast today and Thunderbolt fighters swept airdromes near Paris without seeing a German plane.

Flying Fortresses and Liberators—between 500 and 750 of them—pounded the Pas-de-Calais stretch of coast, 20 miles across the channel, with barrages which shook windows in Britain. The planes also bombed military installations in the Cherbourg area 200 miles to the south. The attack on Pas-de-Calais was the 65th in 113 days.

Marauders Bomb Holland.

The Germans' new radio station in Frankfurt, which gives warnings of the approach of allied planes, warned tonight of enemy formations over western Germany with single planes over central Germany and some over Frankfurt itself.

At the northern end of the coastal attack, American Marauders bombed the Ijmuiden docks of Holland.

The Thunderbolts shot up anti-aircraft towers, grounded aircraft and buildings at Chartres Chateaudun and St. Andre de L'Eure.

These operations, the 20th major blow by the American air forces, cost five bombers and one fighter, a United States bulletin announced.

The missions followed a British raid on Aulnoye, French railway junction on the Belgian border, on Lyons on southeastern France, and another Mosquito foray against Berlin Saturday night. Only one R. A. F. plane failed to return.

Smoke Covers Area.

Three giant explosions occurred at Aulnoye and fires which spread thru the town on one of the main rail lines between France and Germany were visible 100 miles away. Smoke still billowed over the sector today. A dozen key junctions on rail lines feeding the Germans' Atlantic wall have been smashed in as many raids this month.

In the last seven days at least 12,000 sorties have been flown against Nazi targets in Europe by American planes and at least 16,000 tons of bombs have been hurled on the Germans.

Knit-tex Imperial

There are many reasons why the Knit-tex Coat is so popular. For example:

1. It is light as a feather, yet warm as toast.
2. It gives with every movement of your body, yet retains its shape and fresh look at all times.
3. It is drizzle-proof and resists wrinkles.
4. It is comfortable in the Spring and Fall, on chill Summer evenings, and on most Winter days as well.
5. Its classic lines never look "dated".

To which could be added the fact that it is an ideal coat for travelling—in all seasons and all weather.

BRITISH NATIVE TROOPS PUSH 20 MILES IN BURMA

Threaten Jap Base of Myitkyina.

NEW DELHI, India, March 26 (AP).—The battle for northern Burma expanded into a major campaign today as the southeast Asia command announced a British commando force had slashed to within 32 miles of Myitkyina, main Japanese base above the Burma road.

It appeared certain a major battle for Myitkyina was in the making, with two allied forces converging on the town, one via Sumpra Bum from Fort Hertz, the other via Shaduzup, Kamaing, and Mogaung.

The commandos, Gurkha and Kachin [north Burmese] levies, have driven 33 miles south of Sumpra Bum, a bulletin announced. This force had advanced 20 miles from the position in which it was reported yesterday.

Fight 15 Miles in India.

Fighting was in progress inside the Indian jungle where the allies struggled to blunt three Japanese invasion spearheads pointed at Imphal, main allied base on the plain of Manipur.

Some of the stiffest fighting was in the area of Ukhrul, 32 miles northeast of Imphal and about 15 miles inside the Indian border, where British troops were heavily engaged with one of three Japanese invasion columns.

The Japanese made one unsuccessful attack on British positions in this area; then tried it again on the night of March 24.

"Fighting continues in the area and heavy casualties have been inflicted on the enemy," said Adm. Mountbatten's bulletin.

Clean Out Road Blocks.

There the Japanese were trying to burst from the worst jungle of the whole frontier, the Sombra hills, into the India plain. The British were steadily cleaning out road blocks on the other approaches to the Imphal plain. This area was heavily reënforced in anticipation of a full blown battle.

Hurricane bombers were carrying out daily joint attacks against Japanese communications over the Chindwin river country and into Manipur state. One section reported the destruction or damage of two dozen trucks, two gun carriers, and 12 to 15 carts.

In the southern Chin hills allied troops made a successful raid on a Japanese camp, while further along the Tiddim-Imphal road a hill commanding a strongly held Japanese position was taken and held against a counter-attack. Four of these road blocks previously had been wiped out.

In the fight for Mogaung valley the Chinese driving down from the Hukawng valley had pressed to within five miles of Shaduzup, 45 miles northwest of Mogaung, which previously had been taken by a flanking movement of Chinese and Merrill's Marauders, an all-American force. Encircled Japanese were being cut up.

Curfew Halts Terrorism in Jerusalem and Tel Aviv

JERUSALEM, Palestine, March 26 (AP).—A strict curfew gave Jerusalem and Tel Aviv a quiet week-end after the recent bombings and shootings which killed nine policemen, six of them British. Authorities pressed a round-up of terrorists and a wide search for illegally held arms.

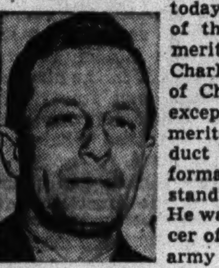
Gen. Bolte of Chicago Awarded Legion of Merit

Washington, D. C., March 26 (AP).—The war department announced today the award of the legion of merit to Maj. Gen. Charles L. Bolte of Chicago, "for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service." He was plane officer of the special army observers' group, London, and later chief of staff of the European theater of operations from May, 1941, to June, 1942.



Maj. Gen. C. L. Bolte.

ROBBED OF $32 AND CHECK.

Three Negroes, two of them armed with knives, took $32, a $51 pay check, and a carton of cigarets from Orvin Olinger, 739 W. 59th st., in front of 741 Englewood av., he told police yesterday.

Messenger Robbed of $65 by Four in Rear of Store

Four Negroes robbed Martin Warner, 3703 W. Roosevelt rd., a messenger, of $65 in the rear of the Fair store, he told police yesterday.

CHINESE URGED TO SMASH JAPS IN UPPER BURMA

KUNMING, China, March 26 (AP).—Calls for a Chinese offensive, especially on the Salween front, are appearing in the Chinese newspapers. One declared conditions are excellent for a drive into Upper Burma to meet Lt. Gen. Stilwell's expeditionary force. It is authoritatively stated that the Chinese expeditionary force has massed sufficient strength to break the Japanese land blockade.

Less than three months of fighting weather remain, however, before the rainy monsoon season begins.

The correspondent of the Ninkou Daily News said the Burma campaign had entered a new stage and that the task ahead was the "restoration of China's international land line and the routing of the enemy who has been threatening China's back door."

Differ on Strategy.

The Chinese high command is supposed to be waiting for a major and decisive action elsewhere in Burma.

Washington and London reports of American and British differences over Adm. Mountbatten's strategy have been widely circulated by the Central News, official press agency of the Chungking government, and these have inspired discussion among informed foreigners of China's own position.

If the overland supply route into China could be opened before the next monsoon season, it is said, the added supplies might be sufficient to enable the Chinese to recapture a seaport this winter and thus shorten the war in China.

To reopen a seaport probably would require American or British naval support.

Allied Landing Urged.

Urging the Chinese to start striking the Japanese in a big way, the Yunnan Daily News said operations at present are restricted to guerrilla activities "which are not sufficient to meet the present requirements."

An article by Gen. Wang Chehming, vice commander in chief of the Kunming garrison forces, in the army newspaper Sao Tang Pao, urges the allies to make a big landing in southern Burma, presumably Rangoon. Gen. Wang said the Japanese had concentrated practically all their forces in northern Burma to cope with the allied offensive there.

"The allies should not neglect such an excellent opportunity to strike in the south," he said.

Kidnaped by 3 in Auto; Robbed of Her Mink Coat

Abducted by two men and a woman in an automobile near Jackson blvd. and Kilbourn av. last night, Mrs. Evelyn Boyer, 44, of 408 S. Kilbourn av. was robbed of her purse containing $38, her $1,000 mink coat, a $600 wristwatch, and a $300 diamond ring before she was ejected from the car in the rear of 4539 Jackson blvd., she reported to police.

Brazilian Suburban Train Derailed; 31 Die; 78 Hurt

SAO PAULO, Brazil, March 26 (AP).—A suburban train jammed with homeward bound workers and shoppers was derailed last night near Tucuruvi, killing at least 31 persons and injuring 78 or more. Many of the injured brought to Sao Paulo were in a dying condition.

HERE IS TEXT OF CHURCHILL REPORT ON WAR

Big British Fleet Now in Indian Waters, He Says.

LONDON, March 26 (AP).—The text of Prime Minister Churchill's radio address today follows:

"I hope you will not imagine that I am going to try to make some extraordinary pronouncement tonight and tell you exactly how all the problems of mankind in the war and in peace are going to be solved.

"I only thought you would like me to have a short talk with you about how we are getting on and to thank you for all the kindness with which you have treated me in spite of my many shortcomings.

"It is a year almost to the day since I spoke to you on a broadcast here at home. This has been a time of disappointments as well as successes, but there is no doubt that good news has far outweighed the bad and that the progress of the united nations toward their goal has been solid, continual, and growing quicker.

"The long and terrible march which the rescuing powers are making is being accomplished stage by stage, and we can now say not only with hope but with reason that we shall reach the end of our journey in good order, and that tragedy which threatened the whole world and might have put out all its lights and left our children and descendants in darkness and bondage perhaps for centuries—that tragedy will not come to pass.

"Victory Will Come."

"He is a rash man who tries to prophesy when or how or under what conditions victory will come. But come it will—that at least is sure.

"It is also certain that unity of aims and actions and singleness of purpose among us all—Britons at home and our allies abroad—will make it come sooner.

"A year ago the 8th army which had marched 1,500 miles across the desert from Alamein was in battle for the Mareth line and the 1st British army and American army were beating their way forward to Tunisia. We were all confident of victory, but we did not know that in less than two months the enemy would be driven with heavy slaughter from the African continent, leaving at one stroke 335,000 prisoners and dead in our hands.

"Since then the successful campaign in Sicily brought about the fall of Mussolini and the heartfelt repudiation by the Italian people of the fascist creed.

"Mussolini, indeed, escaped to eat the bread of affliction at Hitler's table, to shoot his son-in-law and help the Germans wreak vengeance among the Italian masses whom he had professed to love and over whom he had ruled for more than 20 years.

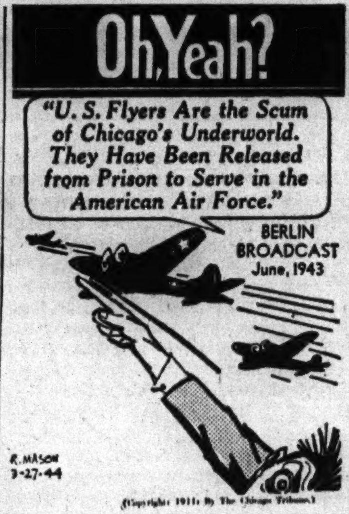
Thought He Gained an Empire.

"This fate and judgment more terrible than death has overtaken the vainglorious dictator who stabbed France in the back and thought his crime had gained him an empire of the Mediterranean.

"The conquest of Sicily and Naples brought in their train the surrender of Sardinia and the liberation of Corsica, islands which had been expected to require for themselves a serious expedition and a hard campaign.

"We now hold one-third of the mainland of Italy. Our progress has not been as rapid or decisive as we hoped. I do not doubt we shall be victors both at Anzio bridgehead and on the main front to the southward and that Rome will be rescued.

"Meanwhile, we have swept out of the struggle 66 Italian divisions and we are holding in Italy, for most part in close action, nearly 25 divisions and a noteworthy part of the German air force, more of whom can bleed and burn in the land of their former ally while other and even more important events which might require their presence are impending elsewhere.



Oh, Yeah?
"U. S. Flyers Are the Scum of Chicago's Underworld. They Have Been Released from Prison to Serve in the American Air Force."
BERLIN BROADCAST June, 1943
R. MASON 3-27-44

(Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.)

"We have been disappointed in the Aegean sea and its many islands which we have not yet succeeded in dominating.

Setback Offset by Panic.

"But these setbacks in the eastern Mediterranean are offset, and more than offset, by the panic and frenzy which prevail in Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria, by the continued activities of Greek guerrillas and above all by the heroic struggles of the Partisans of Jugo-Slavia under the leadership of Marshal Tito.

"In the near and middle east we have certainly travelled a long way forward from those autumn days in 1940 when we stood all alone—when Mussolini was invading Egypt, when we were driven out of British Somaliland, when all Ethiopia was in Italian chains and we wondered whether we could defend the Suez canal, the Nile valley, the Sudan and British East Africa.

"There is much still to be done in the Balkans and the eastern Mediterranean. But here again I do not doubt the task will be finished in workmanlike manner.

"We who dwell in the British Isles must celebrate with joy and thankfulness our deliverance from mortal U-boat perils—which deliverance lighted the year which has ended.

"When I look back on the 55 months of this hard and obstinate war which makes ever more exacting demands upon our life springs of energy and contrivance, I still rate highest among the dangers we have overcome the U-boat attacks upon our shipping, without which we cannot live or even receive the help which our dominions and our grand and generous American ally have sent us.

Delivered from Invasion.

"But there are other deliverances which we should never forget. There was the sea mining peril which loomed so large in 1939 and which has been mastered by superior science, ingenuity and by the often forgotten but almost unsurpassed devotion to duty of our minesweepers, crews, and the thousand ships they work and man that we may eat and live and thus fight for the good cause.

"We have been delivered from the horrors of invasion at a time when we were almost unarmed. We have endured without swerving or failing the utmost fury Hitler could cast upon us from the air, and now the tables are turned and those who sought to destroy their enemies by the most fearful form of warfare are themselves reeling and writhing under the prodigious blows of British and American air power.

"We had ourselves a large air force in this island this time last year. We have a larger one today, but besides all that, our American ally has now definitely overtaken and outnumbered us in the mighty air force they have established here. The combination in true brotherhood of these two air forces—either of which is nearly as large in numbers and in power much greater than the whole air force of Germany—aided as it will be by another allied air force in Italy almost as large which is now established there, these together will produce results in these coming months which I shall not attempt to measure in advance but which will certainly be of enormous advantage to the cause of the allies.

All Secrets Shared.

"Not only have the British and Americans this great preponderance in numbers which enables them to send out a thousand bombers as often as the enemy is able to send a hundred against us, but also by sharing all our secrets with one another we have won leadership in the marvels of radar, both for attack and defense.

"Surveying these famous and massive events on land, sea, and air in the war waged by the two western allies—Britain and the United States—against Hitlerism we are entitled, nay bound, to be encouraged and be thankful and resolve to do better than we ever have done before.

"It would be quite natural if our soviet friends and allies did not appreciate the complications and difficulties which attend all sea crossings—amphibious is the word—operations on a large scale. They are the people of great land spaces and when foes threatened the sacred soil, Russia, it is by land that they marched out to meet and attack them.

"Our tasks are difficult and different. But the British and American peoples are filled with genuine admiration for the military triumphs of the Russian army.

Cause of Hitler's Undoing.

"I have paid repeated tributes to their splendid deeds, and now I must tell you that the advance of their armies from Stalingrad to the Dniester river with vanguards reaching out towards the Prut—a distance of 900 miles accomplished in a single year—constitutes the greatest cause of Hitler's undoing.

"Since I spoke to you last, not only have the Hun invaders been driven from the land they have ravaged but the guts of the German army have been largely torn out by Russian valor and generalship.

"The peoples of all the Russias have been fortunate in finding in their supreme ordeal of agony a warrior leader, Marshal Stalin, whose authority enables him to combine and control the movements of armies numbered by many millions upon a front of nearly 2,000 miles and to impart a unity and concert to the war direction in the east which has been very good for soviet Russia and very good for all her allies.

"When a moment ago I spoke of the improvements for the allied cause which are taking place in Hungary and in the satellites in the Balkans, I was reserving the acknowledgment that the victorious advance of the soviet army has been the main cause of Hitler's approaching downfall in those regions.

Proud of Aussies.

"I have now dwelt with the progress of the war against Hitler Germany. But I must also speak of the other gigantic war which is proceeding against the equally barbarous and brutal Japanese. This war is waged in vast preponderance by the fleets, air forces, and armies of the United States. We have accepted their leadership in the Pacific ocean just as they accepted our leadership in the Indian theater.

"We are proud of the contributions made by Australia and New Zealand against Japan. The debt which the British and the commonwealth of nations owes to the United States for the fact that their operations against the Japanese shielded Australia and New Zealand from Japanese aggression and from mortal peril during the period when the mother country was at full strength in the struggle against Germany and Italy. That debt is one which will never be forgotten in any land where the Union Jack is flown.

"Remarkable success has attended the work of the American navy and American, Australian, and New Zealand troops. The progress in New Guinea is constant. American victories in the Pacific and, in particular their latest conquest and liberation of the Marshall Islands, constitutes a superb example of a combination naval, air, and military force.

Predicts Rapid Progress.

"It is possible that the war in the Pacific may progress more rapidly than was formerly thought possible. The Japanese are showing signs of grave weakness. Attrition of their shipping, especially their oil tankers, and their air forces on all of which President Roosevelt dwelt with such foresight a year ago, has become not merely evident but obvious. The Japanese have not felt strong enough to risk their fleets in general engagements for the sake of their outer defense lines. In this they have been prudent, considering the immense expansion of United States naval power since the Japanese's treacherous assault at Pearl Harbor.

"What fools the Japanese ruling caste were to bring against themselves the might and latent war energy of the great republic all for the sake of carrying out a base and squalid ambuscade.

"British empire and commonwealth of nations have pledged themselves to fight side by side with the United States against Japan, no matter what it costs or how long it lasts.

HERE IS TEXT OF CHURCHILL REPORT ON WAR

Big British Fleet Now in Indian Waters, He Says.

"Actually we have suffered from Japanese injuries even greater than those which have roused the armed wrath of the American Union. In our theater of war, in Burma and the Bay of Bengal, we shall strive our utmost to aid the Americans in their contacts with China and to add to our own.

Put Burma Plans Into Operation.

"The more we can fight and engage the Japanese and especially wear down their air power the greater the diversion we make from the Pacific theater and the more help we give to the operations of the United States.

"In Burma those plans which were prepared last August at Quebec are now being put into practice. Young men are at the helm. Adm. Mountbatten infused a spirit of energy and confidence into the heavy forces gathered to recover Burma and by that means defend the frontiers of India and reopen the road to China.

"Our airborne operations enable us to attack the Japanese rear. They, for their part, have got behind our front by infiltration at various places and fierce fighting is going on at many points. It is too soon to proclaim the results in this vast area of mountain and jungle but in nearly every combat we are able to count three or four times more Japanese dead—and that is what matters—than we have ourselves suffered in killed, wounded, and missing.

Big Fleet Near India.

"Individual fighting superiority in the jungle has definitely passed to the British and Indian soldiers as compared with the Japanese. Farther to the north an American column of experienced jungle fighters and a considerable Chinese army under Gen. Stilwell of the United States service are progressing with equal mastery.

"Later on I shall make to you or parliament a further report on all this hard fighting which, mind you, is not by any means decided yet.

"Meanwhile, we have placed a powerful battle fleet under Adm. Somerville in Indian waters in order to face the main part of the Japanese fleet should it turn westwards after having declined battle against the Americans.

"When I spoke a year ago I drew attention to the possibility that there would be a prolonged interval between the collapse of Hitler and the downfall of Japan. I still think there will be an interval, but I do not consider it will be as long an interval as I thought a year ago. But be it long or be it short, we shall go thru with our American brothers with our utmost strength to the very end. . . .

Great Effort Ahead.

"The hour of greatest effort is coming. We march with allies who count on us as we on them. The eyes of our soldiers, sailors, and airmen must be fixed on the enemy. The only homeward road lies thru the arch of victory. The armies of the United States are here; our own troops stand at their side in equal numbers and true comradeship; leaders are appointed in whom we have faith. We shall require from all classes the same cool, strong nerves, the toughness of fiber, which stood us in good stead when we were alone under the German blitz.

"Here I must warn you that to deceive and baffle the enemy there will be many false alarms, feints, and dress rehearsals. We may be the object of new forms of attack. Britain can take it; she has never flinched. When the signal is given the whole circle of avenging nations will hurl themselves on the foe, and batter out the worst tyranny which has ever sought to halt the progress of mankind."

[In discussing British domestic problems, Churchill said that his plan for education, public health, and national insurance, proposed a year ago, already has been well started. He noted one million British homes have been destroyed or damaged in raids, and said he hoped to have 500,000 pre-fabricated emergency houses immediately after the war. He said he hoped "several hundred thousand Britons will be able to marry several hundred thousand of our young women."]

ADRIATIC ISLAND SEIZED WITH AID OF ALLIES: TITO

LONDON, March 26 (AP).—A Jugo-Slav army of liberation bulletin announced tonight that the Partisans of Marshal Josip [Tito] Broz had attacked the Germans 25 miles from the boundary of Hungary and, with allied aid, captured the Adriatic island of Hvar.

The bulletin indicated that the Germans were moving troops out of Jugo-Slavia to reënforce their garrisons in Hungary which the Nazis took over last week. The bulletin said that running battles were going on in Slavonia along the German communication lines into Hungary.

Units of Tito's 26th division "with the aid of allied air forces and navy and a detachment of Commandos captured the island of Hvar," the bulletin added. Hvar, just off the Dalmatian coast, extends into the Adriatic sea for 40 miles and is 25 miles south of the important port of Split. The Berlin radio announced on March 10 that 1,500 American and British Commandos had landed on the Island of Lissa and that other raids on nearby islands could be expected.

HINT CHURCHILL MAY OUST EDEN FROM CABINET

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 27 [Monday].—Anthony Eden, foreign secretary and leader of the house of commons, may be relieved of his post at the foreign office as a result of a change which Prime Minister Churchill has been considering for some time, political circles here said last night.

While the reshuffle, which may also affect Lord Privy Seal Beaverbrook will not amount to a major reconstruction of the government, it will probably make some concessions to the demand for "new blood and bolder policies," these circles assert.

The reason given for the possible removal of Eden is that Churchill's advisers are of the opinion it is almost impossible for Eden to continue his manifold duties as leader of the house of commons and member of the war cabinet.

Eight Month Job

Washington, D. C., March 26 [Special].—How a camel track centuries old has been remodeled into a broad motor highway over which 7,000 tons of supplies are rolling every month from India to Russia was revealed today by the agency-general for India. The route has brought India's resources to within a week's road journey from Russia's southern border.

It is the East Persia route, built swiftly but secretly by a pick and shovel army of 30,000 men, women, and children from Zahidan near the Iranian-Baluchistan frontier thru Iran to Bajgeran. It was constructed mainly as an alternate to the West Persian railroad route from the Persian gulf, in case that were cut by the German army.

A few years before the war Russia, to the disquietude of the Anglo-Indian government, bult a railway line to the Iranian frontier. Iran adjoins Baluchistan, a country within the borders of India and under British domination. A railway line runs from Zahidan to Quetta in Baluchistan, connecting there with a line to the Indian port of Karachi.

Countless camels had worn a rough way over rock and sand from Zahidan northwest, then northeast thru Iran to the Russian border. Only about 200 miles was passable for trucks. The job was to build a motor highway over the other 600 miles of mountain and desert.

Since no machinery was available it had to be made entirely "by hand." The job was completed in eight months, an average of three miles a day. Four foreign contracting firms, represented respectively by a Dane, a Norwegian, a Czech, and an Australian, built the road. Now, it is said, the quantity of jute, rubber, Hessian iron and steel, copper, tin, and mercury that India can send Russia is limited only by the number of available trucks. Already more than 1,000 are employed.

Political effects of the route may be lasting. A round trip can now be made in 10 days. The first such link between India and Russia, it represents a rapproachment which the British government, for political reasons, would scarcely have encouraged before the war.

HITLER ARMIES ONCE 935 MILES INSIDE RUSSIA

MOSCOW, March 26 (AP).—The German armies, which Premier Stalin announced today had been hurled across the Prut river into Rumania, once were 935 miles inside the soviet union from the starting point of their 1941 attack and held about one-thirteenth of the soviet union.

It was on June 22, 1941, that Adolf Hitler launched the invasion, declaring that he had "decided to give the fate of the German people, and the reich, and of Europe again into the hands of our soldiers."

Today, after nearly three years of fighting, the Russians have swept over shattered Nazi armies into the Estonian soviet republic, into old Poland [Lwow province], and now stand on the Prut.

To Elista and Caucasus.

From the northern Bug river in Poland, from where Hitler flung his armies, the Nazis drove roughly 935 miles to the Volga river at Stalingrad, 650 miles to Mikhailov in Ryazan province, southeast of Moscow, and 500 miles to Lake Ladoga, east of Leningrad.

From the Prut river, they smashed 850 miles to a sector east of Elitsa, capital of Kalmuck, not far from Astrakhan, and 850 miles to the suburbs of Ordzhonikidze in the Caucasus.

The Germans got so close to Moscow that its people could hear the boom of the big guns and see the flashes of exploding shells. The Germans drove to within four miles of the center of Leningrad.

By Russian count, the unsuccessful German attack has cost the invaders more than 13,000,000 casualties. Stalin announced on Feb. 23, 1943, that the Germans had lost 9,000,000 troops, including at least 4,000,000 dead. Last November he said that during "the last year" the Nazis had lost more than 4,000,000, of which 1,800,000 were slain. The Russian casualties, while heavy, have not been announced for some time.

Still Much to Recover.

While maps would seem to indicate that Germany now holds very little of soviet territory, there is still much in their clutch in the form of population, ports, farmlands, and industrial cities. The Germans still cling to a large portion of White Russia and the Germans and Rumanians hold the Crimea. However, the enemy retains only a relatively few square miles of the vital Ukraine.

[A London dispatch said the Red army now has recovered all except about 60,000 square miles of pre-1939 Russian territory which the Germans once held. Including Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, parts of Poland, and Rumania which the Russians now claim as their own, however, the soviet troops still have approximately 200,000 square miles of soil to reconquer.]

Restore Hongkong to China, British Are Urged

CHUNGKING, China, March 26 (AP).—A definite understanding on the post-war restoration to China of the British crown colony of Hongkong is being urged by the newspaper Sao Tang Pao, organ of the Chinese army. China does not ask for pity or gifts from Britain, but rather "a true recognition of Chinese culture and the real significance of China's war against Japan," the newspaper said. It added that the only obstacle to improved relations between the two nations was the restoration of British holdings in China.

GRADUATION DAY IS DAY OF 'WAR' AT BRITISH BASE

Yanks Finish Course in Mock Battle.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AT AN AMERICAN INVASION TRAINING BASE, Somewhere in England, March 26.—Graduation day at this United States assault training center for a group of rugged soldiers who have been sampling the tough curriculum of the invasion course is the nearest thing to a real battle.

From a high hummock laced with stinging, windblown sand, we watched as if seated in a box seat for the opera opening. "We" were a group of officers, soldiers [and observers] from many outfits who either have run the course or who soon are to go thru it.

Behind us, hidden under a hedge, lay the infantry. At "H" hour we heard the flutter of shells overhead then saw the bursts of the 105 mm. howitzers among the "enemy's" pill boxes. Then came the roar of the explosions.

Shells Shake Ground.

Almost at the same instant the ground shook as anti-tank guns and cannon opened fire. Then the self-propelled guns began zipping shells across the landscape head high, smashing again and again at blockhouses.

Soon smoke shells began falling, their white clouds meeting in a great haze which the wind swept across the fortifications, obscuring the movement of our troops. Behind this screen the infantry broke from cover, running forward in wedge-shaped assault teams. Under cover of the smoke, guns and tanks moved forward to supporting positions closer to the objectives. The combat engineers, in a few moments, blasted an elaborate tank trap, allowing our tanks free passage.

Hummocks of sand and sandy bunkers—part of the area once was a golf course—offered cover behind which movement was possible. But the time came when other specialists had to crawl forward over flat ground to shove their torpedoes under rolls of barbed wire. As soon as a tremendous explosion blew a gap in the wire, other soldiers ran thru the concealing cloud of dirt and dust while their fellows protected them with machine gun and rifle fire.

Artillery Pounds Pillboxes.

All the while the artillery continued hammering the pillboxes. Team after team breached its section of the wire, sometimes using human bodies to hold the wire down while other fighters ran thru the gap.

Then came the moment when the pillboxes had to be taken by direct assault. While mortars dropped their charges near the boxes, specialists edged near. Then the mortar fire ceased, and as machine guns and rifles gave protection, a soldier carrying a flame thrower darted near the pillbox to send a stream of fire into the embrasure. The next instant a demolition man had placed a charge right inside the box.

As he ran for cover his cry echoed over the battlefield: "Fire in the hole!" Every one hugged the earth and the explosion ruptured the pillbox opening.

Other soldiers joined in the forward movement and pressed on to the next series of wired-in defenses with the first teams consolidating the first objective.

CHURCHES URGE TOLERANCE FOR GERMAN PEOPLE

LONDON, March 26 (AP).—Britain's church leaders offered a program today for the rehabilitation of Europe and warned against breaches of basic human rights or to punitive measures against the German people.

Issued by the archbishop of Canterbury, Prof. John Baillie, moderator of the general assembly of the Church of England, and Prof. R. D. Whitehorn, retiring moderator of the Free Church federal council, the statement said that the primary responsibility would belong to the United States, Russia, and Britain.

Urges Relief Program.

The program included these points:

Adoption of immediate relief measures to feed starving populations, fight disease, and promote health.

Common action to restore institutions of every kind in which Europe's cultural and social traditions are especially embodied.

Recognition by the governments of Europe of basic human liberties.

Economic and social policies to secure for Europeans full employment and social security.

Would Guarantee Security.

Maintenance of a system of European security which will allow the peoples of Europe to develop their national life free from the fear of recurring war.

Treatment of Germany in such a way as to remove the menace of German aggression and secure full atonement for the sufferings inflicted by the Nazis on others but "not to lend ourselves in a mood of vengefulness to breaches of basic human rights or to punitive measures against the entire German people."

PROWL OF NAZI TANKS HALTED BY ALLIED GUNS

Cassino Slugging Match Still Stalemated.

ALLIED HDQ., NAPLES, March 26 (AP).—Reënforced Nazi troops in Cassino, showing a more offensive spirit, made a brief tank sortie, it was disclosed today, as the fighting in the town became a slugging match with neither side making progress.

Strengthening their hold on the Continental hotel fortress the Germans sent two tanks rumbling out into the open in front of that strongpoint to lay a smoke screen, but allied artillery fire drove them back.

The Germans have used tanks thruout the stalemated struggle, but had dug them into cellars and wrecked buildings.

Fighting Still Heavy.

Today's allied bulletin described the fighting as still heavy, but it was less intense than during the last 10 days when New Zealand troops, following up a tremendous allied aerial barrage, launched their offensive to drive the enemy from the southwest edge of town. The Germans still are firmly entrenched there.

A new burst of activity indicated the enemy was regrouping his forces on the southern approaches to the town near the ducal palace, across Highway No. 6 from the Coliseum.

[Sunday's German war bulletin asserted that "shock troops supported by artillery were repelled with high losses to the enemy. Reconnaissance and shock troop activity were reported on both sides of the remaining front."]

Shell Rail Station Area.

German mortars in the ducal palace-Coliseum area threw heavy fire on allied forces in the railroad station area to the south, and there was considerable harassing fire north of Cassino. Fifth army guns replying apparently exploded a German ammunition dump southwest of Cassino.

A party of litter bearers reached Hangman's hill just under the peak of Monastery hill yesterday and brought down a number of wounded men under cover of a Red Cross flag. Indian troops on the hill have been isolated for a week, supplied mostly by parachute, and this was the first removal of wounded.

The rest of the front was relatively quiet, with the Germans laying harassing artillery fire on roads and on the Anzio beachhead area.

Destroyers Blast Beachhead.

The British destroyer Urchin blasted at Nazi strongpoints near the beachhead Friday night, and the destroyer Grenville engaged a German E-boat, finally sinking it by ramming.

Allied planes, flying 600 sorties with loss of one aircraft, attacked port installations at Leghorn and a railroad bridge at Rignano 10 miles west of Florence on the main route to Rome.

DUNKIRK 'NAVY' ORDERED TO GET SET FOR ACTION

LONDON, March 26 (AP).—The motley yachtsmen's navy which saved the day for Britain at Dunkirk in 1940 has been called upon to hold itself in readiness during the next six months—presumably for some role in any invasion.

The admiralty asked sailors of river and tidewater craft to put their services at the disposal of the navy for tours of duty up to a maximum of four weeks.

Last night it was announced that civil air mail services between Britain and more than a dozen countries in and near continental Europe had been suspended "for operational reasons." Portugal was one of the countries affected. An announcement in the Lisbon press said the cutting off of mail communications was a serious matter "unless it is a question of immediate military developments of a second front." No British planes left Libson for England today.

Report 250 Die as Nazis Bomb U. S. Hospital Ship

LONDON, March 26 (AP). — More than 250 wounded soldiers were killed when the Germans bombed an allied hospital ship at Salerno, Italy, recently, the Rev. Colin R. Montgomery, brother of Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery, said today. "A bomb fell in the operating theater where the doctors were doing a big operation," he said in an address at Cheshire. "They were all killed with most of the nursing staff."

LANZA PONDERS THE VALUE OF CASSINO ATTACK

Judgment Should Be Reserved, He Says.

BY COL. CONRAD H. LANZA.

[Regular contributor to the Field Artillery Journal and recognized as an authority on military matters.]

The allies arrived opposite the Italian village of Cassino on Jan. 22, the same date as the allied landing at Anzio and Nettuno. The expectation was that, attacked from the front and threatened from the rear, the Germans would abandon Cassino and thereby open the way to Rome.

But the Germans fought it out at Cassino and repulsed the attack. They declined to be bluffed by the landing at Anzio and soon had that expedition hemmed in.

Failure to take Cassino was due, it was claimed, to the enemy's occupation of the old Benedictine abbey, on a hill just back of Cassino. On Feb. 15 this was destroyed by bombing and shelling. The Americans who started the assault had been replaced by a mixture of New Zealand and India troops, who attacked. They had no better success than the Americans.

Gets Record Bombing.

The explanation then was made that the failure to capture Cassino was due to enemy strong points inside Cassino itself. On March 15, Cassino was bombed by what was said to be the greatest concentration of bombs ever dropped on a place of comparable size at one time. Then the New Zealand and India troops attacked again.

Some gains were made. The occupation of Cassino was increased from an estimated 30 per cent before the bombing to around 75 per cent afterwards. A medieval castle, on Castle hill back of Cassino, was taken. The ruins of the ancient benedictine abbey were not captured. Hard fighting developed in and around Cassino with alternate gains and losses.

Comparing the Italian campaign with that in Russia, the most striking point is the willingness of the Russians to abandon a plan that doesn't work and try something else.

Russians Look Ahead.

The rapidity with which they changed their offensives from one sector to another, indicates that the Russian staff looked far ahead. It must have made preparations well in advance so as to be ready to start something new without delay, as soon as some previous offensive became stalled.

In Italy the same plan has been stuck to continuously. The landings at Salerno and Anzio both had the same idea, to stop the supposedly imminent retreat of German troops from the south. There has been no such retreat. The attack on Cassino has been persisted in for over two months. During this period everywhere else in Italy the front has been stabilized.

Cassino in itself is of no great importance. It normally has a population of under 7,500.

Not an Essential Theater.

Italy, or rather central and south Italy, is not an essential theater of war. It has no resources worth fighting about. It is a small area, and does not afford the vast spaces of Russia, which permit of maneuvering to an extent impossible in Italy. Italy is mountainous and a hard country to fight thru.

The Russian campaign has been fought in the south over vast plains, and in the north amidst forests and swamps.

For the Italian campaign, it can be said, that regardless of whether Cassino is taken, it has diverted German troops. Judgment for the present should be reserved.

Mt. Vesuvius Spreads Its Ashes Over New Area

NAPLES, Italy, March 26 (AP).—A veering wind spread volcanic ash from Mount Vesuvius over a new area in the direction of Torre del Greco on the southern side today. Smoke continued to pour from the volcano, which has been erupting for nine days. No further casualties were reported. Allied authorities still were coping with the problem of feeding the villagers and live stock.

Take care of your windshield wiper

IN wartime, most of your driving is stop-and-go. And many people figure that less driving means less care, particularly for seemingly minor parts like windshield wiper blades.

But it isn't true! Your windshield wiper blades need the same periodic inspection they got when you were driving more miles. It's time—not use that oxidizes and dries out rubber.

Let your Shell Dealer show you your wiper's exact condition. Watch him snap the rubber to check the "pep" return. Check it yourself!

Your Shell Dealer inspects your windshield wiper as part of his regular Shellubrication Service. It's just one of 35 tests designed to offset the wear of wartime stop-and-go driving—prolong the life of your car!

CIVIL WAR THRU FRANCE GROWS; NAZIS BAFFLED

Heavy Toll Recorded by Underground Forces.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Tribune correspondent, who has just returned to Chicago after 16 months' internment in France and Germany.]

Civil war in France between the underground "Army of the Maquis" and the militia and police forces of Jacques Darnand, former head of the French Veterans Legion and now Pierre Laval's minister of public order, is being waged on an ever widening scale.

The "Maquis" army is ensconced mostly in the forests of Brittany and mountains of the Savoy region. It appears to be well organized in guerrilla bands or detachments. It is said to embrace perhaps 100,000 men. These men are supplied with arms and money from England by airplanes which land secretly in France, baffling both the German military and the Darnand militia.

At first the underground army was designed for coöperation with the expected landing forces. But during recent months detachments and sections have been warring on the Germans on their own.

Some Are Just Bandits.

It would be difficult to estimate what proportion represents a political movement and what represents patriotism. Many are hoodlums and bandits who rob and pillage. Another portion is made up of Communists and paid agents of Britain and Russia.

A third element, which is political and patriotic, is made up of young men who hate collaboration and who refuse to go to Germany to perform compulsory labor. They take to the woods and mountains. When they need food they call on a neighboring farm and requisition what they want.

In addition to the terroristic raids they carry out to harrass the Germans and, the forays they make against the militia, some elements of these bands are guilty of banditry.

Fierce Battles in Mountains.

The fiercest battles between the underground and the militia have been raging in the Savoy mountain region around Grenoble. Darnand has been leading attacks on "Maquis" strongholds in person. At the end of February a resolute band which was described as purely terroristic was rounded up in the mountains. Twelve were caught and tried by French court martial, condemned to death, and shot. All were Nationalists.

Three young men who had joined the band for patriotic motives were transferred to a French civil court. Among those shot were several members of the Communist party and several disgruntled former civil servants.

At about this same time a German court martial in Paris was trying 23 members of what was said to be "Detachment IV." of the "Maquis" army. They were accused of 32 acts of violence against German soldiery. Of these 23 men, all subsequently condemned and shot, only two were French. The others were Armenians, Italians, Rumanians, Polish Jews, and several Hungarians. The German court condemning this group declared its members were paid agents of international communism.

Bishop Deplores Killings.

Msgr. Dutoit, bishop or Arras, in a recent pastoral letter deplored the effects of civil war on the country and stigmatized especially the increasing numbers of assassinations and killing of French partisans.

"Magistrates and civil servants, notably, become targets for assassins and are held up as examples by self-constituted arbiters and patriotic avengers," he wrote. "Professional bandits, taking advantage of the discredit of the state police, are carrying out vengeance and rapine against innocent individuals."

The bitterness of the partisan struggle and the civil war between the French themselves is indicated by figures on arrests and killings. On Dec. 16 announcement was made in France that during the previous four months 230 gendarmes, 152 police agents, 150 civilians, two priests, one public prosecutor, one judge, and two retired generals had been killed in the partisan struggle between the "Maquis" bands and the Vichy government police and militiamen.

How many of the "Maquis" were killed was not revealed. Between Oct. 1 and Dec. 31, a total of 1,229 persons was arrested as bandits, 748 as Communists, and 19,674 for violation of common law.

During the same period, the report said, 9,000 bombs were placed at shops, magazine, factories, and dwelling houses; 150 city halls were attacked and robbed; 686 threshing machines were destroyed, and 3,714 wheat shocks burned. During the same period 600 attempts to blow up railway tracks, many of them successful, were recorded.

Since January, Darnand has been increasing his warfare against the underground army. Laval announced that he would eradicate the "terrorists," and shook up his cabinet.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by the Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Mrs. Frank Piell, 4121 Clarendon av.]

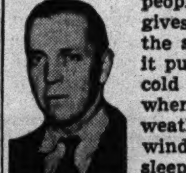
THE QUESTION.

What habit do you have that other people can't understand?

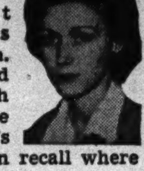
WHERE ASKED.

Dearborn st. station.

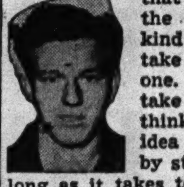
THE ANSWERS.



Noel Lothrop, carpenter, Jamestown, N. Y.—I have one habit that people can understand gives me pleasure in the summer time, but it puzzles them in the cold of winter. Even when it's subzero weather I open the windows wide and sleep with my feet sticking out of the bed. I can't sleep soundly if they're covered.

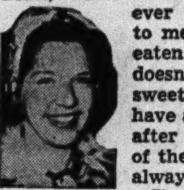


Mrs. Sterling Minton, housewife, Pembroke, Ky.—My friends can't understand what I like about taking gas as an anesthetic. Most of them dread it as much as an operation. I think it feels good to be wafted into such a peaceful sleep. I like it even better if it's so sound I don't even recall where I am when I wake up.



Paul L. Mackey, gunner's mate 3d class, Miami Beach, Fla.—Now that I have developed the habit, the only kind of shower I ever take is an ice cold one. Even people who take cold showers think I'm carrying the idea a little too far by staying in mine as long as it takes to do a thoro job of scrubbing.

Michael J. Sullivan, insurance broker, 506 W. 42d pl.—Just to see how good I am in maneuvering my way out of a traffic jam I often go out of my way to get into one. Driving where there are no cars is simple, but the more cars the greater the challenge to my ability as a driver. Yet some can't understand this.



Ronnie Butler, clerical worker, Flint, Mich.—None of my dinner ever looks appetizing to me until after I've eaten my dessert. It doesn't matter how sweet it is, I always have a bigger appetite after I've taken care of the dessert. I can't always manage to arrange it when I'm a dinner guest because hostesses think I'm kidding.

HUNGRY TWINS SAVED IN FIRE AS MOTHER GADS

Frank Blake.

Mrs. Elizabeth Blake, 33, an attractive divorcee, usually goes out Saturday nights, she explained yesterday to Hyde Park police.

She went out last Saturday night about midnight, with a girl friend, leaving her 5 year old twins, Rose Marie and Diana Lee, and her 2 year old son, Bernard, asleep, in a fifth floor flat at 1377 E. 75th st.

When the twins woke up early yesterday they couldn't find their mother. Rose Marie was hungry. Being a practical young woman, she got out the frying pan and began to fry some bacon for breakfast, while Diana Lee set the table, and Bernard crawled around the floor, getting in the way.

Fire Set by Flaming Grease.

Suddenly the sizzling grease in the pan burst into flame. The flame leaped to the curtains on the kitchen window and spread rapidly upward. Diana Lee ran downstairs to call the landlord, Carl Allen, who, with the aid of Pvt. Nils Nilson, extinguished the flames. A pair of Bernard's shoes was burned, together with the curtains, the radio, a lamp, and some woodwork.

Neighbors took the children to the Hyde Park police station, where Mrs. Blake appeared about noon, 12 hours after she had left the children alone.

By that time, however, they had been taken away by their father, Frank, 5332 Kimbark av., operator of a meat market at 934 E. 63d st.

Divorced, Works for Ex-Mate.

He told police he pays his divorced wife $25 a week for support of herself and the children, and that she earns $10 a week more sorting ration coupons in his meat market.

Mrs. Blake told police that usually when she goes out two older children, Frances, 6, and Richard, 10, are at home to care for the twins and Bernard. This Saturday night, however, Richard spent with his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Agnes O'Leary, 801 Ellis av., while Frances was at the home of her father's mother, Mrs. Frances Beagle, 79th st. and Champlain av.

Police booked Mrs. Blake on a charge of disorderly conduct for appearance in Domestic Relations court today.

RICH BOMBAY MAN'S DAUGHTER MISSING IN N. Y.

New York, March 26 [Special].—Disappearance of Miss Valsa Matthai, 22, daughter of a wealthy Bombay, India, industrialist, was revealed by police here today, who said the British embassy and the Indian trade commission in Washington have been notified. The girl has been in this country since September and was attending Columbia university.

CIO, AFL AGREE TO NEGOTIATE IN BUILDING TRADES

New York, March 26 (AP).—An agreement providing for settlement of union jurisdictional disputes in the building trades industry by creation of a joint AFL and CIO committee was signed today by officials of the two labor groups. The agreement will affect approximately 750,000 workers, including ship yard employes.

Both AFL and CIO leaders expressed the hope the move might lay a foundation for similar coöperation in other fields.

The committee will be composed of five AFL and five CIO members. It will "undertake to resolve thru mediation and voluntary means and procedures only those disputes, disagreements, or other problems which are voluntarily submitted for its action."

AN APPEAL
To You Who Sell
MOGEN DAVID Wines

BECAUSE so much of the Nation's Concord grape output has gone to war to supply jams and jellies for our Armed Forces and those of our allies, we beg your help and co-operation by limiting your sales of MOGEN DAVID WINES to those who need them for Sacramental purposes and to the Clergy.

We, the same as you, do not like this limitation, but war has curtailed the production of many products, and wine is no exception.

Until that time when peace returns to our land and once again we can supply you and your customers with ALL your needs for the fine and famous MOGEN DAVID WINES, we ask you to do your share in limiting your sales of these wines for Sacramental and religious purposes.

Your customers will understand and forbear for the duration. Thank you.

AIR AMBULANCES SCORN ENEMY IN MERCY FLIGHTS

Planes Carry 173,000 Patients in Year.

Washington, D. C., March 26 (AP).—More than 173,000 wounded and ill patients of United States and allied forces were evacuated by American military aircraft thruout the world in 1943, Maj. Gen. David Grant, air surgeon, announced today.

Maj. Gen. Grant.

The figure includes battle casualties and individuals evacuated more than once by air, from one hospital to another. Eleven deaths occurred in flight.

The 12th air force evacuated 58,479 sick and wounded patients a total of 16,491,266 miles—with one death in flight—during 1943 operations in Mediterranean theaters.

22 Hours Cut to One Hour.

Gen. Grant's report said aircraft reduced to one hour casualty evacuation in the African campaign that had required 22 hours by hospital train and up to 15 hours by motor ambulance.

The report described:

Land based planes making long flights over water from the Solomons to distant hospital bases, despite the hazards of the "'the tropics' turbulent atmosphere and the possibility of enemy attack on heavily loaded, unarmed, and unescorted planes."

Cargo planes unloading ammunition and gasoline in battle areas and loading up with wounded men for flights of 1,000 miles and more, sometimes lasting 7½ hours—over desert, jungle, sea, and mountain peaks.

Attendants Defy Bombs.

Medical attendants working under night aerial bombardment without light, placing wounded on litters improvised in bomb bays of B-17s used in early stages of the air evacuation program.

Flight surgeons and nurses ministering to casualties in the air, reassuring them as planes at times flew at low altitudes and at other times flew high "above the weather," at heights up to 10,000 feet.

Gen. Grant said the record places air evacuation with sulfa drugs and blood plasma "as one of the three greatest life saving measures of modern military medicine."

GIRL, 16, TESTS GUN ON TOWEL, THEN ENDS LIFE

Loretta Garritano, 16, was found dead yesterday in the living room of her home at 4233 Adams st., Gary, a bullet wound in her chest. Dr. C. O. Almquist, coroner's physician, said she apparently ended her own life.

Loretta Garritano.

Police found in the room a .38 caliber automatic pistol from which two shots had been fired. In an adjoining room, they found a towel that had been pierced by one bullet. The bullet was found lodged in a window sill. Police said the girl apparently had tested the gun by firing it thru a towel.

The body was found by an uncle, Joseph Garritano, 40, a taxicab chauffeur, 432 Monroe st., Gary, to whom the girl telephoned, "Come at once; something's going to happen." A note found in the room read: "Do not unload the gun; dad will unload it." Her father, Anthony, a widower, was at work.

Sgt. Betty Jane Fitzpatrick.

An acquaintanceship across 10,000 miles between two Sgt. Fitzpatricks of the marine corps, one a woman, the other a man, appeared in the offing yesterday as a result of a photograph published in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE last Feb. 12. Sgt. Betty Jane Fitzpatrick of St. Paul, Minn., who is assigned to the marine corps public relations office here, received the following letter from Sgt. H. V. Fitzpatrick of Chicago, who is in the South Pacific:

"Your picture is right here in front of me. I'm certainly glad my folks decided a subscription to THE TRIBUNE would be a good present. You are the first sergeant to make my pin-up row. The boys here are going to autograph the article which accompanied your picture and upon receipt of a photo from you, we will forward the autographed article."

Sgt. Betty sent the photo on its way yesterday.

OWN COMMITTEE BLASTS TRUMAN PLEA FOR F. D. R.

Washington, D. C., March 26 (AP).—Chairman Truman [D., Mo.] of the senate war investigating committee, declared today the country's "wise and experienced" war leadership must be "continued until the job at hand is completed"—and brought a prompt cry of "politics" from Republicans of the committee.

Truman said in a press statement that the nation should give President Roosevelt "prayerful understanding and vigorous support in the hardest test we have yet to face"—the prospective invasion of Europe. The Republicans declared his views are at variance with the committee's conclusions.

"Because this is a political year," Truman's statement said, "there may be some unthinking partisans who might seek to capitalize upon the inevitable losses that may attend [war developments]. The government will need the support and confidence of all citizens in the tasks that lie ahead of us.

"I think the country realizes we have wise and experienced leadership. No one can divide us in this supreme effort. No patriot will attempt it."

The statement, mailed to newsmen by the office of the secretary of the senate and circulated in the capitol, prompted an immediate reply by Senators Brewster [R., Me.], Burton [R., O.], and Ball [R., Minn.] that while Truman had a right to state his "political position" he did not speak for the war investigating committee.

"The reports of the committee constitute the only statement of the committee's considered and impartial judgment of the caliber of leadership and administration displayed in the various phases of the war effort which have been scrutinized by the committee over the past three years," the three said in joint statement, adding:

"The findings of fact, conclusions, and recommendations in these reports, all agreed to unanimously by committee members, are strongly at variance with those expressed by Sen. Truman in his statement."

POLITICAL NEWS COVERAGE BY AIR CURBED BY U. S.

Tribune-Chartered Plane Halted in West.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Phoenix, Ariz., March 26.—The civil aeronautics administration, thru its representative here and at Santa Monica, Cal., ruled today that newspaper coverage of political trends on the west coast does not constitute "necessary travel." A plane chartered by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE to carry a writer on a nation-wide political survey was denied permission to enter the coastal defense zone, which extends 150 miles inland.

The request for clearance was made to CAA by George Edgcumbe, pilot, of Tufts-Edgcumbe, Inc., Wheeling, Ill., owner of the plane. Before leaving Chicago, he was told by the CAA there he could obtain permission to fly in the coastal area at any port of entrance to the defense zone.

Two Points Involved.

At the Phoenix airport, Charles A. Le Fevre, senior aeronautical inspector for the CAA, said his superior, C. S. McBrien of Santa Monica, chief general inspector, would have to pass upon the application. He explained that two questions were involved: [1] Whether other means of transportation were available; and [2] whether the proposed flight was "in furtherance of the war effort."

"The answer to the first question is simple," said Le Fevre. "Trains, buses, and air lines are sold out. I doubt that you can get on any of them to cover your itinerary. For the answer to the second question, you'll have to call Mr. McBrien."

McBrien, on the long distance telephone, said it was up to Le Fevre whether newspaper reporting of politics was necessary travel.

"I hate the burden of decision," said Le Fevre, "because it might be considered as involving principles of political philosophy that are above my jurisdiction."

"Too Much Involved."

Le Fevre was asked about the denial to a newspaper of the opportunity to make its own survey in the west and the denial to citizens of the western states the chance to tell their views to the midwest.

"There's too much involved for me to give you an answer now," Le Fevre replied. "See me late this afternoon."

Late in the afternoon the answer was that the petition was denied.

"Mr. McBrien said that the CAA, which is acting merely in advisory capacity to the military authorities, was without instructions covering your case," said Le Fevre. "He consulted with the military and your request was denied."

"Do you have any idea where there's a hotel room?" Edgcumbe inquired.

"Not in Phoenix on a week end," Le Fevre replied.

AN INCH OF SNOW FALLS; RAIN AND SLEET IN WAKE

The Chicago weather bureau reported that more than an inch of soggy snow fell late yesterday. The precipitation was sufficiently dense to ground east and west air traffic.

The snow clogged windshields and made roads and streets slippery. The Chicago Surface Lines had 10 sweepers in operation.

In the early evening the snow changed to rain, and some sections snow, rain, and sleet fell alternately. More rain was predicted for today.

More than 8,000 persons visited the Lincoln park zoo yesterday despite the cold winds, Floyd Young, director, estimated last night. Soldiers and sailors were numerous among the spectators. Picture snapping by amateur camera fans has been limited by the scarcity of film.

Friend of the Yanks

B. H. V. asks: "I have been ordered to take the pre-induction physical. Should I appeal now or later?"

ANSWER: Many registrants are ordered to report for their pre-induction before reclassification in which instance it is not possible to file any form of appeal or to request a hearing before the board. The time to request a hearing before the board or to file an appeal is within 10 days of the date of mailing of notice of reclassification [form 57]. If the 10 days are allowed to elapse, it is then discretionary with the local board if an extension of the appeal period is extended. We have an article, "Steps in Making an Appeal," which gives all the steps. It is sent upon request accompanied by a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

B. F. F. writes: "I am 24 going on 25 and have been in 2-B and given a renewal in January expiring in June. Yesterday I received notice to report for a physical. When I asked the draft board clerk about it she said my 2-B was being canceled in keeping with Gen. Hershey's order to reclassify and induct all men under 26. How does this check with you?"

ANSWER: It is not indicated that you have actually been reclassified; hence it is apparent your board is only considering terminating your deferment. However, it has been made entirely plain to all local boards that "the deferment in classes 2-A or 2-B of a registrant 18 thru 25 existing on March 15, 1944, shall not be terminated in advance of its expiration, except in cases of students deferred under the provisions of the old activity and occupational bulletin 33-6." If you should be reclassified, file an appeal within 10 days if your employer considers you nonreplaceable at that time. Of course, a local board always retains the right to terminate a deferment when there is a change of status affecting the registrant's classification, but the reason indicated by your board is in direct violation of instructions.

C. C. asks: "How much pulpwood does a fellow have to cut to be deferred? I have been averaging 65 to 70 cords a month. I have been sent for my pre-induction physical and the draft board said I was in 2-A for a period of six weeks longer only for the sake of my wife and family. I am 28, married nine years, and have three small children."

ANSWER: The national list shows 15 cords of pulpwood as equal to one very essential war unit of production. Pulpwood is not only essential but extremely critical. If your board puts you in 1-A and you are cutting the amount indicated, appeal your classification at once.

M. J. H. writes: "My board said there was no such thing as a list of critical occupations. I am a tool and die maker and tool designer and considered a 'necessary man' and nonreplaceable and I was recently put in 1-A."

ANSWER: The list you speak of is attached to local board memorandum effective Feb. 1. Your skill is listed and it is your privilege or the employer's privilege to appeal if the appeal is taken within 10 days of mailing date of the 1-A notice.

60,000 BRITISH MINERS RETURN TO JOBS TODAY

LONDON, March 26 (AP).—Sixty thousand striking Yorkshire coal miners today ratified an agreement reached yesterday between the fuel ministry and miner owners, and will return to the pits tomorrow.

Th agreement provides a wage differential for skilled workers. Mine owners and ministry of fuel officials agreed that no deductions would be made from the minimum wage of miners for coal taken to heat their own homes. Deductions already made are to be refunded.

Twenty-five thousand miners still are away from pits in the Doncaster area.

The order to "Cease Firing" may be a long way off. But this much is certain. When the order comes . . . even on one Front . . . it is likely to carry with it the twin order to "Cease Production" on a major scale up and down the Factory Front. If anything, the Swing Shift will hear about it before they tell it to the Marines.

When that hour comes, HELLER clients will not be "frozen." They will be forearmed against every important dislocation that may accrue.

They'll know what the Government owes them, and what to do about getting the money due them. They'll have cooperation on how to prepare their claims. They need not be worried about money with which to pay the previous year's income taxes and renegotiation assessments—to buy machinery for replacement of obsoleted equipment—to purchase civilian goods inventory—to meet payrolls—or money for any other vital purpose.

Furthermore, HELLER will provide most of the money before payment is received from the Government. Any forward-looking concern can enjoy this secure position, provided we can help it make money with reasonable safety to ourselves. And companies that qualify can have all the money the situation calls for in an incredibly short time . . . on a basis that will solve rather than involve their problems.

RATION TOKENS BEING HOARDED, DEALERS CHARGE

Find New OPA System Is Breaking Down.

Talk Ration Change

Washington, D. C., March 26 [Special].—Decision on a plan to make food ration stamps valid indefinitely is expected tomorrow, Col. Bryan Houston, OPA director of rationing, said tonight. Aimed at ending stamp expiration buying sprees and unnecessary buying, the plan has much in its favor, OPA officials said. Under the plan there would be no preëstablished expiration dates for the food stamps. Like shoe and sugar stamps, they would remain good indefinitely.

Charges were made yesterday that ration tokens are being hoarded in the Chicago area. Members of the food trade predicted that unless the situation is corrected, the office of price administration will be forced to lift expiration dates on ration stamps or devise a new token system to discourage hoarding.

C. H. Bromann Jr.

Charles H. Bromann Jr., secretary of Associated Food Dealers, Inc., said he had received numerous complaints from store owners that they are running short of tokens and are hard pressed to find enough to make "change" for ration stamps. He said that the owner of a chain of stores who received 58,000 tokens just a month ago when the system went into effect now has only 8,000.

Retailers may apply for additional tokens, but Bromann asserted that in many instances banks have not yet received reserve supplies and have none to release. He added that smaller food dealers are unwilling to tie up even temporarily the ration points from their inventories needed to obtain more tokens.

May Ask OPA to Act.

Bromann said he is planning to ask the OPA to appeal to housewives to stop hoarding and thus help the retailer out of a difficult situation.

Charles W. Kaiser, executive secretary of the Retail Meat Dealers' association of Chicago, also said he has received many complaints from butchers that their token inventories are running low or are depleted because consumers are not circulating them.

The OPA, however, denied that token hoarding in Chicago has reached such proportions as to cause difficulties among food dealers. Paul A. H. Shults, acting Chicago area OPA director, said his office has received no complaints. Rae E. Walters, regional administrator, said that the token program has been successful among consumers and merchants.

Finds Hoarding at Minimum.

"Tokens are being used by consumers in 85 per cent of all purchases of meats and rationed processed foods, indicating there is a minimum of hoarding for future use," Walters said.

He added that there are ample reserves if more tokens are needed. Chicago's original allotment was 54 million tokens.

Another OPA official, while contending that there is nothing alarming in the number of tokens which have failed to return to circulation, admitted that there have been reports of hoarding from various sections of the city. He said that the OPA is keeping a close watch on the situation.

Reports from New York City stated that "vast numbers" of tokens have gone into hiding there, and that many dealers lack ration currency and are forced to issue "I.O.U.s" to customers.

Chicago food dealers said they believed most consumers hoarded so that they would not have to worry about stamp expirations, since the tokens are good indefinitely.

PREDICT ACTION IN WAR AGAINST COUPON FAKERS

New developments were promised today by government employes in the investigation of ration coupon counterfeiting, possibly the arrest of links between the actual counterfeiters and users of the coupons. No definite information was given, but it was indicated the offenders were involved in counterfeit gasoline coupons.

Meanwhile, William J. McCormack, assistant United States attorney, reportedly was preparing evidence for presentation before the federal grand jury. He has worked with investigators for the office of price administration and government secret service agents in seeking offenders who have obtained thousands of gallons of gasoline on fraudulent coupons.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM

By BOB BECKER

Birds on the Farm.

March 26, 1944.

THE farm at this time of the year is a place where the earliest bird migrants from the south meet some that represent the north. Of course this condition also prevails in many parts of Chicagoland because we have winter denizens such as the red poll and the purple finch scattered all thru this area. These rugged species which consider Chicagoland a fair to good area in which to spend the winter are here in March to form a sort of welcoming committee to the first robins, meadow larks, and bluebirds that were smart enough to leave northern Illinois for the cold months.

The way some of our northern birds come down in the autumn to do their bit in putting life into a cheerless snowy winter landscape, and then are on hand to see the jaunty robins arrive during the first days of this new season, is one of the interesting features of country and suburban life at this time of the year.

What If They Could Talk?

We often have wondered what the winter birds would say [if they could talk] to the redwinged blackbirds, bluebirds, and meadow larks that move into the farm now. But if the winter visitants could talk to these birds that wintered down south we imagine that they would say something about the "softies" that can't take it.

There are some meadow larks and robins which stayed around Chicago this winter and these could also talk about the way the migrating birds couldn't take it, altho the arrivals which came during the early part of March certainly haven't had an easy time of it from the weather standpoint.

Mrs. J. E. Smith, 808 Foster av., Forest Park, writes the farm column that the robins which stayed here all winter apparently do not mind the cold.

Stay North All Winter.

Her letter on robins follows:

"These hardy northern robins aren't afraid of cold weather. I have one who has taken over my window tray where, after filling up on seedless raisins, he turns his back to the window, sits with feathers fluffed, and sings softly down in his throat like a person humming.

"I maintain a year around feeding station and have not missed a winter in five years without at least one stray robin, usually a sick or injured bird. I have in my basement a male robin who has suffered a wing injury. He enjoys his daily bath and, of all food offered, prefers raisins and chopped apple. He sits in the window where the sun shines and scolds the birds feeding outside. His wing has improved and he now flies quite well, so when weather permits he'll be out on his own again."

The GARDEN

by Ben Markland

THE mention of cauliflower frightens most home gardeners, but this is another vegetable which is easily grown and should be more common in home plots. Snowball variety, A and X strains, has been grown in the farm gardens for many years. Cauliflower does not produce as high a quantity of food per plant as does broccoli, and is lower in vitamin content. Broccoli produces a terminal head and numerous smaller lateral heads, whereas cauliflower produces only one large head per plant.

Cauliflower is primarily a late summer and autumn vegetable in northern Illinois, altho some success can be had by sowing seed in the row in early spring—April 1 to 15. If seed is sown, the plants should be thinned to stand 24 inches apart. Plants also can be obtained from greenhousemen for transplanting into the garden around April 20. Cauliflower does not head well if planted after those dates, because it must mature before hot weather and drouths strike. Seed can be planted around July 1 for autumn maturity, because cauliflower continues growth thru light frosts.

Do You Know Beans?

BEANS are the most widely grown Victory garden crop. Amateurs can grow the tender, stringless, table-quality varieties wholly lacking in tough fibre and seldom found in markets because they do not stand shipping well. Plant one of these and harvest when young before seeds have begun to form, and you will know how delicious beans can be. All good varieties are now obtainable at our stores, which are not yet overcrowded; but we advise buying early to insure a complete selection and avoid the late rush.

THE LONGER TORSO LOOK

It's very new, very good, very soignée, very prophetic. If you're tall you know you can wear it. If you're short don't pass it up without coming in to see yourself in it . . . for the longer torso dress is optical illusion. It clings to your curves with waistline indented; it fits and has the new middy look, too. Wonderful way to look. If it's for you, it's out-of-this-world.

LUCAS PLEDGES NEW LIBERTY TO HEROIC GREEKS

Says Whole World Owes Them Gratitude.

Freedom loving people of the world will never forget their debt to heroic Greece, Sen. Lucas [D., Ill.] declared in a speech last night before the Greek-American Independent society at Ashland Boulevard auditorium, 328 S. Ashland av.

Speaking at the meeting to celebrate the 123d anniversary of the beginning of the Greek war for independence, Sen. Lucas told the assembled Greek-Americans that what the Germans did to Greece because of her resistance "is one of the most abominable crimes in history."

Nazis Leave Greeks to Starve.

"The Nazis not only carried their spoils away to Germany, but they left the Greek people to starve. Even the seed wheat was carried off. Men, women, and helpless children starved by the thousands. Entire villages were destroyed. Thousands went before German firing squads. Thousands more were imprisoned. More than half a million Greek citizens have died in the Nazi plague.

"What can decent people say to these unfortunate people visited by modern barbarism? Well, the United States and her allies say just one thing: 'We are coming.'"

Freedom's Return Predicted.

Lucas declared that Hitler's disregard for human life and his extermination tactics could be stopped only by an invading army.

"But freedom will come to Greece," he predicted. "And it will be a freedom in which the Greek people will play a decisive part. The freedom loving people of the world shall never forget their debt to heroic Hellas. The Greeks upset Hitler's war plans. Their fighting gave Russia more time to prepare her armies for the German invasion.

"Today Greece still fights on. Her troops that fled into the middle east are ready. Many fought gloriously in the African campaign. We pray to God that the Greek spirit continues its unconquerable, traditional struggle."

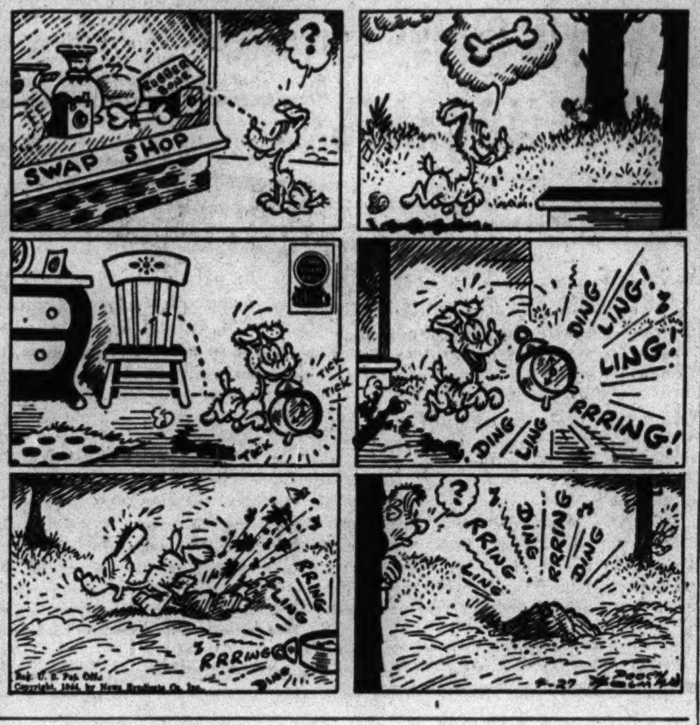
HERZL STUDENTS MOVING TODAY TO NEW SCHOOLS

Students of Herzl Junior college, 3711 Douglas blvd., which will be occupied by the navy for pre-radio training on April 1, will move today to the Wilson Junior college, 6800 Stewart av. Some of the 300 girls and 250 youths affected may elect to transfer to Wright Junior college, in Schurz High school building, 3601 Milwaukee av.

Dr. William H. Johnson, superintendent of schools, said last night that facilities had been prepared for normal class schedules at both Wilson and Wright.

He said another meeting of school officials would be held in his office at 10:30 a. m. today to consider permitting students to move to high schools closer to Herzl.

NUTS AND JOLTS By Bill Holman



REP. DIES CALLS WINCHELL TOOL OF SMEAR BUND

ized and integrated and dangerously intelligent and aggressive movement to undermine the authority and destroy the prestige of congress in the interest of setting up an all-powerful central executive.

Many to Be Exposed.

"This program of villification is part of that. Our committee has already exposed many of the persons and organizations who form this movement. In a short time we will expose many others, and before we get thru we are going to tell you the full story. We are going to find out and tell you who is supplying the brains and who is paying the bills."

Dies said he wanted to fix the attention of the American people on "one of the most sinister forces this nation has ever faced—a highly organized and well financed enterprise to destroy by villification the character of any public man who gets in the way of the objectives of the groups who manage and finance this offensive."

His crime, which attracted the smear attack of these groups, Dies declared, was that he had exposed communist subversives as well as fascist groups.

How Smear Is Worked.

He described the smear technique as follows:

"We are at war. Treason and sedition are ugly words. These specialists in slander would not dare charge reputable men with sedition. But they have found a means by which, thru innuendo and indirection, they can select a victim and smear him with the odium of treason while skirting the edge of libel laws.

"First they find an offender who is really guilty of sedition. Then, without charging you with that offense, they merely mention your name repeatedly in connection with his. They identify you with his guilt by indirection.

"Recently the government indicted 30 persons for sedition. Using these persons as a base, Winchell tells you about them in such a way as to leave with you the impression that I—and my committee—are protecting them. He infers that the committee had information about them which it deliberately withheld. What he is saying, by innuendo, is that I am shielding Nazis and plotting to divert attention from their trial after deserting my sworn duty to investigate them."

Rep. Dies gave statistics on the work of his committee to show the facts were precisely the reverse from those intimated by Winchell. Since August, 1938, when the committee began its work, 178 witnesses have been examined whose testimony dealt wholly with axis activities, and their testimony fills over 4,000 printed pages, he said. Seven lengthy reports on Nazi, Fascist, and Japanese agents in this country have been issued.

900 Documents Given.

"Prior to the indictment of the 30 persons for sedition, O. John Rogge, special assistant to the attorney general, came to our offices with his agents and worked for several weeks and our committee turned over to them 900 documents to be used as evidence," Dies said.

"Now, in the presence of these facts, why does Winchell say we are protecting these people? Let me clear this up. These smearers are not interested in exposing Nazi agents here. That job has already been thoroly done by the FBI.

"They are interested in using the exposure of these Nazi agents to destroy their political opponents by linking, thru innuendo, the names of reputable and loyal citizens to these Nazi agents to punish them because of their opposition to the objectives of this smear bund.

Refuses To Join Conspiracy.

"My crime is my refusal to join the conspiracy of character assassination by using the power of our committee to smear loyal citizens. It is my insistence on investigating, as well, Communist party members and fellow travelers, and those who echo their party line."

Dies noted that Winchell broadcast last Sunday that he had been removed from active to inactive duty by the navy "for reasons which cannot be told until after the war."

"Now I ask, who told Walter Winchell that?" Dies inquired. "He admits he is under orders from some powerful person from whom he is willing to take orders, to stay on the radio. For what purpose? To sell beauty preparations as a part of the war effort? Of course not. He was ordered to stay on the radio to do what he is doing—to carry on the work of the smear bund to intimidate its opponents and to discredit the congress.

Who Is the Great Personage?

"Who is this great personage with so much power that he can reach into the navy to keep Winchell on the air and off the sea for propaganda purposes; and who is so exalted that his name cannot be breathed until the war ends?

"The President appeals to the American people for unity. But at the same time this man is busy weekly on the air, daily in the papers, hurling insults which impugn the patriotism and loyalty of the congress and the various leaders and the people who elect them.

"Such attacks are the chief characteristics of Fascism and the very essence of intolerance."

Winchell had previously attacked the use of the congressional power of subpena. The Dies committee recently subpenaed transcripts of his broadcasts over a two year period and is engaged upon an analysis of them to determine falsities, inaccuracies, and untrue attacks upon men in public life.

Waives Immunity.

"I will gladly appear before any open court or any constitutional authority," Winchell declared tonight, "and I here and now freely waive all immunity. I demand only two rights, those guaranteed to every American citizen: [1] That I have the right of cross-examination and [2] that the public be present."

Congressional veterans could recall no instance in which a witness summoned before a congressional committee had been given the right of cross-examination.

GREEN REPORTS 87 COUNTIES IN POST-WAR PLAN

The Illinois post-war planning commission already has received reports from 87 of the state's 102 counties showing more than 107 million dollars of public works construction in the planning stage, of which 45 per cent now is ready for contract letting and construction, Gov. Green announced yesterday in his monthly radio report to Illinois citizens.

In addition, he said, municipalities of the state are making plans for several hundred million dollars worth of additional construction.

The commission, the governor reported, also is coördinating the programs of the various departments of state government, proceeding on the assumption that no plan for public works should be approved that is not essential and useful.

Extensive Highway Plans Made.

In the highway department alone, he said, an initial program of essential construction amounting to 114 million dollars is being prepared, with 30 per cent already advanced to the contract letting stage.

The commission, he pointed out, is assembling reliable factual information on state resources, probable labor supply, industrial plants, productive capacity, and market prospects for Illinois farms, factories, and business.

"It is exploring new opportunities, so that the prosperity of the people of the state may be enhanced by taking advantage of the discoveries and inventions that the war has stimulated," Green declared.

State Preparing for Peace.

"We in Illinois owe it to our own valiant sons and daughters to make sure that when they return to their homes they shall find opportunities for useful employment and wholesome living.

"It should be of great assurance to the men and women on the fighting fronts, to their relatives at home, to the workers in the war plants, and to agriculture, industry, business, and to the other citizens of Illinois to know their state is taking the necessary measures to prepare for peace."

SPARKS CHARGES WILLKIE TRIES TO BUY NOMINATION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Akron, O., March 26.—Charges that Wendell Willkie is employing "rooms full of money" and the same tactics that "disgraced the proceedings of the 1940 Republican convention" to purchase a Presidential nomination were filed tonight with congress.

C. Nelson Sparks, former mayor of Akron and author of "One Man — Wendell Willkie," made the charges in a letter to Sen. Kilgore [D., W. Va.], chairman of the subcommittee of the senate privileges and elections committee.

An investigation of Willkie's 1940 nomination was authorized by the senate after Sparks had charged in his book that Willkie had used large sums supplied by Wall street and a group of internationalists to "high pressure" delegates to nominate him.

SUPREME COURT CLERKSHIP GOAL OF '17 VETERANS

Years in State Senate Back Searcy's Bid.

This is the 2d article in a series discussing candidates seeking nomination for various state offices in the April 11 primary.

BY GUY GENTRY.

Illinois Republicans are sending Earle Benjamin Searcy, a veteran legislator with nearly a quarter century of service, into the race for clerk of the Supreme court. Against him Democrats are pitting Casimir Griglik, Chicago lawyer and the biggest man physically on their state ticket. Both will get their primary nominations without opposition.

Able Debater in Senate.

When Searcy resigned as state senator to enter the clerkship race, he ended 22 years of service in the upper branch of the legislature, during most of which he occupied a post of party leadership. He also had served one term in the house in the seat once held by Lincoln.

Searcy, who is 56, was born in Palmyra and attended school in Carlinville. He was a newspaper reporter in Springfield for eight years, one of his assignments being to cover the state house and legislature. He enlisted in the army in the first World war and was a combat sergeant in France.

Searcy was one of the organizers of the American Legion and served as the Illinois department's first adjutant, a post he left to become state representative.

A friendly man, Searcy was cool and able in debate in the legislature. He has a good platform presence and has been given a prominent place as speaker in campaigning by Republican state candidates. Searcy is married, has a son and a daughter, and lives in Springfield.

Active in Polish Affairs.

Griglik, who is 6 feet 3 inches tall, like State's Atty. Courtney, and weighs 247 pounds, is a native of Poland and was placed on the state ticket by party leaders in recognition of the heavy Polish vote in Chicago. He interrupted his studies at New York university to enlist in the army in the first World war.

Upon his discharge from the army, Griglik became a citizen, completed his studies, and for five years represented an importing house, traveling to most of the leading cities of the country. He settled in Chicago in 1926, was admitted to the bar in 1937, and has been active in legal and Polish organizations of the city. He is the father of two children and lives at 7035 Ionia av.

7 FLYERS KILLED IN TEXAS CRASH; 2 ILLINOIS MEN

Lt. E. L. Schutte

Monroe, La., March 26 (AP).—Seven men were killed today when a Selman field plane crashed while taking off from English field, Amarillo, Tex., the commanding officer of the field here has announced.

Among those killed were: 2d Lt. Eugene L. Schutte, navigation instructor, son of Frank H. Schutte, 1410 S. 12th av., Maywood, Ill., and Aviation Cadet Alfred E. Schwambach, 25, son of Mrs. Daisy Schwambach, Route 2, Waukegan, Ill.

[Before entering the army in November, 1942, Lt. Schutte was a finger print technician for the federal bureau of investigation. A native of Sigel, Ill., he attended elementary school there, and high school in Effingham, Ill. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Hazel Schutte of Wahoo, Neb., and by two sister and two brothers.]

Plane Crash Blocks Rail Traffic.

Eau Gallie, Fla., March 26 (AP).—State Highway Patrolman George Mason said "several men" were killed tonight in the crash of a four-engine bomber which isolated the lower Florida east coast from telephone and telegraph communication for more than an hour and delayed traffic on the Florida East Coast railroad. The plane, Mason said, crashed on the railroad tracks while attempting to land at the Melbourne naval air base. There were 11 or 12 men in the plane, he said. Eau Gallie is 100 miles north of Palm Beach.

1,000 TO ATTEND VETS' LUNCHEON FOR SEN. BENSON

Tribute Tomorrow for Candidate.

More than 1,000 veterans are expected to attend the testimonial luncheon which Illinois veterans will tender State Sen. Arnold P. Benson, regular Republican candidate for secretary of state, in the Hotel Sherman tomorrow noon. The meeting will be under the auspices of the Republican Ex-Service Men's league with President W. Glenn Suthers presiding.

Highlight of the luncheon program will be the presentation of an American flag to Sen. Benson by Republican colleagues in the Illinois senate, where Benson is majority leader and president pro tem. The presentation will be made by Lt. Gov. Cross. Later ex-service men, headed by Joseph F. Novotny and William Devine, will present Benson with 30,000 pledge cards signed by veterans working for his nomination.

State Senators to Attend.

State senators expected at the luncheon include T. MacDowning, Macomb; Arthur Van Hooser, Metropolis; Earle Benjamin Searcy, Springfield; Charles F. Carpentier, East Moline; William G. Knox, Evanston; Everett R. Peters, St. Joseph; Wallace Thompson, Galesburg; Frank J. Dick, Quincy; John Thomas, Belleville; R. G. Crisenberry, Murphysboro, and George D. Miller, Chicago. Other guests will include past state commanders of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, Disabled American War Veterans, and Spanish American War Veterans.

Republican state candidates will alternate as speakers in addressing Calumet, Thornton, and Bloom township meetings starting at 8:15 o'clock tonight. Committeeman Earl Kistner will preside at the Calumet meeting at 12757 S. Western av., Blue Island. The Thornton meeting will be in Lansing village hall on Ridge rd., with Committeeman James Gouwens presiding. Committeeman David Dahl will open the Bloom meeting in the Washington school, 16th st. and Chicago rd., Chicago Heights.

Gov. Green Will Speak.

Gov. Green and Richard J. Lyons, candidate for United States senator, will headline the state candidates, alternating with Benson, Atty. Gen. Barrett; State Sen. Searcy, candidate for clerk of Supreme court; Conrad F. Becker, candidate for state treasurer, and Lt. Gov. Cross.

The following ward meetings will be held tonight: 4th, 4907 Cottage Grove av.; 7th, 2549 E. 75th st.; 27th, 15 N. Ashland av.; 29th, 217 S. Pulaski rd.; 33d, 2757 W. Fullerton av.; 42d, 1023 N. State st.; 48th, 4615 Sheridan rd.

Deneen A. Watson, independent candidate for United States senator, will carry his campaign downstate this week, speaking in Champaign, Tuscola, Peoria, Bloomington, and at other points.

STABBED TO DEATH IN QUARREL.

Frederick Milton, 25, Negro, 3753 South Park way, was stabbed to death yesterday in a quarrel in a tavern at 3633 State st. Police held Mrs. Cleo Collins, 33, of 12 E. 38th st., and Lorenz Moppins, 25, of 3600 Wabash av., both Negroes, for questioning.

PICKLED AND SPICED FRUITS GO BACK ON RATION LIST IN JUNE

Pickled, spiced, and brandied fruits will be returned to rationing in June, the OPA announced yesterday. These items were removed from rationing in December, but the OPA said it was found advisable to restore ration control to prevent the diversion of fresh fruit from ordinary canning to high priced products which have limited demand. The products were taken from the ration list because they were selling slowly and deteriorate rapidly, but almost all the old stocks now have been moved from grocers' shelves, the OPA said.

The number of new tires and tubes a dealer may carry in stock will be limited beginning next Saturday only by the number of ration certificates received from customers, the OPA said. At present, a dealer may not build up his inventory to a level higher than his total sales during the preceding 60 days, or to one-third of his sales during the preceding 160 days.

The OPA said that these controls, put into effect last October, have effected better distribution of obsolete sized tires and may now be removed. The agency also said that its quarterly survey of dealers' tire and tube inventories is being put on a rotating sampling basis so that hereafter only dealers to whom forms are mailed need report.

HUNT SOLDIER IN JEEP AFTER GUARD IS SLAIN

Fort Benning, Ga., March 26 (AP).—Fort Benning officials today identified the guard killed last night by an escaped garrison prisoner as Pvt. Richard N. Campbell, 18, of Almont, Mich.

The prisoner is still at large. Capt. Francis Berry, provost marshal, said an army jeep is missing from the post and is believed to have been taken by the prisoner in his escape.

The prisoner was identified as Pvt. John J. O'Connor, Maspeth, Long Island, N. Y.

A second garrison prisoner [unidentified] said O'Connor had wrested the guard's shotgun from him and shot the guard in the back.

2 Inmates of Training School Fail to Return

Two inmates of the Illinois State Training School for Boys near St. Charles failed to return to the school yesterday from a Batavia bowling alley where they were employed. They are Arthur Hunt, 17, of 1020 Monticello av., and Anton Drapak, 16, of 2824 Armitage av., both convicted of burglary.

Purr-r-r-s just like Daddy's Car

A sweet-running motor doesn't just happen, especially in a car that is three or more years old. It is the result of the owner's good driving habits, of regular service, and the use of a quality lubricant.

These facts are so clear, so well understood by most motorists, that it is practically a proverb that "good oil is cheaper than repairs." Today, with both practical and patriotic reasons for prolonging the life of every automobile, no sane car owner will risk using anything but high quality motor oil.

That is why his most frequent question is: How can I judge quality? How can I be sure? The answer is easy: Phillips tells you simply and frankly that if you want our best oil, we specify that Phillips 66 Motor Oil is our finest quality . . . the highest grade and greatest value . . . among all the oils we offer to average motorists!

☞ These are days when cars must last. Hence experts now recommend changing oil every two months. Do the wise thing, do the safe thing, by asking for Phillips 66 Motor Oil when draining winter-worn lubricant or making regular changes.

DECEIVING AMERICA.

Gov. Dewey demonstrated keen understanding of the political feeling of the American public in his protest Friday in New York against the secrecy that is being imposed by the administration upon the conduct both of the war and of our foreign affairs. The people are being kept in the dark on matters that affect all of us vitally, and the governor did a great public service in voicing the nation-wide resentment at the fact.

As Gov. Dewey said, it is because of this censorship of information to which the nation is entitled that our foreign relations take so many surprising turns. The public is unable to understand such things as Russian attacks upon the British and the Vatican because Mr. Roosevelt and his agents consistently act as if they alone, and not the people whom they represent, should know what our foreign policy is.

Much the same complaint was taken to the state department on the same day by 24 Republican members of congress, every one of whom supported Mr. Roosevelt's efforts to get us into war before Pearl Harbor. They got courteous attention from Secretary Hull, but precious little information. Rep. Luce left the meeting declaring, "Silence is still the settled policy of the state department."

Destructive as it is of public confidence in the administration and its conduct of our foreign affairs, the policy of "We know best" is an inherent weakness of the vast majority of Mr. Hull's subordinates in the state department. That department is the farthest of all of the bureaus from the American public mind. The condition is not peculiar to the present administration, but it has reached new heights of arrogance under Mr. Roosevelt, an arrogance inspired in his agents by his own egotistical determination to account to no one for his actions.

Such a state department is inescapable so long as the present methods of choosing its professional personnel, the so-called career men who make its policies, continues. The ranks are filled almost exclusively by young men of wealth and social ambition who look upon the diplomatic service, not as an opportunity to serve their country, but as a means of living abroad and associating with foreigners. As diplomats they have a social prestige derived from the power of the American nation that would never be granted them as private individuals, seeking standing in the rigid castes of Europe.

The President appoints ambassadors and ministers, but they are ambassadors and ministers from the United States of America, not from the President of the United States. The conduct of foreign policy is no more the exclusive prerogative of the executive than is the conduct of domestic policy. It is for congress to enunciate a foreign policy and for the state department and the President to carry it out.

Mr. Roosevelt's pretensions, it is true, have run contrary to this fact. He, among all American Presidents, has appointed "personal" ambassadors. He has tried repeatedly to evade the constitutional mandate that he must have not only the advice, but the consent, of the senate in making any foreign agreements of lasting import. By the devious and dubious device of executive agreements he has sought to by-pass the requirement that treaties must be ratified by two-thirds of the senators.

Congress, reborn after 12 years of subordination to and dictation by the executive, appears ready to reassert its constitutional power to shape our foreign policy. It must reassert that power if the betrayal of American interests is to be halted. The first step toward this action is to break down the abominable secrecy by which the administration seeks to conceal both its blunders and its indifference to the welfare of the American people.

A CASE FOR THE FBI.

It might be useful, if only to relieve the perplexity of the citizens of Illinois, for J. Edgar Hoover to find out who it is who has been going about the state making political speeches under the name of Scott W. Lucas. "Lucas," according to the latest reports, has come out against Mr. Roosevelt's labor slavery bill. In previous appearances he has been assiduous to convince his listeners of the frequency of the occasions on which he has differed with the President. Nobody can place the mysterious stranger, but it is obvious that he cannot be the Sen. Lucas who for six years has been a pliant tool and vociferous apologist for the New Deal.

On second thought, it may not be a crime to impersonate a senator. The unspeakable Sabath has been impersonating a congressman for more than 30 years, and nothing has happened to him yet.

THE WAY TO PROMOTION AND PAY.

War department records have disclosed the promotion of Lt. Col. Paul M. Bonner, officer in charge of redistribution and salvage of surplus air property in Detroit, to full colonel. Col. Bonner got his promotion two days after Sen. Ferguson exposed on the senate floor how this officer signed the order which resulted in the sale of $1,721,136 in air forces machine tools to a Detroit scrap dealer for $36,924. War industries were clamoring for tools of this type and would have paid well for them.

Michigan was the scene of another strange bit of army discipline. Col. Colman, commandant of Selfridge field outside Detroit, frequently got drunk and wounded a Negro soldier on one occasion last year. He was tried by court martial, convicted, demoted to captain, and pensioned by order of the secretary of war. An enlisted man who was involved in other scandals under Col. Colman's command, but who hadn't shot anybody, drew a stiff prison sentence.

Army justice of this sort is anything but a tonic to the morale of fighting men. It is the kind of miscarriage that is inevitable as long as the direction of the war department is in the hands of a senile, political secretary bossed around by a malevolent clique of New Dealers. There are nearly 12 million men in the army of the United States and in that great aggregation there is leadership material aplenty.

Plenty of competent officers can be found to replace the Colmans and the Bonners, to keep their like from getting into commands where they can do harm, and to see that justice is meeted out to them if they do. But the competent men can't get anywhere unless they are recognized and given responsibility. That will not happen until a competent man is placed in charge of the war department.

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY.

Elgin police have exposed an alarming example of juvenile delinquency with the arrest of three boys on charges of statutory rape and the detention of several other young people for delinquency. Eighteen teen-age boys and girls were involved in a series of immoral parties held in each others' homes, parked automobiles, and elsewhere. The arrests were made after all 18, together with their parents, had been called to the Elgin police station the month before and warned to discontinue their immoral practices. They did not heed the warning.

There should be no attempt to single out Elgin as a community for censure in this case, for the evidence shows that delinquency is becoming general thruout the United States and at a rapid rate. War seems to promote loose morality among the young and that is all the more reason for the mature to protect them against it. Delinquent children should be dealt with by stern measures, but delinquent parents and guardians should suffer the more severe punishment.

Discipline seems to be the only deterrent to juvenile immorality. Where parents give the home only casual supervision, whether because they are occupied in fighting or working in the war or for less valid reasons, boys and girls tend to err. Frequently, church discipline can bridge the gap and prevent the ruin of young lives. Where both home and church discipline have broken down, civic discipline must step in.

The Elgin case should be a warning to every community in the nation, for there is hardly a one of them where the same thing can't happen, if it hasn't happened already. Sentences meted out to irresponsible parents in these cases probably would have a more salutary effect than punishing the young transgressors alone.

LEXICOGRAPHICAL FOOTNOTE.

The transcript from Los Angeles contains the account of a curious verbal passage between Charlie and his inamorata.

Joan—Charles, what about putting me back under contract?

Charlie—Joan, I am going to try to rehabilitate you. I am going to give you $25 a week.

Joan—But Charles, I can't live on that!

Charles—You're too extravagant. You've got Fascist ideas.

The usual lecher with $7,000,000—assuming that there are other $7,000,000 lechers—would hardly rebuke a discarded mistress' request for funds with that particular epithet. If he were in an ideological mood, he might call her a Communist, trying to share the wealth. Charlie, however, is a fellow traveler of the first water. Association with Holy Mother Russia is obviously too good for a lady who has forfeited his fancy.

Recent years have seen the term "Fascist" tossed far and wide, but Charlie seems to have won the antarctic championship. Nominated for the Dictionary Hollywoodana:

Fascist—A babe who claims she can't live on $25 a week—Charles Chaplin.

ILGWU AND THE BORERS.

[New York Times.]

The borers from within who have worked so hard to capture American labor unions are having bad luck with David Dubinsky's International Ladies' Garment Workers. In the cutters' union, which has just had an election, the Communist supported candidates got 30 per cent of the votes cast in 1939 but only 15 per cent of those cast this year. In the whole series of elections this year, covering a membership of 160,000 and 2,000 offices, not a single Communist, says Mr. Dubinsky, "was elected to any office whatsoever."

The evidence shows that American workmen can distinguish between coöperation with the Russians in war and coöperation with the little band who have tried so hard, so foolishly, and so vainly to introduce what they think is communism into the labor movement here. There is such a thing as a straightforward American left wing. The Communists were never that. They have become no less rootless and fruitless because they have changed their name and tactics. Soon they are likely to be as scarce as the buffalo, perhaps as scarce as the passenger pigeon among our native fauna and flora. One wonders whether Mr. Stalin will mind.

Vice President Wallace, who advocates the possibility of American exports without any payments in return, might set the example by giving away all his hybrid seed corn.—Indianapolis News.

   Table salt Baking soda Baking powder Niter
5. A hole-in-one is associated with which of these sports?
   Baseball Archery Golf Hockey
6. The president of a bank was planning a business trip but his night watchman came into his office and begged him not to go.

"Mr. President," the watchman said, "I dreamed last night that you were taking a trip by train, that the train you planned to take was wrecked and all passengers killed. I am a great believer in dreams, so I hope you will not take this trip."

Because the watchman was so sincere the banker postponed his trip. True to the dream the train he had expected to take was involved in a wreck and many passengers were killed. The banker called the watchman into his office and rewarded him generously, and then discharged him. How do you account for the banker's firing his watchman?

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

WORDS IN THE FASHION.

The word "tryst," which gets a workout in the newspapers whenever affairs like the Chaplin case are aired, has always been popular among poets, for it carries an aura of old fashioned romance. But in the spoken American language it has practically no existence. In a long lifetime of listening to the speech of our native landscape we have never heard it drop from an artless tongue. It is occasionally used by the learned, with a hesitancy regarding the vowel sound [long or short "i"], but even then it has a classroom flavor. This is regrettable, for it carries a meaning of time, and place, and meeting in which its synonyms are deficient. Engagement, appointment, rendezvous, "date"—these are poor words when compared with "tryst."

The British pronunciation uses a long "i" for the "y" in "tryst"; the American, if any, the short "i." Webster gives both, with the American usage in preferred position.

Here is a quaint bit of evidence about Charles Chaplin's career as a boy actor, found in "Who's Who in the Theater":

"He appeared at the Duke of York theater, London, Dec. 27, 1904 [aged 10], as one of the Wolves in the first production of 'Peter Pan'."

He never dreamed that this word would run amuck and bite him.

Speaking of fads in catch-phrases, Bernard De Voto writes in "The Literary Fallacy" [Little, Brown & Co., April 18]:

"The dislocation of the conjunction 'but' carries a suggestion of Park av. If at proper times and in proper contexts you say 'But beautiful' or 'I'm dead, but exhausted,' the usage shows that you are an initiate, that you are at ease with the well-heeled, that worldliness and savoir-faire are your birthright or at any rate an acquired skill. . . . 'But' makes you, so to speak, a Marquand character."

We have missed this symptom of the lofty civilization of Manhattan, and perhaps we have been keeping low company. The cure for this new wrinkle may be found in the works of Henry Fielding, who wrote in 1730, "But me no buts," and in a German proverb which says, "All would be well if there were no buts."

MONTE CASSINO.

A holy man of God, to make men free,
Apollo's pagan shrine cast boldly down,
And on the mountain top where all might see
An abbey built, above the peaceful town.
For ages past the Benedictine rule
Has aided men to live more holy lives;
In perilous times that mountain shrine was school
Of faith, and store of many priceless archives.

The abbey lies in shattered ruins now;
A charnel house, the city smokes beneath,
While stricken ones ask long and vainly how
The angry sword may find again its sheath.
But from those broken, bloodstained rocks will rise
Anew the faith whose home is in the skies.

THE TONGUE AS A HEALTH VANE.

TO THE keen observer, the tongue has a tale to tell. Silent and quiescent, it may reveal considerable information concerning the state of the body. All that is required is that it shall display itself.

When it is dry, we know that the tissues need fluid. Should it be unduly smooth or bald [devoid of papillae] we must check for anemia—a reduced number of red cells. In this malady the sufferer may complain of a periodic sore mouth with sensations of burning. Tenderness may be present on chewing and, in severe cases, certain portions may exhibit patches of ulceration. The condition borders on glossitis, or true inflammation of the structure.

When digestive disturbances are responsible, particularly sprue, marked improvement will follow the ingestion of appropriate remedies such as liver extract and ventriculin. Under the influence of these preparations we can see the papillae actually re-form.

But when the organ atrophies [shrinks] we may look for too little hydrochloric acid in the gastric juice. In addition, these patients may encounter difficulty in swallowing. Instead of being catalogued as hysterics we should prescribe the lacking acid orally. More often than not, under this management, symptoms will vanish.

Then, too, the lingual appendage will disclose much about nutrition. In pellagra, the raw beefy appearance will yield to vitamin therapy. With the administration of a fraction of B the areas, which may have become deeply injected, will resume a normal shade within a day or two. Healing, accompanied by the disappearance of the usual crop of Vincent's organisms, will proceed apace.

A coating of fur may indicate merely an unclean oral cavity, which may be traced to foul teeth, infected tonsils or sinuses, or poor hygiene. Dyspepsia may be a factor. Naturally, the cause must be found and eliminated before we can expect improvement.

Home treatment includes scrupulous cleanliness. The surface may be wiped with a bit of sterile gauze or scrubbed gently with a soft rubber brush. In this fashion undigested particles of food, cast off cells, and bacteria will be removed. Mild, antiseptic mouth washes will assist the process.

We must recall that vigorous chewing promotes the flow of saliva which is helpful in eradicating débris. The reason the "fur" may be heavier in the morning is explained on the ground of mouth breathing or because, during the night, the parts have been inactive. In consequence the output of saliva has been at a low ebb and flushing has ceased temporarily.

If good hygiene fails to relieve the situation we may consider some systemic malady. Damaged kidneys, for example, may be retarding the exit of waste matter. But the majority of cases are on a simpler basis. The coöperation of the patient, the family doctor, and the dentist may be essential for complete relief.

All in all, the tongue has much to relate to the one who will take time to study its reactions.

EYE BEHAVIOR.

E. L. M. writes: Every few minutes my daughter's eyes roll up in her head. The family doctor said it is probably a habit as he could find no cause. She is 12 years old. What could be the season?

REPLY.

In my opinion, your physician is correct. Daughter has probably learned that this maneuver disturbs you. In consequence, you forego correction or reproof. Movements of the optics are entirely under her control. She can make them behave.

ABDOMINAL PAIN.

T. R. writes:

1. What causes abdominal pain?
2. Can nervousness be responsible?

REPLY.

1. The most common factor, other than inflammation, is a bubble of gas within the bowel.
2. Yes. A spastic colon is influenced powerfully by the state of the nervous system.

PALE LIPS.

G. R. B. writes: What causes the lips of a 14 year old girl to turn lighter?

REPLY.

The shade of the lips reflects the condition of the blood and the circulation. If they are becoming pale, anemia may be suspected.

PERITONITIS.

Mrs. T. Y. writes: How long does it take to get over the effects of peritonitis?

REPLY.

Much depends upon the area involved and the cause of the infection—a few weeks to several months.

SWOLLEN LEG.

N. B. W. writes: Will milk-leg always bother the victim at intervals?

REPLY.

Yes, until the return circulation has been reëstablished fully.

EXCESS HAIR.

M. O. writes: Is superfluous hair caused by a physical disorder?

REPLY.

Not infrequently it points to a slight glandular imbalance.

Conversation on the Desert.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 26.—The vibrations of the fast train as it plunges across the desert make the page blurred. Finally you abandon your book and go back to the loneliness and the immensity of the cactus and sand and mountain range beyond the window. Before them, human achievement dwindles to toy and dust. The train that lumbers in the distance, its fat, round cars bearing oil for war, seems alien and remote, and the double line of planes drawn up in the dusk, as gray as the mountains that form their backdrop, are cardboard cutouts, puny and ineffectual, dropped down here in this desolation by a giant playing at strategy.

The blond boy in the naval lieutenant's uniform who has the roomette across the way sticks his head in the door. "Say," he begins hesitantly, "are you busy?" You say, "Of course not." "Well," he goes on, "I'd just like to talk. It gets me, all this. It's too lonely. It's like all I've known for the last two years."

So you ask where he has been, and he says he has been on submarine duty. You say, "O, that's why you are pale, then," and he smiles wryly. He says that may be it, but he was sick, too. He has just been home. He had 10 days' leave and most of it was coming and going, but he had wanted so badly to go home and see a night club again. So he did. He went home, and the first night he went to a night club. He had always remembered the fun he had had there. He spoke of the fun as tho it had been years ago, but he could not have been older than 23.

"Strange," he says, "but I didn't have fun at all this time." You don't say anything, just wait for him to continue, and eventually he does. "You know," he says in surprise, "it made me mad. There were too many people, all drinking too much and . . . O, I don't know. I don't know what it was. I just walked out saying to myself, 'I hope this joint burns tomorrow.' To tell the truth," he added, "it all made me so mad I've been saying ever since I wish the government would choke an amusement tax down our throats that would close all those damn places until after the war."

He seems embarrassed at his sudden emotion and lapses into a silent study of the cactus and sand and mountains outside. "I heard you typing," he begins again. "Were you working?" You laugh and say no, you were writing letters, some V-mail letters. "And long overdue, too," you say. "They will be very surprised when they hear from me."

He looks at you, a long and sorrowful look. He asks where they were going, and you say one is going to Italy, one to the Pacific. "How often do you write?" he asks. "Well," you admit, "I try to write once a week, but somehow I never do. I don't know why . . ." And you say nothing rather than give your inept justifications.

"You know," he says, "You should be ashamed of yourself." He says it slowly but with deep conviction and, again, that sorrow. You say, yes, you are. "No" he corrects you, "You don't know how it is. You don't know what a letter is. Have you ever gone six months without a letter, without hearing from any one dear to you or even friendly toward you?" You shake your head.

"I have," he says, "and I think that's what I'm going back to."

Again he looks out of the window, searching for words that perhaps will phrase it in a kindly manner.

"It's like this," he says finally. "You eat and you sleep and you work and you fight and sometimes you see the sun and sometimes you do not. Then one day you see a ship you think has mail on it. And you get so excited you begin to live again. And then you get a letter that says, 'I'm sorry this is so short, but I am so busy I don't have a minute to write. I'll try and write a long, newsy letter next time.'

"So," he continues, "you read that and read it and read it, and then you welcome the hour when you can crawl back in your bunk and go back to sleep, and you pray to heaven you won't dream. Dreams," he concluded, "are disturbing."

SEN. LUCAS' "CAMPAIGN ORATORY."

Chicago, March 23.—It is remarkable the way our senior senator, Scott W. Lucas, has made an about-face in his campaign speeches. He may be able to read the handwriting on the wall, but the chances are it is just "campaign oratory" of the Windy Willkie type. It just won't go over with the people who use their heads.

On March 16 in East St. Louis, Ill., Sen. Lucas in a campaign speech came out against planned economy and government control of industry. He said: "Private enterprise is the life blood of America. We must reject any planned economy such as Germany foisted upon its unfortunate people. Economic dictatorship is foreign to the American system of free enterprise."

That is what I have been telling the boys down at the office, but when it comes from the lips of a New Deal yesman, it becomes just "campaign oratory." He failed to mention the planned economy which has been and still is being foisted upon this nation by the New Deal administration in Washington, of which he is a part.

Thinking people in the great midwest will not forget the way the New Deal has trampled upon their liberties. They know that liberty once lost is hard to regain. I don't believe the New Dealers can sell their "campaign oratory" speeches to the American public again and the American voters will show their resentment at the coming elections.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMERICAN.

LOSING WITH WILLKIE.

Oak Park, Ill., March 23.—I am beginning to suspect that the real aim of Willkie, backed by the New Dealers, is to transfer Republican fire to himself instead of the administration. Furthermore, in the role of a Republican, he is firing back in an attempt to disunite the G. O. P.

I don't believe Willkie figures he has a chance this time. I further believe he was amazed at the vote he received in 1940, a vote, by the way, that was primarily against Roosevelt and not for Willkie. Willkie boasts of the record breaking vote he received. Taft, Dewey, or any other would have won. Willkie's acceptance speech, practically rubber stamping the New Deal foreign policy, lost several million votes from people who figured there was no difference and decided on the third term candidate because of experience. These votes would have been cast for and would have elected Taft or Dewey. Remember, at the time even the now discredited Gallup poll showed 85 per cent of the people against war. And they stayed against war until the day of Pearl Harbor.

OAK PARKER.

BRIBING THE ROBINS.

Urbana, Ill., March 23.—Here's how to fix the robins that eat growing fruit. Birds always prefer wild fruit to domestic fruit, and if you will have mulberry, wild cherry, dogwood or wild grapes planted near by you will find that the robins will eat the wild fruit and leave your cherries and raspberries for you. When a child I remember that the birds visited our cherry trees, but we always had enough cherries for ourselves. No one could begrudge some fruit to the birds when they know how many harmful bugs, worms, larvae, grasshoppers, and cutworms they eat every year. The robin eats more than 100 different kinds of beetles, and is such a friendly bird to have around.

THE TWO SIDES OF THE STREET IN MADISON.

Madison, Wis., March 3.—I was much interested in the story by Frank Hughes in THE TRIBUNE of March 2 captioned "Corn Belt Deaf to Pleadings of World States." My interest was largely centered in the latter part of the story, about the "Adler dynasty." This told how Adler's Lee Syndicate controls both Democrat and Republican newspapers in Davenport, but in giving the list of papers controled, listed only the Wisconsin State Journal in Madison, ignoring the Capital Times, which also is a Lee Syndicate paper.

The situation here is a scream; Col. Brayton, former publisher, came here to guide the destinies of the W. S. J. when the Lee outfit took over; he has now retired, and Don Anderson is the "big man" locally. Willard E. Smith, formerly manager of the U. P. bureau here, more recently associate editor of the W. S. J., is on leave of absence to manage the Wisconsin campaign for Willkie, and meanwhile the paper whoops it up for the Wall Street Barefoot Boy.

But over in the East Washington avenue sanctum of the Capital Times sits William T. Evjue, who established the paper during World War I. to support the anti-war position of the senior La Follette; he was isolationist in this war also—until Norway was invaded, and then he became, overnight, a leading interventionist. He whoops it up for Roosevelt at all times, but incidentally he sings a sweet song every now and then in praise of Wendell, who appears to be his second choice for the Presidency.

BADGER.

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY.

Chicago, March 23.—Several articles have been published recently about America's negligent attitude toward her children, her most precious asset.

I have read that England, Russia, and, most of all, Sweden devote a great deal of their time and money to improved pre-natal and post-natal care of the mother; and decent living quarters, nursery schools, medical care, and financial aid for the families who are unable to obtain it for themselves. These nations realize that their existence and place in the world depend on the health and intelligence of the next generation.

We are aiding the world with our money, our food, and all our resources. Surely a nation as rich as ours has money to care for our own mothers and children. I am the mother of three and am fortunate enough to be able to take care of them myself. It is my hope that, in the near future, the eyes of the nation may be opened to the predicament of its children and young people.

TAXES INCREASE 141% AS INCOME SHOWS 90% GAIN

Sharp Climb Reported in 1939-'43 Period.

The rate of tax collections has outstripped the swift rise in the national income during the period of 1939-'43, the federation of tax administrators reported yesterday. Taxes paid federal, state, and local governments, the report disclosed, increased 141 per cent in the period, while the national income rose 90 per cent.

Apart from social security, $12,602,000,000 was paid in taxes of all forms in the fiscal year of 1939. It amounted to 18.5 per cent of the national income of $68,021,000,000. In the fiscal year of 1943, tax collectors took in $30,398,000,000, which was 23.5 per cent of the $129,350,000,000 national income.

State Collections Climb.

State tax collections went up from $3,057,000,000 in 1939 to $3,906,000,000 in 1943, an increase of 27.8 per cent.

Local collections fell from $4,780,000,000 in 1939 to $4,615,000,000 in 1943, a decline of 3.5 per cent.

Federal collections, however, soared 360 per cent, from $4,760,000,000 in 1939 to $21,880,000,000 for the fiscal year of 1943.

The federation said, "The relatively moderate increase of total tax collections in proportion to national income is explained by the fact that local taxes decreased, not only in proportion to the growing national income but in absolute amount, while state collections during the period did not keep pace with the tremendous upsweep in national income."

Take 16.9 Per Cent of Income.

On the basis of per cent of national income, federal collections took 16.9 per cent in 1943, compared with 7 per cent in 1939. In that year the per cent of federal and local collections, in relation to national income, was the same.

Preliminary estimates for federal, state, and local tax collections for the 1944 fiscal year, the report said, indicate that present trends are being accentuated still further. The estimate is based upon compilations from various sources, including the treasury department and the bureau of census.

APPROVE COMMISSARIATS.

MOSCOW, March 26 [AP].—The formation of commissariats of foreign affairs and defense in the 16 republics of the soviet union continued today with the supreme soviet of White Russia voting unanimously at Gomel to form both. A meeting of delegates voted to form similar commissariats for the Turkmenian republic.

STORMS ENTERS OFFICE AS CHIEF OF DETECTIVES

Walter G. Storms was sworn in as chief of detectives yesterday, replacing John L. Sullivan, who held the post for nearly 10 years. Sullivan was demoted to a captaincy Saturday in a general order by Police Commissioner Allman transferring 16 captains, 14 lieutenants, 5 sergeants, and 21 patrolmen.

Lt. John Warren, acting captain at the Hyde Park station, was sworn in as deputy detective chief, a position Storms had held since 1932. James R. McSweeney, police department secretary, administered the oaths at the detective bureau in a ceremony without speeches or spectators.

Considered Allman Protege.

Chief Storms has been considered a protege of Allman, while Sullivan had been regarded as State's Atty. Courtney's closest ally in the department's command. Mayor Kelly denied Saturday that political consideration prompted Sullivan's demotion.

The promotion was a surprise to Storms, he said yesterday. "I can only say that I will do the best I can, and try to profit by my experience in working on all police cases."

Must Fill Homicide Post.

One of the first demands on his attention will be the recommendation of a successor to be appointed by Allman for Lt. Otto Erlanson, who announced Friday that he is retiring May 1 on a pension after many years as head of the homicide bureau.

Storms, who is 51, has been on the police department since Nov. 20, 1920, and he has been in plain clothes most of his career. In 1932 Allman chose him as acting deputy chief of detectives. The title was changed to deputy chief in 1934.

LEHMAN IN CAIRO.

CAIRO, Egypt, March 26 [AP].—Herbert Lehman, chairman of the allied relief and rehabilitation administration, arrived here today from Algiers for conferences on organization of the UNRRA's Balkan activities. His left knee, broken in a fall, still was in a plaster cast.

TORTURE VICTIM TO BE BURIED IN POTTER'S FIELD

The body of an unidentified man, believed slain by gangsters, found March 18 in Lake Michigan near Hammond, Ind., will be buried today in potter's field, near Hessville, Lake county.

Hope that the victim's identity might be established faded yesterday when Capt. Sandor Singer of the Hammond police received word from the national identification bureau in Washington, D. C., that the man's finger prints were not on file.

A check with Chicago police files also has proved futile.

An inquest held Saturday established the man had died of either a gunshot wound or a head blow. The body was wrapped with wire and weighted. The victim's hair and skin had been dyed. To further conceal his identity, police say, the assassins had dressed him in oversized clothing from which all identification had been removed.

URGE CONGRESS: FIRE ASSAILANT OF EDGAR BROWN

Negroes Call for Action on Attack in Capital.

Chicago Negroes yesterday demanded the discharge from government service of Randlett T. Lawrence of Monthalia, Tex., a congressional doorkeeper, for his assault on the capitol grounds last Wednesday on Edgar G. Brown, Negro leader from Chicago.

Meeting at the Liberty Baptist church, 56 E. 46th st., in a mass protest, the Chicago Citizens' Committee of 1,000 drew up a petition to congress calling for Lawrence's immediate dismissal for the unwarranted attack.

"Food for Propaganda."

"Conduct of this kind and character," the petition read, "on the part of an officer of our congress, coming at such a time as this, furnishes fine food for adverse propaganda for the Nazis and their allies, while at the same time and by the same token it is discouraging and disheartening to our citizens, soldiers, and sailors on the home front and to those of us who are loyally and patriotically carrying on on the far flung fronts."

Thomas J. Downs, who is Brown's opponent for Republican candidate for congress from the 2d district, wired Brown that he was "shocked to learn of the dastardly attack made upon you in Washington by a Texas Democrat." He offered all of his assistance to see that justice is done.

Brown Sends Message.

Brown was under a physician's care in his hotel and was unable to attend the protest meeting. He sent this message:

"The Nazi spirit of Bilbo [Democratic senator from Mississippi], the new district mayor, now dominates the capitol in Washington. No Negro's life is safe under this tyrant from Mississippi. My sole advice to the Negro people who vote in the north is to work tirelessly and eternally to remove every Democrat from President Roosevelt down from high public office. They are dominated by the southern lynchers who would rather lose the war than to give the Negro a single constitutional right."

CHARLES JONES, 81, TEMPERANCE LEADER, DEAD

Charles Redding Jones, 81, nationally known temperance leader, died yesterday in his home at 1436 Ridge av., Evanston.

He was a former president of the National Temperance and Prohibition council, and for the last 10 years had headed the American Business Men's Research Foundation, an organization that conducts investigations along social lines where alcoholism is a factor.

Mr. Jones is survived by a son, C. Herbert Jones, teacher at the New Trier High school in Winnetka, and four daughters, Mrs. Daniel E. Winter, Mrs. William R. Cook, Mrs. Edna Lee, and Mrs. Warren Schreurs.

Services will be held at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday in First Methodist church, Evanston.

DOCTOR FAMED FOR TREATING CANCER IS DEAD

San Francisco, Cal., March 26 [Special].—Dr. Walter B. Coffey, 75, widely known cancer specialist, died last night.

Dr. Coffey gained world-wide attention in 1930 thru development with Dr. John B. Humber of a new method of treating cancer by the injection of a gland extract which he claimed in some cases destroyed cancer tissues without harming normal body tissue. Thousands of cancer sufferers were treated at the Coffey-Humber clinic here.

After a prolonged investigation, the American Medical association reported results of the treatment disappointing. Dr. Coffey first gained eminence as a surgeon in 1924, when he successfully operated to relieve pain caused by angina pectoris.

FOR SPEEDY RELIEF OF HEADACHE
—remember fast, effective, well-tolerated CAL-Aspirin
CAL-Aspirin
FAST, EFFECTIVE, EASY TO TAKE

Why have so many people turned to CAL-Aspirin for relief of simple headache, and muscular aches and pains of neuralgia, or neuritis? Here is one reason!

CAL-Aspirin provides the fast, efficient pain relief of purest aspirin in well-tolerated combination with calcium. It acts swiftly, usually bringing marked relief within a few minutes after taking. But at the same time, it helps guard against stomach distress sometimes associated with such medication—burning sensation, or acid indigestion which you yourself may have experienced with other medicines.

Ask for CAL-Aspirin today. Prove its advantages. Take it just as you take any other aspirin—the usual dose, two tablets with a glass of water. Get CAL-Aspirin at any drugstore. Tubes of 12 tablets; vials of 36 and 100.

YOUTH DROWNED AS WIND UPSETS CANOE IN RIVER

Francis J. Bichler, 18, of 4438 McVicker av., was drowned yesterday when a kayak in which he and two other youths were sailing on the Des Plaines river near Irving Park blvd. and River rd., was caught in a gust of wind and capsized.

His companies, Donald Sims, 16, of 4202 N. Melvina av., and Gilbert Martinus, 16, of 5810 Schubert av., were taken to the Chicago State hospital suffering from shock, after they had attempted vainly to rescue Bickler.

Coast guardsmen from the Wilmette station recovered the body from the debris-filled stream three hours later. They were aided by county highway police from the Morton Grove station.

WOYNER—Max J. Woyner, fond father of Marie Koenig, brother of Helene Johnson, Barney, Edward, and the late Mary Fitzgerald. Funeral Tuesday, March 28, at 10:30 a. m., from chapel, 3805-07 N. Lincoln avenue, to St. Andrew's church. Interment St. Boniface.

Garden Club's Flower Show to Open Today

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE opening of the annual flower show of the Garden club of Illinois today on the second floor of Marshall Field & Co., will find crowds of garden lovers touring the show. In addition to several charming gardens laid out by member clubs, there is an exhibition of period tables by other clubs and of invitation buffet tables set by men and women.

Mrs. Warren W. Shoemaker, Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen, Mrs. Lloyd A. Truack, Leon Hamburger, Marc Leeds, Ernst von Ammon, Andrew S. Rebori, Glen E. Paulsen and Hubert Ropp are those who have set the buffet tables. Luncheon, Mexican, terrace, console, breakfast and incidental tables are being set by members of other garden clubs in this area, and also on view will be numerous flower arrangements.

Mrs. O. W. Dynes, the club's flower show chairman for many years, will not be here this year, as she and Mr. Dynes are unable to get reservations home from Florida. Mrs. Henry W. Shedd is in charge of tours, which will enable the public to see all of the show. In addition, there will be daily lectures on "Fashions in Flowers," beginning today with two talks by Mrs. Albert Day Farwell, one at 11 a. m. on "Pre-Planting Work," and another at 2 p. m. on "Selecting Vegetables and Plants for the Home Garden." The show will continue thru April 8.

Today's Events.

A number of tables at the luncheon of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations today at the Palmer House have been reserved by foreign nationality groups. Charles Davila, former Rumanian minister to the United States, will speak on "Russia's Role in the Balkans." John Landescu will be at the head of the Rumanian table, and Dr. Vojta Benes will head the Czecho-Slovakian table. At the speaker's table will be Thomas Costino of Indiana Harbor, Ind., president of the Rumanian-American Alliance for Democracy, of which Mr. Davila is honorary president; the Frederic Woodwards, Mr. and Mrs. G. Corson Ellis, Mrs. John P. Welling, the George Bobrinskoys, and Louis Gottschalk.

When members of the Highland Park-Ravinia Junior Center of the Infant Welfare society gather for a work and luncheon meeting today in the Highland Park home of Mrs. Harold Ray, they will be wearing or carrying at least four or five hats apiece. The hats will be auctioned off during luncheon to raise money for the center. Any that are left over will be taken to the Thrift shop which the center maintains to be sold to the public at a pre-Easter sale. The society's senior group will supplement the Easter bonnets with feminine frills and furbelows which will be brought to the home of Mrs. Oliver S. Turner in Highland Park today. Mrs. Spencer Keare heads the junior group.

A pre-Easter sale of garments from the Jack and Jill shop which the Kenilworth Center of the Infant Welfare society maintains will be held today at the Hearthstone, in Hubbard Woods.

Here and There.

Now it can be told: The host at the mystery party Saturday night at the House on the Roof of the Hotel Sherman was Frank H. Woods Jr., who, as "the duke" of the anonymous invitations, was entertaining for his "duchess," to celebrate Mrs. Woods' birthday, which fell on the 24th. About 50 of their closest friends gathered for the occasion, and tho some had guessed in advance the identity of their host, none was sure.

Beginning tomorrow, and continuing on the fourth Tuesday of each month, Smith alumnae will meet informally for luncheon at the College club. Mrs. Ralph Dolkart at Whitehall 8040 is taking reservations for the Smith luncheon table.

The Auxiliary Ambulance Corps of Illinois hopes to raise money for 50 medical kits for the coast guard thru its benefit fashion show and tea this afternoon in the Narcissus room at Marshall Field & Co. An Easter bonnet, a war bond, and theater tickets are among the items which guests will receive. Mrs. Henry T. Roberts is general chairman of the party.

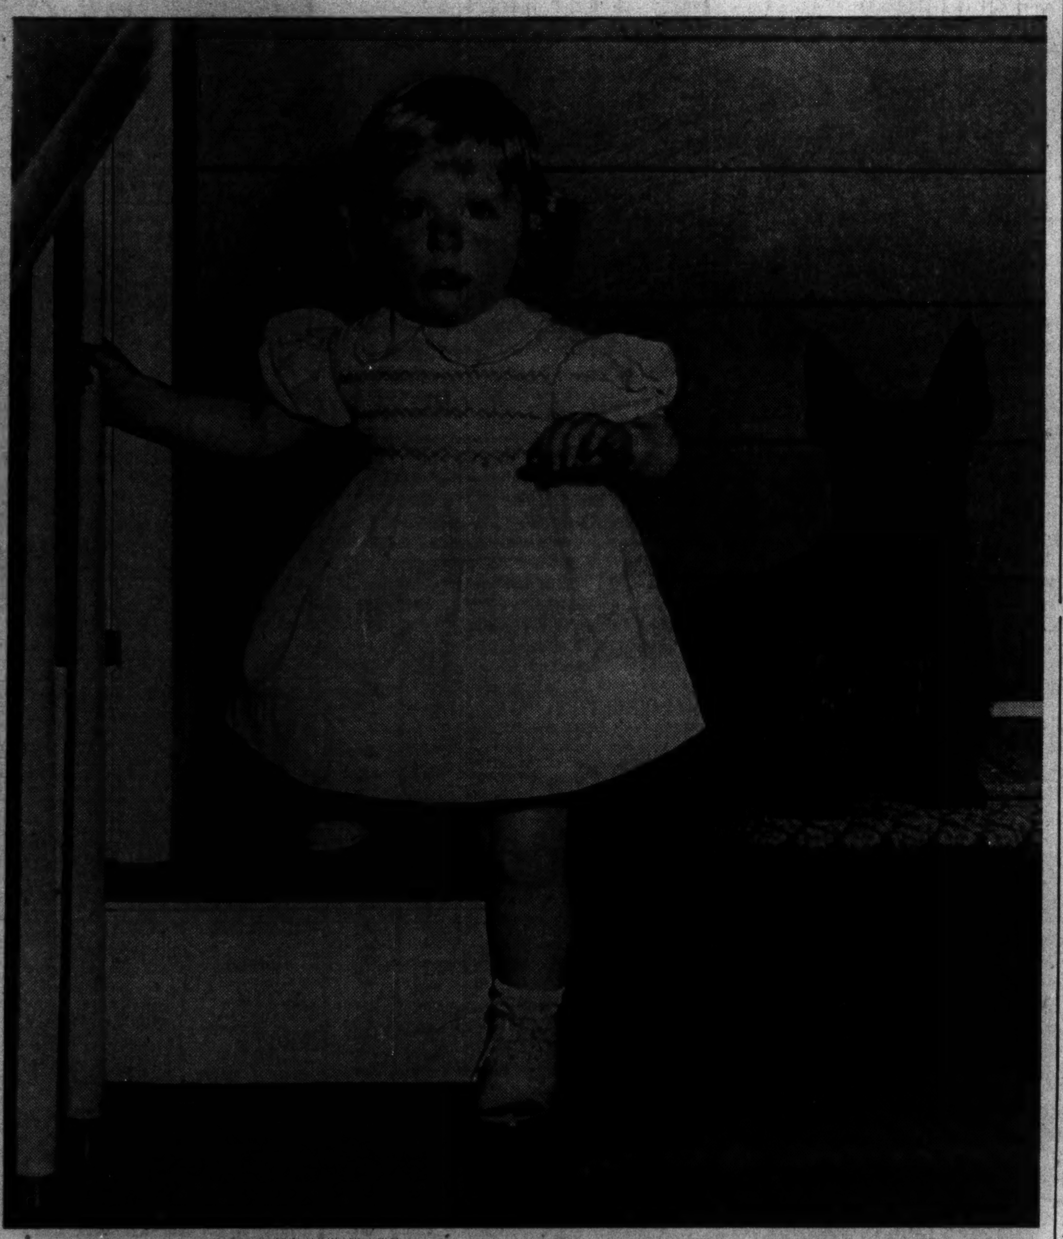
On the Calendar.

The Service league of the Evanston Infant Welfare society is giving a tea at 3 p. m. today in the home of Mrs. Charles Searles, in Wilmette, to welcome new members. Mrs. Robert P. Atkins II., Mrs. Jack Cookman Hand, Mrs. John Letsinger, Mrs. Louis Putze, and Mrs. J. W. Thompson will assist at the party.

Colored motion pictures, "Autumn in the Smokies," will be presented by Joseph Davis following dinner tonight at the Cordon club.

Members of the Circulo Cervantes, an organization formed in 1942 to study cultural life of the Latin American republics, will meet for dinner at 6:30 o'clock tonight at the College club to discuss Bolivia. Dr. Ismael Morales, who has been studying at Billings hospital, and Dr. Artur Vilela, a student in the political science department of Northwestern university, of La Paz, Bolivia, will be special guests. Mrs. Theodore H. Maday heads the Circulo, of which Winfield Scott Brainerd is vice president.

Granddaughter of Evanston Clubwoman



Laird Frances Hardy is 16 months old and the granddaughter of Mrs. H. P. Roby of Evanston, who is chairman of a Treasure and Trinket sale the Evanston Senior board of the Infant Welfare society will give Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday at 512 Davis st., Evanston. Little Miss Hardy is a granddaughter of Edward K. Hardy of Barrington. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Marian Anderson Returns— a Priestess of Heavenly Song

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

Perhaps, after yesterday's recital at the Civic Opera house, we ought to stop saying Marian Anderson, contralto, and stick to Marian Anderson, singer. Sometimes there was a doubt about the one, never about the other. Her wonderful voice mounts higher with the seasons, leaving that once glorious lower range a husky shadow of remembered opulence, but it remains one of the few great voices, to be cherished and remembered. It can be so beautiful the most accustomed ear thrills in gratitude. It may pour out a tone of unexpected color and radiance, turn a phrase which seems to come out of and return to a world where all is music, or create a somber, compassionate splendor unique, so far as I know, in recital today.

This last is the Marian Anderson of "Crucifixion," that brooding spiritual Roland Hayes believes was created by one of his ancestors, a dark king in chains. Singing it, she reverts to her natural style. Still as death, with closed eyes, she intones it like some ancient chant of grief, in a gaunt, inexpressibly poignant whisper. It becomes a personal experience of sorrow projected with the classic line of great tragedy.

When Miss Anderson can do that I am on her side, like the weather, which postponed its blizzard until the theater was packed. I find myself remembering only what she did superbly, how she sang Haydn's Shakespeare with an Elizabethan lilt, how she caught some of the wonder of Beethoven, tho by no means all, and how she took that sumptuous voice into the songs of Richard Strauss and gave us some unforgetable moments. It was not great Strauss, any more than her Fauré songs were the essence of the Gallic, but it was a fascinating foray into what could become a new kingdom. She sang "Morgen" with the serene phrasing that makes it float, tho the coughing audience defeated its true rapture, and she sang both "Cäcilie" and "Zueignung" with the exuberance that in the last few seasons has released her from the inhibited world of song where she dwelt so long in what to many of us was matchless magnificence.

That exuberance carried over into the Ravel Vocalise, into her favorite "Comin' Thru the Rye" and some of the more spirited spirituals, but it could not cope with the big aria from Wagner's "Rienzi," which was as sharply a failure as the lovely "Nightingale" encore and the "Ave Maria" were triumphs.

Franz Rupp played devoted accompaniments that were models of how to help a singer.

Trapp Singers Recall Music's Informal Youth

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG.

A musical event wholly out of the beaten path of such observances was the concert given by the Trapp Family Singers before a full house at Orchestra hall yesterday afternoon. Present were Baroness Maria von Trapp and her daughters, Agathe, Johanna, Eleonore, Maria, Rosemary, Hedwig, and Martina, who divide themselves into five sopranos and three contraltos, sometimes joined by the pleasant baritone of their conductor and family priest, Dr. Franz Wasner. Introduced, but silent, was the Baron von Trapp, the chaperon and father of this lively aggregation, and missing were Johannes, who tends the family farm in Vermont, and three other sons who are with the ski troops of the United States army.

The first and decidedly the more interesting half of their program reverted to the days when music making was an informal business in which any one who was any one socially took an active and expert part. The atmosphere was more that of the Elizabethan landed gentry than of the Austrian Tyrol, in whose native dirndls the daughters were dressed. But musically, which is what matters most, the style was flawless, the voices fresh and true, and for an enchanted hour one lived in the remote and delicious age of music's innocence.

There was a 16th century Easter motet, sung with simple and shining faith; a beautiful "Vere Languores" by Antonio Lotti of a century later; a remarkable five part canon on the words "Ave Maria" that revealed an unfamiliar aspect of Mozart's protean genius, and a Schubert setting of the 122d Psalm that was of classic simplicity. Purcell's "In These Delightful, Pleasant Groves," sung to the accompaniment of the tinkling virginal, carried its own truthful adjectives, and "The Cuckoo," a charming conceit by the 17th century Johann Stefani, called on the tenor recorder for an ingenious touch of realism.

The recorder family—forerunners of the modern flute—came in for particular attention with melodies by Byrd and Handel for tenor recorder and virginal, Couperin's "The Nightingale," and two compositions by Father Wasner, "A Little Terzetto" and an arrangement of an Austrian laendler for the full battery of recorders. This last number produced a grind organ effect that unfortunately shattered the spell of fragile charm which had been evoked when the instruments remained within their proper frame.

An intermission and a general change of costume brought the Trapps to the yodels of their native mountains and to some folk song arrangements, pleasant enough and popular with their audience, but which left one auditor wistfully wishing for more of the things they do uniquely well.

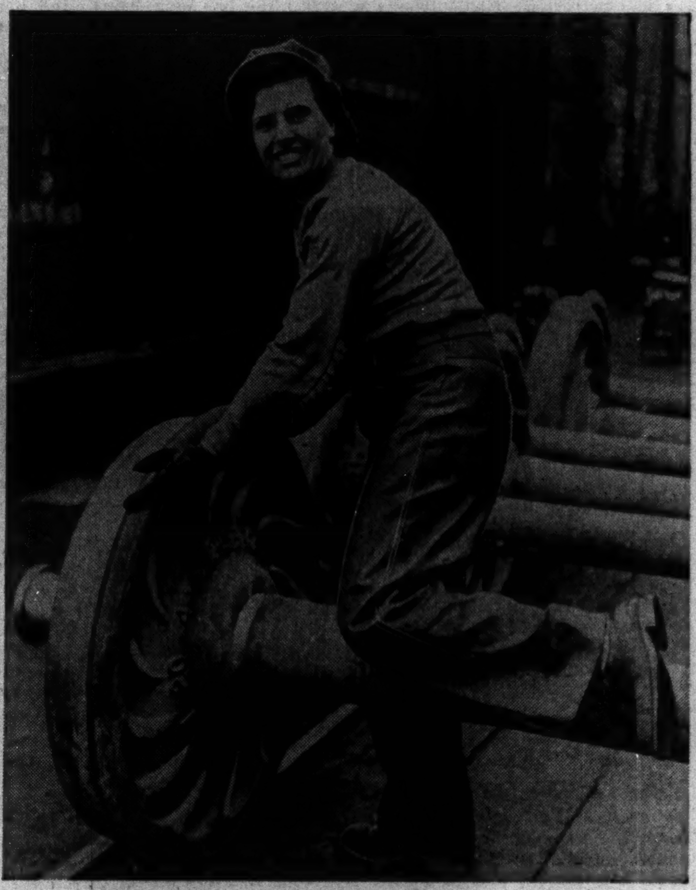
Bishop Pardue to Speak at Lenten Noon Services

The Rt. Rev. Austin Pardue, Episcopal bishop of Pittsburgh, Pa., will speak each noon this week, except Saturday, at Kimball hall at Lenten services held under auspices of the Episcopal church. Bishop Pardue is a graduate of Lane Technical High school, where he made a notable athletic record in football and swimming. He was also a member of the boy choir at St. Peter's church, 621 Belmont av. Former Lane Tech and St. Peter's associates will hold a luncheon Tuesday in his honor following the noonday service.

Women in War Work

By Dorothy Johnson



Mrs. Josephine Kwiatkowski preparing to shift car wheels to crane. Changing wheels is one of the daily jobs of women making repairs to I. C. freight cars. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Many of the fast freights which leave the Illinois Central railroad yards have had the feminine touch. The hands of a dozen women, working eight hours a day, six days a week, make daily running repairs on freight cars at the South Water st. repair track.

All the women have replaced men gone into service and are, their superintendent says, superb at their jobs. The work is highly essential in war time to keep supplies moving, and even tho they get grease smudges on their hands and faces and their coveralls become grimy, the women like it.

The weather doesn't bother them, either. The day we visited the track the temperature was low and snow was driving in on a northwest wind, but the women were dressed for the job. They've never been healthier, they testified.

There is no age limit for these jobs. One of the "veterans" is old enough to have several children call her "grandma," and one slim blonde is still in her teens. Another member of the work team measures just about five feet. Ordinary good health and physical stamina are all women need for the job, because the Illinois Central trains them at the track.

The repair jobs include changing wheels with the aid of a crane, changing brake shoes, oiling car carriages, and filling journal boxes with oily waste. Most of the women are assigned to a specific track which carries cars of a scheduled freight run.

The first of the women was hired by the railroad in January, 1942.

Discipline Begins with Parents, Says Father Flanagan

Juvenile delinquency is directly traceable to parents who shirk their responsibilities in the discipline of their children because they themselves are too "soft" to discipline themselves, the Rev. E. J. Flanagan, founder and director of Boys' Town, near Omaha, Neb., said yesterday in an interview. He later spoke on W-G-N's Distinguished Guest hour. This morning he will close a two week lecture tour by addressing the Great Lakes naval graduation exercises.

"Children learn best by precept," Father Flanagan said. "The parent who takes his child to church rather than the parent who sends his child to church is the parent who provides a good example that will become a strengthening influence to high school and college youth."

Service Wives Win Tribute in Stirring Movie

"TENDER COMRADE."

An RKO-Radio picture, directed by Edward Dmytryk, starring Ginger Rogers with Robert Ryan, Ruth Hussey, and Kim Hunter, and presented at the Palace.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

"Tender Comrade" in this movie's language means "wife."

The picture was produced as a tribute to the wives of service men who carry on gallantly at home while their men, abroad, fight the enemy. . . . In episodic fashion is presented the stories of four wives, who unite forces and pay checks and take a house together, cared for by a housekeeper who also has a man at war.

The spotlight plays most persistently on the affairs of Miss Rogers, who, in the film is married to Mr. Bob Ryan, WHO, most of us ladies think is somebody pretty special. Ex-sandhog, ex-sailor, ex-salesman of cemetery lots, ex-photographic model, ex-bodyguard, ex-bit player, he it is who, the day before he was inducted into the army, won the coveted lead in "Tender Comrade" opposite Miss Rogers. And how he does justify his selection.

I think, when the movie is over, his performance and the sensitive, vibrant portrayal of a young girl named Kim Hunter will linger longer in your memories than the work of any other player—tho everybody in the cast is tops. Ruth Hussey, now! There's an actress! As for Ginger—Ginger's swell.

As you would suspect, laughter and tears play tag thru the action, which is, in the main, interesting. A wordy burst of, apparently, government inspired propaganda, delivered by Miss Rogers, and a long, moral discourse to her baby projected immediately after she has heard of its father's death, make the piece sag in the middle and give it an awful letdown at the end. For this, blame the script—not the star.

"THREE RUSSIAN GIRLS" at the Oriental theater is a Hollywood remake of the Russian movie, "The Girl from Leningrad." Anna Sten now plays Natasha, the leader of 20 volunteer nurses who answer the call for help when Leningrad is threatened and who stop at nothing—even going on skis to reach the wounded in the mountains. . . . Many battle scenes and ski patrol maneuvers are from the original film. . . . Kent Smith plays a wounded American flyer.

See you tomorrow.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., March 26.—Ingrid Bergman is being borrowed from David Selznick, after he said he wouldn't lend her, to star in "Olympic" for Charles Brackett and William Wilder at Paramount. If any one can put this picture over, Ingrid can. The screen version will probably bear no relation to the stage play, which I remember vividly. The late Laura Hope Crews stole all the honors by smoking a big cigar. . . . Lee Patrick, a fine actress, plays Greer Garson's daughter in "Mrs. Parkington." . . . Warners were lucky to sign up Eve Arden. Wait until you see her in "Cover Girl." That's a part after her own heart—and her heart says comedy. . . . Barry Fitzgerald has been added to "None but the Lonely Heart" cast as Cary Grant's pal.

Heigh-Ho—Lack-a-Day.

I didn't know a turtle had a voice, but it certainly screamed when "Voice of the Turtle" offered itself for pictures for $3,000,000. Somebody's gone mad! . . . Tommy Treanor's book is finished. He has offered smart secretaries at Metro a war bond if they'll think up a title for it. He can't think of one. Tommy has offers from Metro and 20th Century, but no chance of his playing in it. He's off to England in a month.

Hold Everything! It's Hedy.

Hedy Lamarr and John Loder are separating in April, but only because John moves to New York to appear with Helen Hayes on the air. . . . Wouldn't you know Paulette Goddard, Brooks Atkinson, and Richard Watts would get together in Chungking, China? . . . James Davis, new governor of Louisiana, has given Ralph Peer, his manager, a headache with Davis' song, "You Are My Sunshine." Gosh, everybody wants to sing it, including politicians. . . . Luise Rainer, our Academy winner, can't get a good part in Hollywood. She works entirely for our soldiers. She is just back from an overseas trip, and ready for another. . . . Frank Loesser's "Spring Will Be a Little Late This Year" has caught on in a big way.

Quick Changes for This Gal.

When Elyse Knox posed for the air WACS poster, she was Mrs. Paul Hesse. She never dreamed that picture would get her a job in "A WAVE, a WAC, and a Marine," and that when she got that job she would no longer be Mrs. Hesse but engaged to marry Tom Harmon. . . . Harry Rosenthal remembers that Irvin Cobb's pet food hate was a meat croquette. "What is it anyway but hash come to a head?" said Irvin. . . . Gracie Allen and Rita Hayworth are huddling over costumes for the Easter parade. First of all, let's find some place to parade. Every other city in the world has a street where you can show off your Easter finery, but not here.

Irene Dunne dining with Leo McCarey at Lucey's. She had just seen Leo's picture, "Going My Way," with Bing Crosby. Irene, still wiping tears from her eyes, said, "Hedda, it's the best thing I've ever seen." Leo's wearing his foot in a cast. He broke it while diving into a swimming pool. I was dining at the same place with Sister Kenny, the Frank Cases, Mrs. Neil McCarthy, and Newall Vanderhoef. . . . Gosh, Jinx Falkenburg was crowned queen of the Hippodrome Derby at the Turf club ball in Mexico City with a diamond tiara, which she had to give back when the ceremony ended.

News from Over the Sea.

William Jacobson writes from England, "My dance band plays at James Stewart's base weekly, but Jimmy keeps himself well hidden. . . . Bebe Daniels is running strong in 'Panama Hattie,' ditto Lunt and Fontanne. . . . Bea Lillie's on tour in a new show. . . . Terence Rattiger's new comedy, 'While the Sun Shines,' is a great hit. . . . It concerns an American officer on leave in London and is typical of every Yank over here. . . . Terence wrote 'French Without Tears' and 'Flare Path.' . . . When are you coming over?" . . . Bob Crosby says if his wife keeps on making false alarm trips to the hospital he'll buy her an ambulance. She has already made three at $15 a trip.

Such Is Fame in the Films.

John Hodiak has two towns feuding over him. Detroit claims him, but he was actually born in Hamtramck, Mich., where he was graduated from high school. . . . Mrs. Ernst Fegte is giving out with a party for producers and directors and their wives for whom Ernst has worked as production designer 25 years. He has moved over to Sam Goldwyn for the Bob Hope picture. His friends include Ernst Lubitsch, Bob Leonard, George Marshall, E. H. Griffith, Arthur Hornblow, Buddy De Sylva, Bill Seiter—in fact, there are few here he hasn't worked for.

Dream Clothes Prove Utility of Day's Styles

BY REA SEEGER.

In a recent fashion show of fantastic fashions from a movie, the back stage promoters shrewdly presented as a preview and contrast, the ideal clothes for smart career women. For instance, in the film dream-sequence, the fashion editor wears an exaggerated and utterly dizzy suit of chalk striped pale blue wool. The pointed revers extended way above the sharply padded shoulders, the tails of the jacket swept the floor, and the white pique collar and cuffs were also "out of this world."

Compared with the real life fashions these dream models assumed their correct importance as something wildly exaggerated but providing the shock expected in a film. Because of the unleashed imagination shown in the designs made for the dream sequences, the smooth, simple, streamlined suits and coats of this season gained a new appreciation.

Altho the super glamorous gowns, originals from the film, brought gasps—particularly when a $20,000 mink costume suit appeared—the prolog, a show of down-to-earth clothes for career girls, made a lasting impression on the spectators.

'Good Night, Sweet Prince' . . . . By Gene Fowler

[Copyright: 1943, 1944: By Gene Fowler; published by arrangement with the Viking Press, Inc.]

SYNOPSIS: John Barrymore was born to a great theatrical heritage. His father, Maurice, was one of the finest leading men of his time. The mother, Georgianna Drew Barrymore, was a competent comedienne. John's grandmother, Louisa Lane Drew [Mum Mum to the children], was a distinguished actress, and her sons—Sidney [Uncle Googan] and John—were likewise successful. The young Barrymores followed their family tradition with reluctance, yet Ethel and Lionel immediately became fixtures of the American stage. Their brother tried to become an artist, but at 21 yielded to "the family curse, acting." Success did not come until he was given a leading role in "The Fortune Hunter" in 1909. Then came his first marriage, to Katherine Corri Harris; divorce after seven years; stardom in roles of increasing importance; marriage to the poetess, Michael Strange; finally a great success in Shakespeare's "Richard III."

INSTALMENT XIX.

TROUBLE ON PARNASSUS.

Barrymore's leave-taking of the Alchemist's Corner, where he had passed so many happy days, was for him a symbol of broken hopes. "I had put more into this eyrie," he said, "than mere sticks of furniture and pieces of glass. Everything about it had a meaning to me. I didn't want to leave. It was like saying good-by to one of my selves."

Barrymore sublet his apartment and went with his wife to live in 67th st. Michael Strange says of this: "It was delightful to have some one in the 'home' at last whom the servants considered more temperamental than myself."

Jack seemed to have given up the theater during the first year of this marriage. He bought a farmhouse near White Plains and made a gift of this dwelling and its 15 acres to his wife. She was expecting a baby in May of the next year.

Michael Strange wrote a play during her time of expectant motherhood. Her two fold productivity enchanted Jack. Perhaps happiness, after all, lay waiting for them just around the bend of the road. In a manner of speaking Barrymore behaved as if his wife were about to become the mother of twins, one of them physical, the other spiritual. He volunteered to appear in Michael's drama, "Clair de Lune," a work suggested by Hugo's novel, "The Man Who Laughs."

Jack played the role of the clown, Gwymplane. He persuaded Ethel Barrymore to appear as Queen Anne. His celebrated sister had just completed three seasons in one of her finest stage achievements as Helen Haden in "Déclassée."

The critics of that day were a gifted group, zealous guardians of theatrical standards. Still it seemed hardly fair for such distinguished artillery officers to have drawn up their heaviest guns to wing a butterfly. There are times, and this seemed one of them, when even the worthiest critics go beyond condemnation of the work itself to pounce upon the artist as if he were a forger, a cutthroat, a Benedict Arnold, even the anti-Christ. Mrs. Barrymore's play may not have merited a Nobel prize, but the author was not a criminal.

Jack went into a three alarm rage when the critics set fire to his wife's theatrical monument. According to Alexander Woollcott, the reviews so irked Barrymore that he had to be dissuaded forcibly from making a speech on the subject the second night.

Woollcott, speaking with what he called "kindly perspective," last year disagreed that the reviews of "Clair de Lune" had been unduly personal. He said that all the critics had "privately thought that the play would scarcely have been produced had it not been for the somewhat irrelevant circumstance of Michael Strange having married Barrymore." He denied, however, that the reviewers had elaborated in print upon this conjecture.

"In fact," he said, "they all described nervous circles around this central idea, dancing skittishly about it as tho it had been a Maypole. All, that is, except one: James Whittaker, the same Mr. Whittaker, by the way, who married the fair Ina Claire secretly, and then one day suddenly announced their domestic status by means of a review in which he severely criticized Miss Claire's acting. Mr. Whittaker expressed the "Clair de Lune" excursion in these words: 'For the love of Mike.' "

Not long after "Clair de Lune" closed, Michael Strange gave birth to a girl. The child was christened Joan Strange Barrymore, but afterward officially called Diana. Jack nicknamed the baby "Trepiwee," or "Trepie," and for a time forgot his troubles and dissensions, private or public. He really had wished for a boy, but when asked concerning this, said, "I'm glad Trepie is a girl. If she were a boy, she'd inherit all my habits, and I wouldn't know how to combat them. I'd have such sympathy with them."

He had been planning to appear in a dramatization of "Monsieur Beaucaire" by his friend Booth Tarkington. But now, with fatherhood upon him and delightfully so, Jack thought he should postpone further stage work; perhaps retire altogether from the wings. He eventually went with Michael for a voyage abroad.

When interviewed on the other side of the Atlantic, Jack was asked what he thought of prohibition.

"Fortunately," he replied, "I don't think of it."

Michael Strange describes the clashes that occurred during her European travels with Jack. There were quarrels, threats of suicide, noisy accusations of extra-marital romance. Barrymore afterward admitted to a major share of the provocations, and humorously recalled one of them as having been his drinking of the alcoholic fuel in Michael's curling iron heater. Why he should have preferred such a violent and lowly grade of beverage in Paris, a city of wine, might have perplexed any woman.

After months of storms and rages Jack one day appeared at Ethel's home at Mamaroneck. He seemed gaunt and stricken, Ethel says, not so much because of any specific physical ailment, but from long harassment of mind.

"I don't know what the hell to do," he said to his sister. "I'm a bit mixed up. I feel like a soufflé that has been out of the oven too long. Guess you'd better take me in."

The next morning she put into his hand a small, inexpensive edition of "Hamlet." "Jake," she said, "read the two soliloquies. You may enjoy them."

When Ethel gave into her brother's hand the small, red bound copy of "Hamlet" he made one of his characteristic "discoveries." He reappeared to announce that he had read the two soliloquies. "They're pretty good," he said. "In fact, they're much better than some of Mum Mum's great friends seemed to think; that is, if we are to recall their renditions as conclusive evidence." Then he added slowly: "I think I'll run over to see my friend, Margaret Carrington. I have an idea."

Ethel says, "That's the last I saw of Jack for about two months."

When Barrymore set out from his sister's house that day in June, 1922, he at last beheld the ramparts of Elsinore rising from the gray horizon banks. Sheet lightning, far off, reddened the clouds and the dust haze. Delayed thunderings rolled down like muffled flourishes of castle drums.

The two soliloquies possessed Barrymore. A voice clearly had challenged him from across three centuries. He accepted the challenge, and now his irresolutions fled. He would climb the highest of the magic mountains, the last great peak he was to scale in the fabulous domain of the theater.

He announced to Arthur Hopkins his decision to draw on the black tights of the classic Scandinavian.

Food faddists are looked upon by persons of normal appetite with amusement, but they actually can have a harmful influence, says Dr. W. W. Bauer, director of the bureau of health education, American Medical association.

In an article in Food Facts, published by the Wheat Flour institute, Dr. Bauer cites instances of the damage done by food faddists. Many of them are "promoters," have something to sell, whether a special food product, a book or a series of lectures. "Inventing a fantastic diet and promoting it thru publications and by popularizing it in restaurants is another successful device," he says. "Health food stores in which very ordinary food products are sold in special packages with highly fictitious claims and equally imaginative prices, abound, and so do cafeterias devoted to food faddism of one sort or another."

Faddists make a great fuss about "natural foods" while promoting a profitable traffic in the most unnatural concoctions, says this physician. They proclaim the value of raw vegetable juices and sell you the canned juices or the extractors for preparing them at home, but ignore the health value of the whole vegetable which, of course, is greater than any of its parts. An actually dangerous opinion held by some food faddists is that pasteurization of milk is an "unnatural" and unnecessary procedure. The United States public health service reports that epidemic disease caused by milk almost without exception can be traced to unpasteurized milk, Dr. Bauer recalls.

A common food fad is the consumption of whole grain foods to the exclusion of milled products, a practice which often introduces too much roughage into the diet.

There still are some persons who cling to the ridiculous notion that fish and milk are not good dinner companions. Many of the most nutritious fish dishes are prepared with milk, oyster stew being the best example. "Normal persons can eat any reasonable combination of wholesome foods in sensible quantities," says Dr. Bauer.

A too common food fad which Dr. Bauer did not mention, but which I shall, is that of depending upon vitamin pills and capsules for supplying the body with important nutrients, instead of seeking them from a well balanced diet.

It has been my observation that food faddists never have any fun. That's one reason why I'm glad I'm not one! They worry constantly about what they put into their stomachs, which probably aren't half as sensitive as they think them, or wouldn't be if given a chance to churn a good meal!

TURN IN WASTE FATS FOR POINTS AND PENNIES!

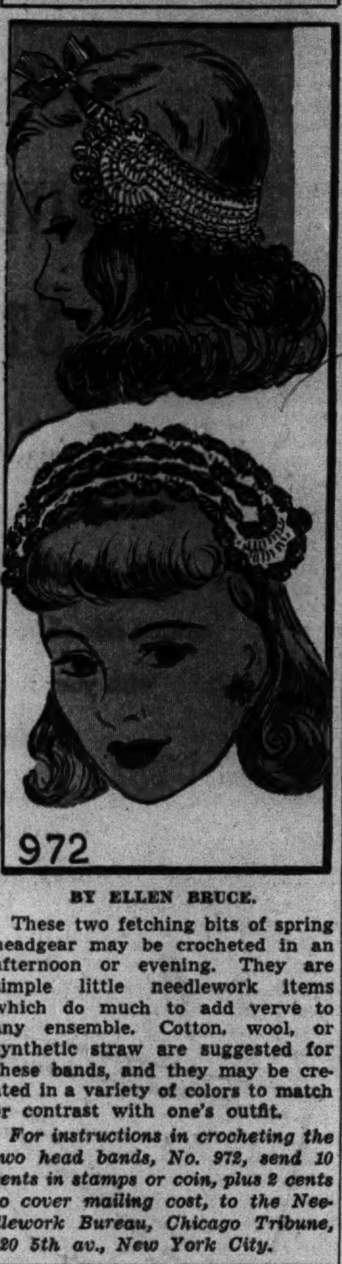
Gay Head Bands



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

These two fetching bits of spring headgear may be crocheted in an afternoon or evening. They are simple little needlework items which do much to add verve to any ensemble. Cotton, wool, or synthetic straw are suggested for these bands, and they may be created in a variety of colors to match or contrast with one's outfit.

For instructions in crocheting the two head bands, No. 972, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th av., New York City.

To Win Friends Be on Friendly Side Yourself

BY MAUREEN DALY.

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Even tho you haven't done it yourself you can imagine just how it feels when a guy or gal has to change high schools in the middle of the year; to have to start winning friends after having gone with a crowd where every one held hands, double dated, and made plans together because they were old friends. It isn't easy to crash a new crowd and that first approach is so important.

Here's an interesting letter from a honey chile who found her own way to get on the ball in new surroundings:

"I'd never had a 'gang' nor even many friends because I'd always moved too often—all over the continent. But we finally settled here and I started high school. I can pass for okay but I'm definitely no queen. To make it worse I'm one of those straight-A students. So, never skilled in making friends myself, it was hard for people to be friendly to me. A few boys asked me for dates because I was new material but I didn't seem to fit in with the crowd. And then one day I happened to talk to a particular fellow, a tall blond who was an R. O. T. C. officer. I've never known what made him like me, but he did and I liked him. We became good friends almost immediately. And before long I began to know his friends. They accepted me at first because of him, then for myself. It is just a matter of letting yourself be friendly. . . ."

No need to try to take the new school by storm and no need to go to the other extreme by pulling in your personality like a sad sal just because of shyness, either. The fellows and girls who seem such strangers at first are just like the crowd you left behind you. The gals don't want any super-doll to move in and take over their date-life and the boys don't want any ambitious joe who'd like to show off and run everything, including the neater specimens of date-bait. That kind of high pressure approach is strictly out. But a new "friend" is always welcome.

Take it slow and easy. Get to like them first and all the guys and gals will begin to realize that you're a pretty smooth operator yourself. And there you are, right inside the circle with the rest of them.

Librarians to Inspect The Tribune Collections

Illinois chapter of the Special Libraries association will visit The Tribune library tomorrow night in Tribune Tower. Miss Mildred Burke, librarian, will tell the guests about the newspaper research department, and Dr. Irving S. Cutter, health columnist of THE TRIBUNE, who recently gave his library of Americana to the paper, will speak on the collection. The visiting librarians also will see the James O'Donnell Bennett library, which that writer gave to the paper before his death in 1940.

Jean Harvey Engaged to W. R. Hepner

Friends of the James Daniel Harveys who accepted invitations to tea yesterday afternoon in their Kenwood avenue home were present to extend best wishes to the Harveys' eldest daughter, Jean, and her fiancé, Walter Ray Hepner Jr. Mr. Hepner is the son of Dr. Hepner, president of the State Teachers' college at San Diego, Cal., and Mrs. Hepner, who, before her marriage, lived in Oak Park.

Both Miss Harvey and her fiancé are attending the University of Chicago, where he is enrolled in the medical school. The wedding will take place next December following their graduation, at which time Mr. Hepner will receive his commission in the navy. Miss Harvey, who has three younger sisters, Louise, Joan, and Rhea, is a member of the Chicago Junior league and of the board of the Illinois Opera guild junior auxiliary.

Over the week-end Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Sheridan of Highland Park announced the engagement of their daughter, Irene Mary, to Lt. [j. g.] Daniel G. Cunningham of the naval air corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Cunningham of Rogers Park.

Miss Sheridan, a graduate of Sacred Heart academy in Lake Forest, is attending Marymount college, Tarrytown-on-the-Hudson, N. Y. Her fiancé, an alumnus of Loyola university, is a member of a fighter squadron which destroyed a large number of Japanese planes in the Southwest Pacific. Lt. Cunningham has seven Zeros to his credit, of which four were shot down in one day's combat over Rabaul, New Britain.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfon E. Bahr of Evanston have announced the engagement of their daughter, Alfa Elaine, to Lt. Frederick P. Dose of the army, son of Mrs. Pauline A. Dose and the late Henry Dose of Lunt av. Miss Bahr is a graduate of the University School for Girls and attended Northwestern university. Lt. Dose is stationed at Fort Bliss after 16 months in the Aleutians.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland D. Westcott of N. Ashland av. have announced the engagement of their daughter, Patricia, yeoman 2d class in the WAVES, to James Garland Little, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover J. Little of Naperville. Yeoman Westcott is a graduate of Visitation academy and attended the American Conservatory of Music. She is stationed at the naval reserve midshipman school at Abbott Hall. Mr. Little attended Northwestern university and was graduated from Iowa Wesleyan college. He is stationed at Great Lakes naval hospital as a pharmacist's mate 3d class.

The engagement of Miss Beatrice Seabury, daughter of Lt. and Mrs. Howard Seabury of Beverly Farms, Mass., to Robert Lovett Sturgis of the army, son of Henry Sprague Sturgis of Cedarhurst, Long Island, N. Y., is of interest here because young Mr. Sturgis' stepmother is the former Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne of Chicago. Miss Seabury attended Miss Porter's school in Farmington, Conn., and is a member of the Boston Vincent club and the Boston Junior league. Her fiancé attended Harvard university.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon C. Crismyre of Hutchinson st. announce the engagement of their daughter, Annabelle Betty, to Lt. Clare P. Stanford, son of the Rev. and Mrs. George P. Stanford of Portland, Mich. Lt. Stanford, a graduate of Albion college, Albion, Mich., is attending Harvard university. He and his fiancée will live in Boston after their marriage, which is set for April 29.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Frederick of Park Ridge announce the engagement of their daughter, Gladys, to Maurice A. Whitacre of the navy, formerly of Murphysboro, Ill. Miss Frederick is a junior at the National College of Education. Her fiance recently returned from active duty in the invasion of Sicily and Italy.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Mary Alice Arnold, daughter of 2d Lt. Hilda C. Arnold of the army nurse corps, now stationed in the Southwest Pacific, to Pvt. Frederick Negus of the marines, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Negus of Martin's Ferry, O. Miss Arnold, who lives with her aunt, Mrs. Earl Haywood, and Mr. Haywood in Maywood, is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, which Pvt. Negus also attended. He is stationed at the University of Michigan.

White Collar GIRL

—BY RUTH MAC KAY

Read but Not Dictated.

Perhaps you've heard about the speaker [reported in Iron Age] who addressed a group of engineers a few weeks ago. Reading from his manuscript—long enough to be a headache to any secretary—he found himself saying:

"The American businessman is tired. He has worked long and hard in the war effort. He is tired mentally and physically. But he isn't a bit more tired than the poor stenographers who have to type eyewash like this."

When the uproar subsided the outraged speaker protested vigorously that he never, no never had written such a line. But no one has reported what happened to the typist who yielded to the universal stenographic urge to amend the story.

WCG Utopia.

If it takes a sympathetic boss to make a WCG Utopia, then mine comes in for top honors. Naturally work comes first. But there are days, especially in one-girl, one-boss offices, when the work slackens. Then I am free to catch up on personal correspondence, take a bit of extra time for lunch, or read the comic strips. He knows I never "play sick," and consequently when I need time for shopping I am not reluctant to ask, for he is most kind.

We both are interested in the success of our office. What's more, he always gives me the feeling that my efforts to that end are needed and appreciated.

I like my job and my boss. I agree with your correspondent, Libby. Let's have more WCG Utopias. —EILEEN.

Thumbnail Sketch.

"She's the kind of girl who, two minutes after you sit down with her in a restaurant booth, starts keeping house." —R. C.

Real Word Expert Comes Thru.

Just to show I read the fine print in the White Collar Girl column [and also that I waited for somebody else to come thru] here are some nine-letter left-hand words that can be written on the typewriter: asservate, detracted, deserters, extracted, free trade, retreaded, regraters, retreader, retracted, refracted, rewarders, restarter, restarted, reverters, redressed, redresser, regressed, regreeted, regretted, addresses, addressed, addresser.

Further research doubtless would disclose more.

Is there any interest in 12-letter words? There should be in stewardesses, if not in exaggeraters, or in extravagated. —THE REAL WORD EXPERT.

Dis and Data.

It was an all white collar girl cast which presented "Nine Girls," by the Chicago Victory Players, last week-end. This interesting Little Theater group proves that such a venture is an ideal outlet for the business girl. . . . In the war plants they are passing around a verse beginning: "We are the gals of the inspection table; we're over 40 but willing and able; no one whistles when we walk by; our sex appeal you could put in your eye"; and the "over 40s" go for it. . . . Mademoiselle states that 75 per cent of the students at Connecticut college now hold jobs.

PART I
I'LL MAKE IT OVER...

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1944: By Ely Culbertson.]

It is humiliating, as well as expensive, to block one's self out of the fulfilling trick, as South did in the following deal.

South, dealer.

♣ A 8 2

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	Pass	2 diamonds	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

West opened the spade three. Declarer played the king from dummy, cashed the ace and queen of diamonds, and said something under his breath when the jack failed to drop. The best he could do now was to lead a diamond to the king and return a heart. Fortunately, the ace was on side, so he went down only one trick.

North was not pleased that his partner had had to leave a good diamond in dummy. "But how could I help it?" South protested. "If I left the spade king there for an entry, then, after I cashed the diamonds in my own hand I would have to lead a spade, opening up the whole suit, and I could easily be licked with spade tricks and the heart ace."

"Bunk!" North said, inelegantly but succinctly. "If diamonds broke two-two, which was what you actually played for, you wouldn't have to take out the spade king to reach dummy. You could cash the 10 and overtake the nine, then lead a heart toward the king, just as you did. But if diamonds didn't break—and why should they?—you could make good use of the spade king for an entry, and still bring in the contract if the heart ace was on side—which you played for, too—and the spade suit was divided no worse than five-three."

Of course, North was right.

Thru the Looking Glass

Recently we mentioned that the too thins might find the coming summer's modes trying because they'll tend to emphasize rather than conceal scrawniness. It evidently struck home with some of our readers who are now concerned about fattening themselves up a bit.

Like abnormal obesity, excessive underweight usually calls for a doctor's care or at least a physical examination. However, there are plenty of women, the younger ones particularly, who could look and feel better if they'd practice a few simple rules with regard to rest and diet.

Plenty of sleep every night of the week and not just an occasional night's full rest should be part of the weight gaining schedule. In addition, the would be Venus should try to slow down and relax; most overly thin individuals have a tendency to run themselves ragged.

A rich, well balanced diet with plenty of milk and a snack in midmorning and midafternoon in addition to regular meals will help the poundage program. A big, fat breakfast to start the day is perhaps the most important meal and the most difficult to get an underweight person to eat. If you can't look a hearty breakfast in the eye, work up to it gradually, increasing the size of the meal until it reaches proper proportions. And "coke" and sandwich lunches are definitely banned in favor of more substantial and nourishing fare.

Try to Remedy the Homework Blues of Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Did you ever hear a mother wail, "Homework is wrecking our family life—evenings are just something to live thru?"

I have. And I can't boast, either, that we worked out of those blues any too efficiently, one of the reasons being that the high school teachers simply gave such heavy assignments that, added up, no student could do them well and have any time left over in which to relax and be a human being.

If you and your high school children are struggling with this homework problem, I can't give you a "pat" remedy, but I can make some suggestions.

First, if assignments seem to you unreasonable, go to school and get other parents to do the same. If you can, in coöperation with those other parents, make your school authorities see that children learn more in school and are fresher for each day's work without an overload of home study, yours will be in the nature of a triumph.

Second, if the assignments seem fair, but your own child has difficulty in covering them within a reasonable time, again go to school, see the teacher and find out what can be done about your individual son or daughter.

Third, give your child every possible help in getting his or her studying done after school. This means giving him a quiet place to study, giving him a comfortable chair, table and the necessary materials, finding out by experiment what is the best time of day for him to do his studying.

Make him feel that his lessons at home have importance to you, but do not foster any sense of strain. Show a real interest in the subjects he is studying and his results.

I see no reason to refuse a child a reasonable amount of help with his lessons, provided you are not interfering with his learning to study independently and think for himself.

See that your child has plenty of outdoors and real recreation between the time he is let out of school and the time he goes to bed.

If you, or your husband, do give your child some assistance, do it quietly and with patience, and never make him feel that he is stupid.

WPB Honors 4 Schools for Paper Salvage

Four Chicago elementary schools yesterday received citations from Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the war production board, for paper collection efforts, and four school officials were designated for certificates.

Citations were awarded Ryder and Norwood Park public schools, leaders in the recent $1,000 prize contest sponsored by the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association, and St. Joseph and St. James parochial schools, leading Catholic schools in the same contest.

James T. Gaffney, assistant superintendent of schools; Don C. Rogers, assistant superintendent in charge of elementary schools; George F. Cassell, assistant superintendent in charge of high schools; and Msgr. Daniel F. Cunningham, superintendent of Catholic schools, are the four school men honored for their work in paper salvage.

The Chicago waste paper salvage committee, the agency that recommends awards to local schools, was itself recognized by WPB for its successful waste paper campaign here. The adoption of the "Chicago Plan" by other cities was suggested by WPB in an order addressed three days ago to regional salvage managers, regional general salvage chiefs, state chairman, and others working to overcome the nation's No. 1 critical war material shortage.

William L. McFetridge, general chairman of the local association, said:

"Our schools averaged more than two million pounds salvaged waste paper a week during the contest just ended. This is on a sustained drive of five weeks' duration. The basis of comparison with other large cities comes from one week drives."

On tour in the east to explain Chicago's paper drive is John R. Robinson, Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association, who worked with McFetridge on the award recommendations to WPB.

Sally Explains Need for Piano and Twin Buggy

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

A community center which has served one of the poorest districts in the city for many years sends the following requests:

"We are in need of a piano in good condition for a room which we have set aside for our child care program. It is intended for the activities of 6, 7, and 8 year old children after school and for all day care during holidays and vacations.

"A good piano is essential in this work, and if any reader has one, we would be glad to cover the cost of moving. However, we would like to see the instrument in order to make sure that it is adequate for our needs. We would be grateful for any help in this matter."

Mrs. L. P. writes:

"Last December I gave birth to twin boys. I also have two other children, ages 4 and 6. My husband was inducted into service just a week ago and since that time I have had a great struggle to care for the children. I would like to ask if you know any one who has a twin buggy which could be given to me. Since my husband left, I am unable to leave the house because I have no buggy for the babies, and so far I have been unable to take them even to the welfare station. Twin buggies are very difficult to find, and on the allowance I receive I could never afford one. I would be grateful if you could help me with my problem."

ST. JOHN'S DEFEATS DE PAUL, 47-39; WINS TOURNEY

LOSS OF MIKAN ON 4 PERSONALS HURTS DEMONS

18,374 See Champs Retain Title.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 26.—De Paul's bid for the Invitational basketball tournament championship failed tonight in Madison Square Garden as an inspired St. Johns' quintet successfully defended its 1943 title. The Redmen turned back De Paul's sole threat in the second period to win, 47 to 39, and held complete command of play for the last 10 minutes.

A season record attendance of 18,734 watched the last night of the tournament which was seen by a total of 71,197. This also constituted a record for the Garden's seven year old event.

Mikan Goes Out on Fouls.

Technically, De Paul's offense went to pot when George Mikan fouled out with 14 minutes of the game remaining. Just before this calamity the Demons had finally caught the Redmen and had momentarily led, 29 to 28. This was succeeded by a tie at 30 all—the fifth of the night—but two minutes later when Mikan was excused, De Paul trailed, 35 to 31.

Mikan had 13 points for his abbreviated effort, but 12 of these came in the first half. His supporting cast failed as marksmen and thruout all the boys were visibly nervous. They also apparently suffered from their overlong stay in Manhattan.

Diminutive Guard Stars.

St. John's deserves more than lefthanded compliments, however. In particular the team had speed and a pair of agile guards who frequently tied up De Paul's forwards. Hy Gotkin, a diminutive lefthanded guard, was most effective and in the final minutes he also cooly directed the delaying tactics that insured his team its victory.

With Mikan gone, the other De Paul regulars were further handicapped by brief absences. Jack Dean was injured and Ed Kachan was momentarily excused to have his glasses re-taped. No substitute was able to come thru and Ed Phelan, who replaced Mikan, fouled out himself in less than 10 minutes and also received a technical when he expressed disgust at the disqualifying foul.

Wertis Leads Attack.

Ray Wertis topped the winners' attack with six field goals and his team mate at forward, Bill Kotsores, who got 10 points, was voted the most valuable player in the tournament. The gam eended De Paul's season a* a mark of 22 victories and four defeats.

Wade Duym opened the scoring for St. John's and Mikan's first goal tied this. In succession, deadlocks were established at 4, 5, and 7 points, with De Paul coming from behind in each instance.

With 10 minutes played in the half St. John's was ahead, 14 to 11, and quick breaks by Wertis were then responsible for the Redmen working into a 20 to 15 advantage with five minutes to go to intermission.

De Paul Stages Rally.

It was then that Dean, Mikan, and Dick Triptow led a rally by which De Paul finished the period only two points behind, 26 to 24.

When De Paul finally got its 29 to 28 lead—its first in the game—the Demons seemed ready to take over. But they slumped at once and St. John's countered to break the 30 to 30 tie with a point by Ivy Summer and Wertis' follow-up goal. De Paul failed to score from the field for nine minutes in the half.

The University of Kentucky took third place in the tournament by whipping the Oklahoma Aggies, 45 to 29. The Wildcats rushed to a 14 to 5 lead early in the game and were in front, 25 to 17, at the half.

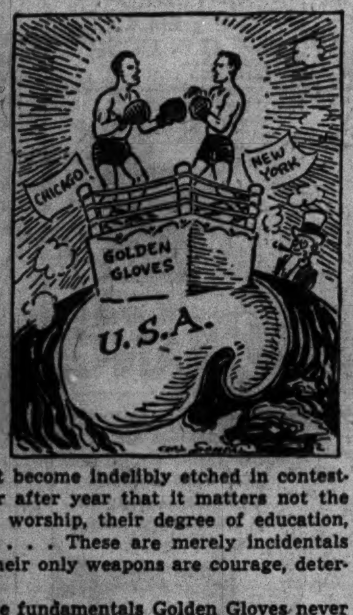
In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW YORK, March 26.—Tomorrow night's intercity Golden Gloves bouts in Madison Square Garden mark the 17th meeting of the best fighters from the Chicago and New York amateur tournaments. . . . Seventeen years is only a fleeting moment to eternity, but it's half a generation as men measure their lives. . . . It's a long time in the life of an athletic activity. . . . More than 250,000 young men have come within the orbit of the tournament's influence in that span. . . . They have been taught to promote, by word and example, clean, wholesome and manly sport. . . . Boys from the mountains of Tennessee, the plains of Texas and Iowa's tall corn country have come to know one another better thru the medium of Golden Gloves. . . . They have found that the standard of sportsmanship in Minnesota or Louisiana varies little from that of the great, teeming, pulsating metropolis like Chicago or New York. . . . They have learned from experience that democracy still functions in sport. . . . No other activity in American life provides a brighter chapter of democracy in action than does Golden Gloves. . . . That must become indelibly etched in contestants' minds when they observe year after year that it matters not the color of their skin, their manner of worship, their degree of education, the stock from which they sprang. . . . These are merely incidentals when two men enter a ring where their only weapons are courage, determination and two upholstered fists.



Without strict adherence to these fundamentals Golden Gloves never would have become the greatest event of its kind. . . . It has won the confidence not only of participants but spectators as well. . . . The public knows that Chicago Tribune Charities and the New York News Welfare association, sponsors of the tournament, would not tolerate professionalism in their amateur enterprise, nor would they deal with racketeers in the expansion of the meet. . . . Golden Gloves was conceived as a competition for amateurs. . . . Any time it becomes impossible to continue the tournament along those lines it will be abandoned.

Lest our Chicago fighters see this column and figure we are interested only in the idealistic side of the competition with New York, we hasten to add that the easterners have whipped our gang only once in 10 years and we don't want our fellows to slow the pace. . . . The series stands at nine victories for Chicago, four for New York, and there have been three ties. . . . Our 1943 team buried Pop Knickerbocker's representatives, 14 to 2, in Chicago Stadium and they're popping mad to even up. . . . But they'll never do it, if our men fight tomorrow night like they fought before 21,652 customers the night of March 10 in winning their way to New York.

Partners.

My neighbor studies his springtime needs—
Plants and various bulbs and seeds.
He's planning his garden row by row,
With all of the things that he wants to grow.
But somehow his thoughts go out each day
To his only boy who has gone away—
Dick who helped him so much each spring
And lightened the task of gardening.

My neighbor sits in his favorite chair.
His face is furrowed with lines of care.
But somehow, welling within his breast,
Is the firm resolve that he'll meet each test.
Again this spring when the south winds blow,
He'll be planting his garden, row by row.
"For gardening helps my boy," says he,
"And together we're working for victory."

Last Will and Testament.

If I could have my way about such things,
Here's what I'd like to leave in my last will—
The rapture that I've never failed to feel
In spring when trees first leaf on Kelly's hill;
I'd like to leave the strange, calm quietness
I've known in walks along the river's shore,
To troubled hearts weighed down by grief and woe,
Those things I would leave for evermore.

I'd love to leave the sudden ecstasy
I've known when first came forth the evening star,
Or the closeness to some vastness that I've felt
While roaming Waller's woods both near and far;
I wish that I might leave the breathless hush—
That feeling of some nearby mystic power,
Seeing a flood of moonlight 'cross the hills
Veiling in silver the old cathedral tower.

I'd like to leave the friendships that I've found—
The things that make it really hard to part,
That others coming after, too, might know
The comfort of an understanding heart;
But this above all I'd love to leave to those
Who, losing their way, are torn 'twixt false and true—
I'd love to leave the faith, the hope, the trust,
That never, never failed to see me thru!

GLOVERS FIGHT FOR INTERCITY TITLES TONIGHT

Chicago, New York Meet in Garden.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 26.—Chicago's 1944 intercity Golden Gloves squad today went thru a final limbering up workout at Stillman's Eight avenue gymnasium. The 16 boxers chosen by co-Coaches Issy Kline and Freddie Caserio for tomorrow night's 17th annual intercity championship bouts with New York's champions in Madison Square Garden were in tiptop condition, including Ray Standifer, the 175 pound standard bearer who this morning had won his bout with a touch of the flu.

The rivalry for the 16 berths in the Garden battles was such that Kline and Caserio were hard pressed to make their final decision on the squad. Six service men and six of the seven champions who were able to make the trip eastward earned places on the team which will be out to avenge the 9 to 7 defeat the New Yorkers handed the Chicagoans on their last visit here in 1942.

Team's Makeup Announced.

112 POUND CHAMPION—Tommy Nate, Gary, Ind.; alternate, Pvt. Matt Hammond, Camp Ellis, Ill.

118 POUND CHAMPION—Clayton Johnson, Sioux City, Ia.; alternate, Henri Sumi, Chicago.

126 POUND CHAMPION—Major Jones, Kansas City, Mo.; alternate, Sgt. Manny Ortega, Fort Worth, Tex.

135 POUND CHAMPION—Buddy Holderfield, Memphis, Tenn.; alternate, Johnny Bratton, Chicago.

147 POUND CHAMPION—Corp. Levi Southall, Camp Ellis, Ill.; alternate, Coast Guardsman Harry Sparrow, Chicago.

160 POUND CHAMPION—Corp. Dick Young, Pensacola, Fla.; alternate, Ray Spurlock, Kansas City, Mo.

175 POUND CHAMPION—Ray Standifer, Cleveland, O.; alternate, Pvt. 1st Class Vince Di Venti, Camp Ellis, Ill.

HEAVYWEIGHTS—Luke Baylark, Chicago, and Pvt. Ragon Kinney, Los Angeles.

Collins Brown is ill with a temperature of 104 and will not go on as 160 pound champion. Ray Spurlock will fight as alternate as scheduled, but Corp. Dick Young of Pensacola, Fla., will take Brown's place in the championship bout. The report on Brown was made by Dr. William Rothman, the team physician.

Pairings Undecided.

The heavyweight pairings will not be decided until tomorrow. Aviation Cadet Orlan Ott of Corpus Christi, Tex., who won a decision over Private Kinney in the Chicago finals, was unable to obtain an extension of his leave, but Kinney and Baylark made the journey. Which of the two will go into the main spot among the big boys will depend on whether Reno Workman of Washington, D. C., the New York heavyweight champion, will be able to fight tomorrow night. If Workman is available, Baylark will draw the assignment against him.

Chicago holds a comfortable margin in the series which tomorrow reaches its 17th year. Our lads who won nine, lost four, and tied three in the feud between the two cities. Last year, in the Chicago Stadium ring, the Chicagoans almost swept the entire 16 bouts, losing only two in the most decisive triumph in the history of this intercity competition, which is sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and the New York News Welfare association.

Pvt. Hammond Alternate.

Pvt. Matt Hammond, the Minneapolis Negro who fought as a flyweight in the tournament of champions before going into the army, where he became a bantamweight, today dropped into the 112 pound class again, and will fight as an alternate back of Champion Nate, first of four South Bend brothers to win a championship Golden Glove fight in Chicago. Henri Sumi, the American born Japanese from Chicago's Catholic Youth organization, was another to earn a place by his performances in the 118 pound division.

New York won, 9 to 7, here in 1942 to score the first triumph for the easterners since 1934.

WING DEFENSE HALTS SEIBERT

While Connie Dion, Detroit goalie, sprawls on the ice in front of his cage, his teammate, Harold Jackson (No. 4), balks Earl Seibert, Chicago right defense, in the latter's attempts to push the elusive puck into the nets in last night's Stanley Cup play-off game in Chicago Stadium. Cubs' Lineup Set for Test Against Reds

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

French Lick, Ind., March 26.—James Wilson, who bosses the Cubs, today put at least a semi-official stamp on some portions of what he regards as his probable regular lineup for the National league's 1944 baseball frolic.

The manager sorted out his guys in preparation for the inaugural of the exhibition program here Tuesday with the Cincinnati Reds, but because of absentees was forced to recognize a few of the hirelings who undoubtedly will be bounced out eventually by those who apparently must be trying to reach camp by the hitch hike route.

Arranges Batting Order.

One of those still dodging the camp chores is Bill Nicholson, but once he shows up he'll have no trouble driving poachers off his right field premises, at least not until such time as Uncle Sam might put him to work elsewhere.

Along with Wilson's first announcement on a lineup was a batting arrangement, and the top three men are quite likely to remain fixed. Bill Schuster was handed the shortstop and the lead-off roles. Don Johnson, who has the fielding talents once possessed by his dad, Ernie, was billed for second base and was also second in the attack. Phil Cavarretta, who is almost a Cub institution in view of having joined up in 1934, remains at first base and third in the batting order. Third has been assigned to Tony York, who'll bat seventh, but the lad from the Brewers is a shortstop by trade so this is in the nature of an experiment.

Goodman in Left Field.

Ival Goodman, the ex-Red, apparently has first call on the left field sector and whether anybody will be influential enough to shove him out of the place later is doubtful.

The real fun is going to develop in center field. Ed Sauer, up from Nashville, will be there as a starter Tuesday but Wilson didn't have much choice in this particular instance. Pete Elko, the Los Angeles hit artist, will make a bid for the job when he arrives, which will be two days hence. Lowery also will be after the spot if he isn't accepted as a third baseman. Sauer will bat just below Goodman, who is cleaning up, but will drop to sixth when Nicholson proves ready for work.

Regulars Win, 13 to 6.

Tuesday's catching will be in charge of the 31 year old Bill Holm, graduate of the Angels.

The pitching for that day will be shared by Henry Wyse, Bill Fleming, and John Miklos, the Chicago policeman.

The Cubs devoted their day's practice to an intra-camp game that developed into a frivolous 13 to 6, eight inning affair with the so-called Regulars on the choice end.

WHITE SOX ROUT TIGERS, 10 TO 4, AND SQUARE EXHIBITION SERIES

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Evansville, Ind., March 26.—The White Sox this afternoon celebrated the presence of nice, warm sunshine by jolting the Detroit Tigers, 10 to 4, in the second and final game of the team's spring exhibition series. None of the Tigers' runs was earned.

The Tigers made four hits and no runs off Orval Grove, the starting and winning pitcher, one off John Harvey, a free agent from far off St. John, New Brunswick, and four hits and three runs off Floyd Speer, who is spending his second spring with the Sox.

Newhouser Is Easy.

The Sox made three runs and four hits off Hal Newhouser, the Tigers' starting and losing pitcher, one run and two hits off Stub Overmire, another lefty, and four runs and eight hits off Walter [Boom Boom] Beck, former Philly, now starting his 21st season in organized baseball.

John Dickshot, No. 2 hitter in the Pacific Coast league, led the Chicago attack with two doubles. Ralph Hodgin, Cass Kwiet and Tom Turner also banged doubles, all off Beck in the ninth inning.

After the game, the Sox returned to their training base in French Lick.

Question Wittmer's Age.

Commissioner K. M. Landis today made telephonic inquiries about the status of Al Wittmer, Sox starter and losing pitcher in yesterday's game. The Sox roster lists Wittmer as being 16 years old and Wittmer claims he is 19. As a former American Legion player, Wittmer, if 16, is ineligible to play in major league ball. A birth certificate display to Judge Landis is expected to verify the situation.

In today's affairs, the starting pitchers, Newhouser and Grove, completed their three inning assignments with the Chicagoan possessed of a 3 to 0 lead. The first three batsmen achieved the Sox three-run cluster. Ed Carnett opened the game by beating out a single to short and went to third on Skeeter Webb's single to right. Dickshot bounced a double play grounder to Mayo but Eddie threw the ball into right foul territory, Carnett and Webb scoring and Dickshot reaching third. Floyd Rightenberg fanned and Hodgin flied to Outlaw whereupon Dickshot scored on a wild pitch.

Sox Score in Fourth.

The Sox also produced against Overmire in his first inning of endeavor, the fourth. Schalk opened with a single and advanced on a wild pitch. Castino walked, then Junior Thaxton, batting for Grove, fanned. Carnett's grounder went between Borom's heels into center field, Schalk scoring. The Tigers didn't get a hit or a run off Harvey in the fourth inning but wildness and an infielder's error precipitated a jam in the fifth after the Sox had gone out in order in their half of the inning. They made a run and left two on base without the aid of a hit.

Two were out in the seventh before the Sox picked on Beck. Dickshot sent an enormous double to left, then Rightenberg singled to left, scoring Dickshot.

Sox Score 2 in Eighth.

The Sox scored off Beck again in the eighth. Kwiet was thrown out by Metro and Sharp was out in second trying to stretch a single. Turner was safe on Mayo's wide throw and Speer singled. Carnett was hit by a pitched ball loading the bases. Yohe walked, forcing Turner across the plate and Dickshot walked, forcing Speer to score.

Doubles by Hodgin and Kwiet, a single by Sharp, and a double by Turner gave the Sox three runs in the ninth before a batsman was retired.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

The Chicago Blackhawks and their stringy goalie, Mike Karakas, last night scored the first shutout of the 1944 Stanley Cup hockey play-off series. This neat job, accomplished while the Hawks were scoring twice against the Detroit Red Wings, in a wild battle before 17,138 in the Stadium, put the Chicagoans in command for the second time, giving them a two games to one lead in the series.

The 2 to 0 triumph was the sixth straight in Chicago in six games this season with the Red Wings, who had hoped to duplicate Chicago's victory in Detroit in the opening game of the series. Now the Wings, who finished second in the National Hockey league race, are backed up in an uncomfortable spot. The two teams will meet in the fourth contest of the best four in seven series tomorrow night in the Stadium.

Cooper and Smith Score.

The Hawks struck in 11.06 in the first period when the puck, driven from 30 feet out by big Joe Cooper, slid off Harold Jackson's person past young Connie Dion, the Detroit goalie. They scored the second time in 11:30 of the third period when Clint Smith more or less leisurely skated off the right boards to center ice, then belted a line drive past Dion.

But before the first score and before the second one, too, the Hawks had known trouble. There were 76 seconds in the second period when, with only Karakas and three players on the ice, they repulsed a furious Detroit assault. Karakas blocked shots from an upright stance, from the ice, and kicking them away in making 28 saves. He had help, too, from the defense men, Earl Seibert twice threw himself in the path of closeup shots to save Mike the trouble of knocking them away.

Parade to Penalty Box.

Less than four minutes after the start, Doug Bentley and Don Grosso crashed into the boards. In a flash the Chicago player was mixing with Joe Carveth. Soon most of the players were embroiled and there was a pile-up on the ice. Carveth and Bentley were banished for two minutes. Even Johnny Gottselig, the almost 40-year-old Hawk, was among those ruled off for infractions in the first period. Some one tossed a bottle, and the game was held up while officials picked up the pieces. Earlier, an orange had hurtled down from the balcony, hitting Seibert in the pants.

The Hawks, like the Wings, also had a man power advantage in the second period. When Adam Brown was sent off for charging Bill Mosienko, the bleacherites started their dishpan chorus. Mosienko, who skated like mad all evening but only came close on several shots, charged in for one close range but missed. Cooper's hard shot hit Dion's chest and bounced away. Again Mosienko failed on a short one, with Karakas making two brilliant saves on shots by Murray Armstrong and Mud Bruneteau.

Almost nine minutes had been played in this session when Mush March was shagged for tripping him. Less thana minute later, Cooper was sent off for playing with a

C. Y. O. SENIOR TITLE WON BY ST. ELIZABETH

St. Anselm Is Victim, 38 to 30.

St. Elizabeth became the 1944 champion of the C. Y. O. senior basketball league yesterday by defeating St. Anselm, 38 to 30, in the Loyola university gymnasium.

Three other C. Y. O. basketball champions were crowned before a crowd of 2,400. The four teams were the survivors of more than 120 parish teams which competed in the C. Y. O. leagues.

Championship trophies were awarded to the winning teams by the Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, senior auxiliary bishop of Chicago and founder-director of the Catholic Youth organization.

St. Mary Is Prep Champion.

In the junior division, St. Sabina defeated Our Lady of the Holy Mount [Cicero], 52 to 31, for the title.

St. Mary of Celle [Berwyn] defeated St. Sabina, 25 to 23, for the prep division championship and St. Mary training school [Des Plaines] defeated St. Mary of Perpetual Help, 25 to 14, for the grammar school championship. Lineups:

Franklin park defeated Modest A. C., 28 to 21, in the school division and the Jewish People's institute beat the Hallicrafters, 25 to 22, in the senior class in the finals of the ninth annual B'nai B'rith Youth organization basketball tournament in St. Philip High school gymnasium.

In the junior division the Yanks were forfeited into their meeting with the C. Y. O. champion Wednesday night in Lane Tech's gym. The Yanks were originally scheduled to meet the Horwitz Drugs, but the latter team was disqualified, since several of Marshall Junior High's ineligible players are on its roster. The A. B. C. Commandos were substituted for the Drugs, but they, too, had ineligible players on their list, so the Yanks were given the game by default.

Jack Lamotta Arrives Today to Open Drills

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Jack Lamotta, New York middleweight challenger, will arrive at noon today for a 10 round bout with Sgt. Lou Woods of Camp Grant in Chicago Stadium Friday. He will start workouts in Ringside loop gymnasium this afternoon.

Lamotta's appearance will be considerably different than when he last fought in this city three years ago. On that occasion Jack, making his Chicago debut, was an unknown quantity except for a riotous battle he waged against Jimmy Reeves in Cleveland on Sept. 24, 1941.

Floored Reeves 5 Times.

In that fight Reeves was ahead on points going into the ninth round, but ran into a barrage of blows in that period which sent him to the canvas twice. Jack also scored three knockdowns in the 10th. As a result the decision to Reeves caused an uproar.

Lamotta's foe on his previous visit was Nate Bolden and Nate was awarded a split decision. Jack received a couple hundred dollars for that appearance, a far cry from the $7,000 he will be paid for the impending match against Woods.

A look at the record Lamotta has compiled since the adventure with Bolden easily explains the reason for the increase in his purse. In the interim, Jack has scored 23 victories in 28 bouts.

Beat Ray Robinson.

Lamotta, 21, defeated such fighters as Jimmy Edgar, Vic Dellicurti, Henry Chmielewski, and Bill McDowell, but failed to cause a stir until he scored an upset by beating California Jackie Wilson in Madison Square Garden a year ago last Jan. 15. Fans said this was an accident but they changed their tune when Jack achieved one of the biggest upheavals in history by beating Ray Robinson, heretofore unbeaten in 130 amateur and professional contests. The achievement, accomplished in Detroit Feb. 5, 1943, demonstrated Lamotta was an improved fighter.

7 Pitchers to Bid for Berths with Match Team

Seven pitchers will try for places on the Match Corporation of America softball team when outdoor workouts commence. Bill Bartz, Les Faust, and Al Dwojnen, returning veterans, will be challenged by Iggie Rothfeld, Bob Stewart of Hollister, Cal., Walter Galla and Sol Roback.

Vikings, Falks in Overtime Soccer Tie, 1-1

BY OFFSIDE.

The Vikings and the Falks of Milwaukee played to a 1 to 1 overtiem tie yesterday in Winnemac park stadium in the semi-finals of the National Open soccer series before the driving snow necessitated Referee John Nugent calling the contest off.

The game will be replayed next Sunday, probably in Chicago, depending upon a decision by the National association in New York.

It appeared for a time that history would repeat itself as the game went into the 75th minute with the Falks leading the Vikings, 1 to 0. Last year, in the same series semi-finals, the Falks defeated the Vikings, 3 to 2, to end another long winning streak by the Chicago team.

Hakoahs defeated Hansa, 2 to 1, and the Vikings reserves beat the Norwegians, 4 to 2, in other games. Lineups:

broken stick. Here was the Hawks' big chance and for once the yelling spectators hushed. Karakas saved on swipes by Joe Carveth and Carl Liscombe. Bentley, held scoreless for the second straight game, took the puck and skated in circles to save time. Seibert put his big bulk in front of a shot. Again Bentley gained possession and killed more valuable time. Later, Seibert gently reached out and broke up another Detroit attack.

In the final minute the Hawks put on a blistering attack with Art Wiebe, Gottselig, and March coming close.

Even Spectators Quiet Down.

Midway in the third period there was some action at Karakas' doorway and once more Seibert plopped down to block a shot. The Hawks were then content to keep on the defensive, but all of a sudden they had a goal. This was when Smith startled Dion with his scoring shot.

That was about all. Karakas batted away some more shots and even the spectators became quieter, no doubt saving their vocal cords for tomorrow night.

Abbott Hall Defeats Leo for Sabina Title, 49-31

A quintet of midshipmen from Abbott Hall won the seventh annual Central A. A. U. basketball tournament sponsored by St. Sabina Community center, by defeating Leo High school, 49 to 31, last night.

Athletics' Hurling Beats Orioles, 3 to 1

Frederick, Md., March 26 (AP).—The Philadelphia Athletics won their second exhibition game today in two starts, beating the Baltimore Orioles, 3 to 1.

Russ Christopher, Lum Harris, and Don Black, all last season regulars for the A's, went to the mound to produce a five hit ball game.

Jo-Jo White got the only extra base hits with two doubles, while Lew Flick, Dick Siebert, George Hall, Irv Hall, and 16 year old Jacob Nelson Fox got singles.

Two of Baltimore's hits were made by Felix Mackiewicz, the big outfielder who spent three springs with the A's.

Baltimore [I. L.]..000 001 000—1 5 1
Phila'phia [A. L.].201 000 00*—3 7 1

Batteries—Coleman, Lowry and Imhodd, Loller; Christopher, Harris, Black and Hayes.

CARDS BEAT ARMY NINE, 10-3.

Cairo, Ill., March 26 (AP).—The St. Louis Cardinals opened their exhibition season today with a 10 to 3 victory over the Fourth Ferrying group team from Memphis.

Little Augie Bergamo, the champions' right fielder, went to town in the sixth when he replaced Johnny Hopp. He clouted two triples to right center, driving in four runs after the army team had tied it, 2-all.

Lt. Johnny Beazley, former Cardinal pitcher, pitched three hitless and runless innings for the Memphis team.

WEBER'S THANKS FOR M'GRATH GO TO ST. MARY, KY.

Weber High school owes a debt of gratitude to St. Mary's High school and Junior college of St. Mary's, Ky.

Frank McGrath.

For if it were not for St. Mary's, Weber might not have obtained Frank McGrath as its basketball coach, and, therefore, Weber might not have been the Catholic league's 1944 junior champion and representative in Mayor Kelly's benefit double header in the Chicago Stadium on April 8.

Fate Decrees Villanova.

St. Mary's part dates back to 1929 when McGrath was signed as football and basketball coach after his graduation from Villanova college. The superior of St. Mary's was the Rev. Anthony Mayer, C. R., who subsequently was transferred to Weber and later brought McGrath to the near north side school.

Even McGrath's appearance at Villanova seems to have been thru the kind intercession of the fates. For he was born and raised in New Haven, Conn., the site of Yale university.

But he chose Villanova and there played football as a quarter back and basketball as a forward before getting his bachelor of arts degree in 1928.

Frank's ability was sufficient to land him the coaching job at St. Mary's, about 25 miles from Danville, home of Centre college.

Father Mayer Is Responsible.

It was there he became acquainted with Father Mayer, who is directly responsible for Weber's increased prominence in all athletics. It was Father Mayer who signed Andy Pilney as football coach on the latter's graduation from Notre Dame in 1936.

Since 1938 McGrath's junior and senior basketball teams have not had a losing season. The records for 1937-'38 are examples of the school's records before Frank took over. That year the juniors won one game while the seniors won none.

The following season the juniors tied for the north section crown, only to lose to St. George in the playoffs. And the records show 26 victories in 31 games for the juniors, and 23 in 31 for the seniors that season.

Faces Marshall Juniors.

In all, McGrath's juniors have won 125 of 168 games taking the north section titles in 1942 and 1943, but losing to Mount Carmel in the league championship game by scores of 29 to 21 and 36 to 32 respectively.

Even a section championship has escaped the Weber seniors to date but they have a record of 111 victories against 54 defeats for a .673 average.

This year's junior team faces Marshall, winner of 98 games in its last 99, for the all-city title.

Connecticut's most important contribution to McGrath's life was made by Waterbury, 20 miles from New Haven, in the person of the former Mary Kirby who now has charge of the McGrath home. Ably assisting her are Mary Lou, age 12, and nine year old Joan. So Frank gives thanks to Connecticut while Weber expresses its gratitude to Father Mayer and St. Mary's, Ky.

People and Events

S. Granville Smith will resign Friday as regional chief of the industrial research and statistics division of the Smaller War Plants corporation, it was announced yesterday. He has been with the WPB in various capacities since the day after Pearl Harbor and assisted in organizing the regional office of the SWPC. He will return to private practice as a management engineer and industrial economist.

Guards at the Indiana Harbor, Ind., plant of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company will receive a guidon for meritorious achievement during a ceremony at the plant Wednesday. Col. C. J. Otjen, commanding officer of district 3 of the 6th service command, will present the guidon to Glenn Dye, superintendent of the property protection division.

Graham Hutton, head of the British information service in Chicago and former managing editor of the London Economist, will address the Chicago chapter of the American Statistical association at a dinner Thursday at 57 W. Randolph st. He will talk on the British cost of living index and wage policy during the war.

UNIONISTS VOTE TO SEEK END OF NO-STRIKE PACT

Detroit, Mich., March 26 (AP).—Jess Ferrazza, president of local 212, United Automobile Workers [CIO], said tonight 2,000 members of the local, employes of the Briggs Manufacturing company, had voted unanimously to ask the international union to revoke its war time no strike pledge.

"Labor is simply fed up with taking the back seat and the only way we can enforce our rights is to get our strike privilege back," said Ferrazza. It was the first formal action of its kind by any CIO or AFL affiliate.

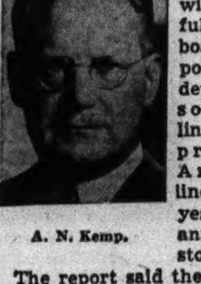
AMERICAN AIR'S TRAFFIC IN 1943 AT RECORD HIGH

CAB Faced by Big Task, Says Kemp.

Applications pending before the civil aeronautics board for a tenfold expansion in the domestic air transport system will require careful sifting by the board if air transportation is to be developed along sound economic lines, A. N. Kemp, president of American Airlines, Inc., warned yesterday in his annual report to stockholders.



A. N. Kemp.

The report said the company during 1943 carried a larger volume of commercial traffic than in any other year in its history. Net operating earnings before income taxes and reserves also increased, but after all deductions the net income fell below that for 1942, which included a nonrecurring profit from the sale of flight equipment in accordance with government orders.

Routes of 500,000 Miles Sought.

"The war has focused unprecedented attention on aviation and the future development of air transportation," Kemp wrote. "The domestic air lines are now certificated to serve 365 points in continental United States, over 50,643 miles of route. As of Oct. 31, 1943, there were pending before the CAB 348 applications proposing air service over more than 500,000 miles of route to 3,631 United States cities and towns not now having air service. Many of the applications proposed service over routes directly paralleling those now operated by this company.

"If all pending applications were granted, the domestic air transportation system would be expanded 10 times. Total route mileage would be more than twice the miles of route operated by either class 1 steam railroads or common carriers by bus.

"The CAB is charged by law with the responsibility of developing air transportation along sound and economic lines. The board is confronted with an important task of sifting from these applications those which are not inconsistent with the progress of the air transportation industry and are deserving of favorable action, and it was with this in mind that application for the expansion of our system was made."

Operating 47 Planes.

American Airlines' new record in traffic handled last year was achieved despite the reduction in the number of its available planes from 79 to 43, as a result of war requirements. Return of aircraft leased to the army increased the number to 47 late in the year. Average revenue load per plane, per mile, increased from 2,444 pounds in 1939 to 4,290 pounds in 1943.

Total operating revenues in 1943 were $31,451,430, an increase of 16.6 per cent over the $26,982,014 total the year before. Earnings before provision for federal income taxes and "transition reserve" were $8,442,969, compared with $5,423,869 in 1942, exclusive of $1,177,846 extraordinary income from the sale of equipment.

Profit after reserving $1,750,000 for transition to peace time operations, was $3,192,969, equal to $5.18 a share, compared with $3,851,714, or $6.33 a share, in 1942. The 1942 profit includes $834,846 profit on the equipment sale, after federal tax. Exclusive of this special income, the company said, the per share earnings in 1942 were $4.88.

Passenger Revenues Rise.

Provision of 3½ million dollars for federal income taxes was made in 1943, compared with $2,750,000. The company is believed exempt from excess profits taxes, the report said.

Passenger revenues rose to $23,356,327 in 1943 from $21,512,980 in 1942, mail to $4,886,389 from $3,266,825, expenses to $2,580,562 from $1,720,036, and other revenues to $628,152 from $482,173. Revenue passenger miles last year aggregated 494,320,807, compared with 402,298,900. Revenue plane miles flown totaled 26,397,687, against 27,828,321.

Kemp reviewed the company's operations under war contracts, on a nonprofit basis. These operations included cargo operations from India to China, on the "Burma road of the air," and "a scant 50 miles from nearest Japanese airplane base." For the first survey flight across the Atlantic from Newfoundland direct to Marrakech, French Morocco, members of American's personnel received the army air model.

Airport, Road Cost Sharing Plan Favored

Washington, D. C., March 26 [Special].—A recommendation that post-war highway and airport development programs be based on federal-state-local surveys of requirements, and that states and municipalities carry their full share of the cost, will be placed before the Chamber of Commerce of the United States at its annual meeting May 3 to 5 in New York City.

The chamber's committee on transportation made such proposals at the March meeting of the board of directors today, and they were approved for submission to the annual session.

With respect to highways the committee foresaw the need for a comprehensive post-war rehabilitation and development program. It indorsed previous chamber approval of federal aid for highways of general use, with adequate safeguards, Powell C. Groner, committee chairman, explained.

Opposes Bigger Federal Share.

"The committee believes that highway programs should be based on comprehensive surveys and studies of the economic benefits and relationships to the public budget, and that highway users should contribute to the costs in proportion to benefits, in addition to paying their fair share of the general costs of government," said Groner, who is president of the Kansas City Public Service company.

Proposals that the federal government increase its share of highway costs would be dangerous in view of the "enormous" national war debt, the committee declared. It recommended that the states continue to provide the right of way and pay half the construction costs of federal aid projects.

The "spotty development of airports," financed in recent years mainly by the federal government, should be supplanted by a federal aid system comparable to that employed for highways, the committee recommended.

Urges Clarifying Laws.

It proposed that federal funds be alloted to states on a basis of need, that they be available only for construction and safeguarding of landing areas, and that they be matched in at least equal amounts by the states or municipalities, "which also should be required to provide all land, building and maintenance."

The committee urged clarification of the laws relating to control of one form of carrier by another form to permit such control "within reasonable territorial limits" when it is shown it is in the public interest and "would not unduly restrain competition.

COST OF LIVING DIPS SLIGHTLY IN MOST CITIES

The cost of living for wage earners and lower salaried clerical workers in February declined in 51 of 63 industrial cities surveyed by the national industrial conference board, the private research organization reported yesterday. Living costs were higher in 10 of the cities, and unchanged in two.

The largest decline, 2.3 per cent, occurred in Newark, N. J. Memphis, Tenn., Philadelphia, Pa., and Wilmington, Del., showed declines of 1.0, 1.1, and 1.5 per cent. Chicago had a dip of 0.2 per cent. The largest increase, 0.7 per cent, occurred in Cleveland, O.

Living costs were higher than in February, 1943, in 57 cities. Denver, Colo., recorded the largest increase, 4.1 per cent. The smallest was in Buffalo, N. Y., 0.2 per cent. Detroit, Mich., Philadelphia, Portland, Ore., and Rockford, Ill., showed declines.

GOVERNMENT BONDS.

Will you kindly advise what United States government bonds are called for redemption April 15, and what would be the best bonds to exchange them for, as to yield?

L. H.

Answer: The treasury department has called for redemption April 15 seven issues of bonds and notes, including the 3¼ per cent treasury bonds of 1944-'46.

Holders of the called issues were given an opportunity to exchange them for 2½ per cent treasury bonds of 1965-'70, and 2¼ per cent treasury bonds of 1956-'59, or for new 1½ per cent treasury notes. This offer has now been closed, but the bonds can be purchased in the open market. If you own the 3¼s of 1944-'46 you can sell them at about 100 5-32.

The 2¼s of 1956-'59 are selling at 100 5-32, to yield 2.24 per cent, and the 2½s of 1965-'70, quoted at 100 7-32, yield 2.48 per cent. Another issue, the 2½s of 1964-'69, at 100 4-32, yields 2.49 per cent.

These yields are before federal income tax, and the bonds are fully taxable.

SEC Upholds N.A.S.D. Right to Discipline

Philadelphia, Pa., March 26 [Special].—The securities and exchange commission today held for the first time that the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., has "ample power" under its code of fair practices to "discipline a member for charging prices bearing no reasonable relation to prevailing market prices."

The SEC ruling stemmed from an application for review of two disciplinary actions taken by the N. A. S. D. against Sherman Gleason & Co., a Boston over-the-counter dealer, who was fined $250 and severely censured on charges of levying unfair prices on customers, failing to maintain a position book and commingling of securities.

Reverses Expulsion Order.

At the same time, the SEC canceled expulsion of the dealer from the association, whose business conduct committee of District 14 had ordered the firm expelled for failing to answer a questionnaire regarding balance sheet information, business methods, and other data.

The power of the N. A. S. D. to discipline its members for alleged excessive mark-ups has long been a matter of contention among members of the securities industry. The SEC's ruling is in line with an interpretation of the fair price rule sent out by the association's board of governors last Oct. 25.

Criticizes Hearing Conduct.

The SEC, however, said that "we do not, in this case, attempt to construe the meanings of the N. A. S. D. fair price rule" but added that "no matter what theory of the rule is adopted we think it clear that the N. A. S. D. has ample power under it to discipline a member" for charging prices having no reasonable relation to the prevailing market.

The SEC criticized the district business conduct committee, charging that the "procedure in this case suffered from far more serious deficiencies than the 'inexpertness' found" by the N. A. S. D.'s national business conduct committee. The national group upheld the district committee in both fine and censure and the expulsion order. The SEC declared the district hearing was "injudiciously handled" and "violated Gleason's fundamental rights."

War Contract Revision Held Efficiency Bar

Government renegotiation of war contracts rewards inefficiency and ruins the efficient, James F. Lincoln, president of the Lincoln Electric company, Cleveland, O., declared yesterday during the Reviewing Stand broadcast presented by Northwestern university.

J. F. Lincoln.

He took part with Carman G. Blough, chief of the war production board contract review branch, and Arthur R. Tebbutt, professor of statistics at Northwestern, in a panel discussion of profits and war contracts.

"The first part of the term renegotiation is correct," Lincoln asserted. "In effect, the government says it will pay so much on a contract, then reneges. This system has cost more to industry than any other factor. It has increased the cost of war goods enormously and has increased the time of production, all at the expense of the taxpayer."

Few Becoming Wealthy.

He cited an instance where the contract of a manufacturer producing a welding machine for the government for $256 would be renegotiated while if the maker had increased the costs to $314 the contract would stand.

"When he announced renegotiation of war contracts," Lincoln asserted, "President Roosevelt said the purpose was to see that no millionaires were made out of this war.

"It is obviously impossible for any manufacturer to become a millionaire when 95 per cent of excess profits are taken by tax and out of the remaining 5 per cent he pays up to 90 per cent in income tax.

"But there is one way possible to become a millionaire. That is to have your mother die and leave you a million, on which you pay no excess profit tax. Let's be fair about it and put a tax of 90 per cent on that as it goes to the individual."

Efficiency Penalized.

Instead of being rewarded on the basis of production at low costs, Lincoln said, an efficient manufacturer is penalized by renegotiation. Contracts are granted without regard for price of the finished product. A manufacturer in Minneapolis produces a gun mount for $50,000 while a west coast company makes the same mount for $125,000. The government, he complained, does not give increased work to the first firm on the basis of its costs and production methods.

Blough defended the renegotiation system as a means of speeding production and adjusting profits later and as an effective measure against inflation.

YEAR TO MATCH RUBBER QUALITY GIVEN SYNTHETIC

Washington, D. C., March 26 (AP).—Synthetic rubber will find a market for at least a year after the end of the war but thereafter the industry's survival will depend upon its ability to meet the price and quality of the natural product, the National Planning association said today.

During that year, however, the association said in a report by Melvin A. Brenner, WPB analyst, the industry will have an opportunity to improve its product, processing and cost, "and otherwise prepare for the postponed competition with the natural product."

Since the synthetic product may eventually be better and cheaper than rubber, Brenner said, it can "be reasonably expected" that the government will provide sufficient protection to afford survival to at least a nucleus of the industry.

Utah Radio and Carnegie Start 'in Plant' Training

Forty employes of two Chicago war industries will this week begin "in plant" war training courses given by Illinois Institute of Technology. At Utah Radio Products company, 20 employes will begin studying "fundamentals of radio" today. On Thursday 20 men at Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation will start training in "electronic applications."

BRITISH PAPER CRITICIZES U.S. VIEW OF TRADE

Urges Lend-Lease Precautions.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 26.—The London Times in an editorial termed "disturbing" what it described as the "persistence of the one sided view of international trade" prevalent in the United States.

The editorial, devoted to lend-lease, admittedly one of the sorest points in Anglo-American relations, repeated the oft made statement that even while the United States remained neutral this was a "war for the defense of the United States hardly less than for the defense of the nations directly involved."

Protection Pledges Mentioned.

It mentioned Secretary of State Hull's and Foreign Economic Administrator Crowley's promise to protect American industrial interests and urged: "Precautions taken on the British side against the misuse of American materials should be balanced by similar precautions on the American side against the misuse of British materials."

The Times admitted that as "long as international trade is regarded as a struggle for markets and not as an exchange of goods to mutual advantage, it is bound to be a fertile source of misunderstanding, suspicion, and ill will," the existence of which it said is "illustrated by the latest turn in the discussion of lend-lease in congress and by the reaction which reported comments of some prominent congressmen provoked in this country."

After conceding the "invaluable aid" Britain derives from lend-lease, the Times said: "Naturally, the movement of millions of pounds worth of goods must be controled by businesslike methods and precautions against misuse."

"American Suspicions Quashed."

It recalled American suspicions of British firms reëxporting lend-lease materials, but said these suspicions were largely quashed by precautions adopted by the British government to prevent the misuse of lend-lease goods. On the other hand, some business men here complained the United States took advantage of neutrality, the absorption of British industry in war production, and lend-lease precautions "to capture British trade in what has been important British markets," said the Times.

Since the expansion of lend-lease into mutual aid, it contended, it seemed natural that similar precautions should be taken by the United States against the misuse of British materials for trade purposes. It mentioned negotiations have been going on some time for a bilateral agreement, but complained: "There are sections in congress which resent any British efforts to maintain, let alone expand, export trade vital to her existence.

"And there are people on this side who tend to forget that for Great Britain, dependent on international trade, a prosperous expanding economy in the United States is a necessary condition for her own prosperity and expansion."

WHY PAY More THAN THESE LOW RATES FOR A PERSONAL LOAN?

COMPARE WITH MERCHANDISE BANK'S LOW CHARGES

Offers of personal, or "salary loans," meet the eye everywhere. But LOOK at the stated "tables of payment." They show what loans actually cost you—if you take time to figure it out. In most cases, for a loan of $100, you're asked to make 12 payments of about $10.07 each. That totals $120.84—or $20.84 more than you borrow.

SAVE NEARLY TWO PAYMENTS

Merchandise Bank has two loan plans: On a $100 loan, if you use the popular plan of borrowing with one co-maker the cost is only $5.50—and you save $15.34 on $100 for 1 year. If you borrow on your signature only the cost is only $8—and you save $12.84. In either case the saving amounts to nearly as much as two payments—and it's money in your pocket. Only two examples are shown in the table above—but you save proportionately on any amount you borrow at Merchandise Bank.

EASILY ARRANGED. You needn't take time off your job to apply for a loan here. Merely phone or write. Call Whitehall 4500—or if convenient come in personally—weekdays until 4 P. M. or Saturday until Noon.

For a 12 mo. $100 LOAN	At Usual Small Loan Rate, You Pay	$20.84
	At Merchandise Bank You Pay Only	8.00
	YOU SAVE	$12.84
For a 12 mo. $200 LOAN	At Usual Small Loan Rate, You Pay	$39.52
	At Merchandise Bank You Pay Only	16.00
	YOU SAVE	$23.52

Why Pay More THAN THIS LOW COST?

*Savings shown apply to "signature only" loans repaid in 12 monthly instalments, cost to be deducted in advance. You can save even more if you borrow with one co-maker. In either case, you save at least half of usual and lawful Small Loan Charges.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF FINAL DIVIDEND AND LIMITATION OF RIGHTS OF UNFILED CLAIMANTS OF HALSTED STREET STATE BANK.

TO ALL DEPOSITORS AND CREDITORS OF THE HALSTED STREET STATE BANK, who have not filed their respective claims against said bank, PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that general dividends have heretofore been declared by ARTHUR C. LUEDER, Auditor of Public Accounts of the State of Illinois, or his predecessors [illegible] office, as follows:

Dividend No. 1 of 40%
payable as of
September 30, 1934.
Dividend No. 2 of 5%
payable as of
March 30, 1935.
Dividend No. 3 of 10%
payable as of
December 21, 1936.
Dividend No. 4 of 5%
payable as of
March 25, 1940.
Dividend No. 5 of 5%
payable as of
June 30, 1942.

You and each of you are HEREBY NOTIFIED that a final general dividend of six [6%] per cent will be payable as of March 31, 1944. Under the Banking Act of the State of Illinois, all depositors and creditors must assert a right to the payment of dividends within one year from the time of final dissolution of the bank or lose the right to receive said dividends. NOW, THEREFORE, unless you file or make proof of your claim against the HALSTED STREET STATE BANK within the time limited by law, your right to receive payment of dividends will be forever lost to you. Claims may be presented at the office of the undersigned.
